Twenty-third Annual Convention

OF THE WOMEN'S GENERAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTH AMERICA, HELD AT DES MOINES, IOWA, MAY 8-11, 1906.

MINUTES.

TUESDAY, 7:30 P. M., MAY 8.

In response to invitation, the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church, convened in its Twenty-third Annual Convention, in the First United Presbyterian Church of Des Moines, Iowa, Rev. A. C. Douglass, pastor.

"The Need of Power" was the subject of the responsive reading used in the opening devotional service, in charge of the First Vice President of the Convention, Mrs. Edgar MacDill, of Madison, Ind. An anthem by the choir was followed by prayer by Mrs. George Moore, of Xenia, O.

Most cordial greeting was given the members of the Convention by Mrs. Paul Jones, a member of the First Church, Des Moines. Mrs. Annie R. Herron, President of the Women's Board, sent greetings to the Convention.

Mr. Roy Dowell, of Indianola, sang a solo, after which Mrs. MacDill presented Mrs. W. P. White, the President of the Convention, who gave the address of the evening on "The Keys of the Kingdom," Greetings from Des Moines Presbytery by Mrs. Paul Jones, Des Moines, Iowa.

The evening of May 8th, 1906, is at last a reality. For a year we have been expecting you. For a year we have looked forward to this evening when we should behold you face to face, and extend to you our greeting and a hearty welcome.

We extended you the invitation to come, not to prove our ability as entertainers, nor to show you our little city filled as it is with churches and schools, and of which we feel justly proud, but primarily that our city, our church, our homes, and we individually, might be especially blessed by having you in our midst. "Now the Lord is very near to those upon him who attend," and why may we not claim the blessing?

We are expecting much; you come to us with a feast of good things, a vast fund of information and a mighty inspiration, and we thank you for your presence. A city is always deemed most fortunate when the ruler of the Republic to which it belongs pays it a visit; the Holy One says to us tonight, "I am in your midst." Not only is he our ruler but the owner and maker of Heaven and Earth, the Lord of Lords, and King of Kings, the Author of all our good and the hope of our hereafter. Now especially are you welcome in the fact that you are the representatives of Him whom we love to honor and the representatives of the cause we love to see advancing. Our homes are Christian homes where our Master is head of the house, and whom we plead with to make His abiding place. Next to him, you, his workers, are most welcome.

Your cause, in addition to being in direct accord with the Master's command, is a true and a tried one. A little over one hundred years ago the Modern Missionary movement was inaugurated. All the Evangelical churches have adopted it and have inculcated its principles with more or less earnestness until today the Bible is printed in 120 different languages and every country on the globe has heard the voice of the Missionary of the Cross.

Your aim though extraordinarily extensive cannot be hopeless, it must be sure. God has not created this world, peopled it, and left it to care for itself; neither has he conceived a cosmos which has gotten beyond his control. He has the Universe in hand. It is the declared purpose of God to reconcile the world unto Himself, and his purpose will stand and his work will be accomplished. You are the means through which God is redeeming the lost world. His promises never fail and through you His pledge to His Messiah will be fulfilled—"I will give thee the heathen for thine, and the uttermost parts of the earth for Thy possession." "At the name of Jesus, every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord." He makes it a positive statement that the world will be reconciled and that his purpose will stand, the promise will endure, the restitution will soon be an established fact whether the world at large chooses to stand with him in his chariot as he goes forth conquering and to conquer, or whether they fall in futile resistance and despairing perish in the dust beneath the wheels of the triumphant march. The evidence everywhere points strongly to the fact that countless numbers are striving to go forth with the Lord of Hosts as conquerors and to be workers together with Him, workmen who need not to be ashamed. Years ago the rumble of the chariot wheels was heard in Egypt, India and the Soudan, and the clarion cry of the trumpeter now resounds through every land.

It is then our privilege to welcome you, not only as God's children, His servants, and His stewards, but also as individuals representing the highest ideals of the highest types, from the finest communities of the best States of the most thoroughly Christianized people of the world.

Welcome you are to our hearthstones,
To our chambers as far as they go,
To our cots when our bedrooms are crowded
And our Brussels, those tardy may know.

The only limit to our hospitality is our capabilities and time which will be necessarily taken up in the enjoyment of the program which you have mapped out for us. In order that we may convey to you our full appreciation of your presence and that we may show to you how really hospitable we may be, we beg of you to remain with us a few days after this convention has adjourned in order that we may visit you in our homes, may conduct you through our scores of beautiful parks and playgrounds, show you our magnificent capitol, the grandest and largest historical building in the world, and our newly equipped Army Post with its full regiment of U. S. cavalry and its splendid appointments; that you may catch a passing glimpse of our churches and schools and know our people. But time fails me to tell you of all, only accept our invitation and we will see to it that you are not disappointed.

Greetings from Mrs. Annie R. Herron, President of Women's Board.

Again, as for twenty-two previous years, delegates to the Convention of the Women's Missionary Society have met for conference, to hear of the condition and progress of our women's work.

In a general way our organization may be considered as a family whose members are widely separated, each society having its individual experiences, but all united in one common interest, one determined purpose, to extend the kingdom of Christ, to spread abroad the story of Bethlehem, and to lead into the fold of the Good Shepherd.

Regarding our society in this way, it gives me pleasure to convey to the members of this Convention the cordial greeting and loving sympathy of your sisters, the treasurer and the secretaries of the Women's Board. The commendable way in which the societies you represent have kept in step with the work, their hearty co-operation, their ready responces to calls for increased liberality, their assurance of sympathy and the silent influence for good which emanates from every earnest soul, have often cheered your directors and enables them to work with renewed courage.

The zeal and thoroughness with which societies have taken hold of all work put into their hands indicates that they are vitally interested in its success. It has not been necessary in the past to make urgent appeals for increased liberality in giving. The money has flowed into our treasury so quietly that apparently little effort was needed to secure contributions.

But, dear friends, "There is a tide," in organizations, as in idividuals, "which if taken at the flood leads on to fortune;" but which opportunity neglected, influence, interest and power will slowly but surely decline.

You need not be told of the providential opportunity afforded for the opening of new work in the Soudan; your foreign secretary will tell you what that means to you. You know also how the Holy Spirit has been moving the church in India. You remember that many years ago, by arrangement between the different denominations, the boundaries of the missions were defined and a district of the Punjab was assigned to the United Presbyterian church. It makes, therefore, in a peculiar sense, our church responsible for the evangelization of this special field.

In the home land all departments of mission work are demanding increased liberality and service. I am persuaded that if an earnest and prayerful effort was made by the delegates of this Convention to increase the membership and contributions of their societies it would be successful and "a prosperous work" would continue to be the motto of our Women's Missionary Society. Dear friends, carry back to your homes the burden of this responsibility.

It gives more pleasure, I know, to hear of the work than of the workers, but the opportunity is so favorable, and will never return, that presuming on your indulgence I wish to direct your attention to the splendid work of the treasurer and secretaries of the Board. First, let me explain that the ladies are unaware of my intention to mention them particularly, and if it is thought I over-step the limit of propriety, I beg pardon most humbly.

Few, I think, realize the labor and sacrifice involved in attending to the business of your Missionary Society. Ability, time, strength and money are given unsparingly to the work. Two days, often three, each month are given to business without taking into consideration the hours occupied by attending committee meetings, in season and out of season; so many letters written that I fear you would doubt my veracity should I attempt to give the number; addresses made to societies which may, at times, require several days of absence from home; also the necessary expenses of car fare and luncheons are cheerfully contributed to the service. These are part of the things that fill up the busy days of the members of the Board.

I am only supposed, on this occasion, to represent the treasurer and secretaries of the Board, but again I ask indulgence, and take the liberty of directing attention to the editorial committee of the Women's Missionary Magazine, another branch of your work which has been particularly favored. Devoted women have given freely time and intellectual ability that you may be kept constantly informed of the affairs connected with the society. They deserve and ought to receive your grateful consideration. Were it necessary to pay for all this disinterested labor, so freely bestowed, at the market value it would require thousands of dollars. It is possible that in the near future some plan will have to be devised to lighten these already over-burdened workers.

Do not imagine, however, I am making these statements from any spirit of vain glory, or the wish to exalt these members of the Board and the Magazine Committee above others. All through our church there are women just as capable and intelligent, just as self-sacrificing and devoted, who quietly and unostentatiously are giving the best they have to Christian service. Twenty years in missionary work has impressed me deeply with the unlimited possibiliy of women's power and influence.

This, then, is our hope that the noble work you have accomplished in the past will encourage you to plan for larger and better work in the future.

Sow, for the hours are fleeting,
And the seed must fall today.
Care not what hands shall reap it,
Or if you shall have passed away
Before the waving cornfields
Shall gladden the sunny day.

Pittsburgh, May 5, 1906.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

"KEYS OF THE KINGDOM."

By Mrs. W. P. White, Albany, Oregon.

Peter's confession, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God," called forth the answer," "Flesh and blood hath not revealed this unto thee, but my Father." Then to Peter, as a representative of His Church, the King of Heaven committed that divine charge: "I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The kingdom of heaven is the spiritual realm in which Jesus Christ is absolute ruler. Men and women to whom the inner revelation has come have committed to them the keys by which they may enter in to the fullest enjoyment of Christ's love and life. The kingdom of heaven is in the heart in so far as Christ's authority is acknowledged and His will done in the life. The promise reached farther; he has given this spiritual revelation in order that He might use us in His great work of expansion. One of the marvels of grace is that while it is impossible to enter the kingdom by any human effort, it is equally impossible for God to fulfill His own purpose of grace for the world without His church. The church holds the keys. "My church" here on earth exists for the purpose of being used by the Spirit to bring those for whom Christ died under the reign of Him whose right it is to rule.

The rival kingdom of Satan is not to be overcome by carnal weapons; but we have weapons that are mighty through God. We are sent forth, with a promise of victory, to be teachers of a great Gospel; to be witnesses to a great life; to be intercessors with God for man and with man for God.

GOD'S OWN WORD

is a key of the kingdom. "Go teach all nations," is the commission of the King. And that we may be able to do His will, He has given us a Gospel adapted to the needs of all the people. Through a knowledge of the word comes the conviction of sin; the apprehension of a Saviour; the enthronement of Jesus Christ in the heart. Only where this word has gone have men called Jesus, Lord.

This key of the kingdom has been committed to our trust to be carried to the uttermost parts of the earth. No one who has had the inner revelation from the Father can shift the responsibility. God's promise has been faithfully fulfilled in behalf of His own word. "As the rain cometh down and the snow from heaven and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, and giveth seed to the sower and bread to the eater; so shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it."

Peter used this key on the day of Pentecost, and opened the door of the kingdom to three thousand souls: and in the history of the early church we have this significent sentence: "So mightily grew the word of God and prevailed."

All through the nineteen centuries, this key has been unlocking the kingdom to millions of human hearts in proportion to the faithfulness of the church in its use.

A little more than a century ago, Japan, wrapt in her exclusiveness, refused admittance to the missionary of the Gospel; but by an overruling providence Commodore Perry was permitted to carry the word into the Bay of Yeddo, and on the Sabbath morning when he gathered the ship's crew together for divine worship and sang the one hundredth Psalm, God's unchangeable word, the walls of Japan's exclusiveness fell down and the church entered with her divine Book, telling the story of a divine Saviour from sin. What has been the result? Japan transformed into a world power to be used by our Lord to help in the triumph of His kingdom.

This word has been taken into China, the center of idolatry and superstition, the land of degraded and enslaved womanhood, the land of moral leprosy, and thousands have seen the kingdom of God in power, counting not their lives dear in testifying for their divine Lord. Enslaved and degraded womanhood is rising upon her unbound feet to accept deliverance and protection for her body, education for her mind, and a hope for her soul that God can give only through His word.

Equally powerful has the word of God been in our foreign fields. There is no missionary history more interesting than that of the United Presbyterian Church; and the history of our work in foreign lands is the history of faithfulness to an infallable Book. Read in that little tract "The Marvelous Power of the Printed Word" of Uncle Fam and his little group of followers, faithfully following the word although they had never seen the face of a missionary, and you will see only a little of how God honors His people who honor His word.

Turn where we will the testimony is always the same. As one has said: "Wherever the Bible has gone, it has taken with it a standard of morality simple enough to change the life of the inmates of the humblest cottage, and high enough to transform the world." Wherever the church has been willing to carry the blessed Book it has been a light shining in a dark place until the day dawned.

Such is the power of the key committed to our keeping. Christ our King, according to His purpose of grace, cannot extend His kingdom farther or faster than His church is willing to go with this Book. The church with an open Bible is what the prophet saw long years ago when he said, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation, that saith unto Zion, thy God reigneth!"

PRAYER.

is a key of the kingdom. It is "the hand that moves the hand that moves the world." It gives the bearer of the message a free and unmolested course through the dark prisons of superstition and sin to unbind those whom Satan hath bound. It must be through the intercession of the church that the world will acknowledge the kingship of Christ. Every great missionary movement has had its beginning in prayer. It was when the first disciples were praying that the Holy Spirit came as a tongue of fire.

When Peter was praying upon the house-top, he was called to the home of Cornelius to open the door of the kingdom to the Gentiles. It was after prayer in the little church at Antioch that Paul and Barnabas were sent with the Gospel message to many lands. It was the prayers of the church more than anything else that the great missionary to the Gentiles longed for. John Knox upon his knees crying "Give me Scotland or I die!" was a mightier power than all the armies of England. William Carey went to India when the church was called to a revival of prayer.

For two years the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Scotland had been wanting a man to go as a missionary to the New Hebrides; but when the matter was laid before the throne in earnest prayer, John G. Paton went out to that work of mighty power.

The humble servant of Christ who founded the Gosner Mission of Germany was able through prayer to place one hundred missionaries in the foreign field.

Does God hear prayer in behalf of His kingdom? Read the story of Harme; of Jacob Chamberlain, "In the Tiger Jungle" and "The Cobra's Den;" of Titus Coan; of Livingston in darkest Africa; of any missionary in the history of the church at home or abroad, who has been used to bring men and women under the dominion of Christ, and you will read the story of answered prayer.

The success of all the great evangelistic movements going on in the world to-day is due to the earnest intercession of the King's servants. It has always been true that, "when Zion travaileth she brings forth children." The greatest need of the church in the world to-day is the baptism of certainty that God can and will answer prayer. It is not His will that "the gates of hell" should prevail against us. We will have uninterrupted victory when we as transmitters of power keep in touch with the throne. The immediate need of the world is the church upon its knees.

Many of you have crossed that great suspension bridge over Niagara, and you have marveled at the strength of the magnificent structure. It is said that the engineer who built it was asked if he had any fear of its ever breaking, and his reply was: "You may carry over it the most heavily loaded trains; you may pack it with surging crowds going both ways, and I shall not be afraid, but I should not like to have a battalion of soldiers marching over that bridge keeping time to martial music. Their steady tramp, tramp, tramp, might turn the bridge from its moorings and send it with its precious freight into the waters below." Just so when the church, united by a common passion for the salvation of a lost world, shall fall upon her knees to intercede with God, it will not be long until this generation shall hear the Gospel, and the "gates of hell" shall tremble.

The crying need of the United Presbyterian church today is not for more money to support her evangelistic enterprises; not more men and women who are willing to go into the darkness of heathenism "if we hold the ropes;" not for more eloquent ministers and intelligent teachers—all these we need, but the greatest need is more definite and earnest prayer; more men and women filled with the Spirit who, in the secret place of prayer, can transmit the power of God to the money, the enterprises, and the faithful efforts of the sowers and reapers.

THE TESTIMONY OF A CONSECRATED LIFE is a key to the kingdom. "They overcame by the word of their testimony, and counted not their lives dear unto the end." Just after the Emancipiation Proclamation was signed, James Russell Lowell wrote:

"For it was felt from pole to pole,
Without a need o' proclamation;
Earth's biggest country's got her soul
And risen up earth's greatest nation."

What did he mean by the nation getting her soul? He meant that she had sacrificed for a cause; that she had put the crown of fire upon her brow and driven the spear of crucifixion into her side rather than let the ease of falsehood and corruption destroy her people.

God is calling today for lives of separation unto sacrifice. The Gospel of Christ is the most beautiful theory of saving a soul, a life, a world, that has ever been presented to a lost race; but everywhere we hear the cry from those more or less interested : "Will it work?" It is our blessed privilege to show the world how it works. There is nothing that God uses more to open the barred doors of hard hearts than the Spirit of Christ as seen in the lives of His people. This Gospel has cleansed and made happy many hearts and homes in India, Egypt and America, but it was not the Gospel read so much as it was the Gospel seen in the sweet lives of the Spirit-filled disciples of Christ.

Thus the church holds the keys of the kingdom. She is limited in her power only as she limits it herself by her worldliness, selfishness and indifference. She has the right to the power to dispel the darkness of vice, superstition, intemperance, lethargy, selfishness and worldliness. She holds the keys to the harvest fields that are "white already to harvest" and can see that laborers are sent in. She holds the keys to all the gold needed for her work. O what a glorious mission! What a mighty trust! Have we received the revelation from the Father? Has the Spirit witnessed with our spirits that we are the children of God? If so, we hold the keys of the kingdom. We may claim the promise of Him who has all power in heaven and on earth, and who has said, "Go ye." We may go into the most holy place and ask our Father for the Holy Spirit for service, with this positive assurance, that He is more willing to give us what we ask than our earthly fathers are to give us bread. We may have the power to bring souls to Christ by the testimony of a clean and wholly consecrated life.

And yet, Christ is waiting for the establishment of His kingdom in the lives of those for whom He died.

Away in Northern India He is waiting for us to break the seal and roll away the stone from the door of the sepulchre. In the land of the Pharoahs He is waiting for us to do our part in lifting the fallen from the depths of sin. Away up the Nile in "the land of the rustling of wings" there is "a nation trodden down," but in the midst of that people stands the living Christ, and He is waiting for His church to claim the promise that from that "nation tall and smooth" there shall be brought a present to Jehovah of hosts. In the Southland He is waiting. In our own homes fields He is waiting, and crying out with His old time love-cry: "I am not willing that any should perish but that all should return to me and live." Christ is waiting, we are holding the keys while

"A hundred thousand souls a day,
Are passing one by one away,
In Christless guilt and gloom.
Without one ray of hope or light,
With future dark as endless night,
They're passing to their doom.

The Master's coming draweth near,
The Son of Man will soon appear,
His kingdom is at hand.
But ere that glorious day can be,
This Gospel of the kingdom, we Must preach in every land.

O let us then His coming haste,
O let us end this awful waste
Of souls that never die.
A thousand million still are lost,
A Saviour's blood has paid the cost,
O, hear their dying cry.

They're passing, passing fast away,
A hundred souls a day,
In Christless guilt and gloom,
O church of Christ, what wilt thou say
When in the awful judgment day,
They charge thee with their doom?"

Mrs. Weber, the leader of the First Church choir, followed with a solo.

Roll called. The President announced the Credential Committee as follows :

Mrs. H. C. Campbell reported the sending of telegrams by the Board, in the name of the United Presbyterian women, to our people in California in affliction from fire and earthquake, expressing sympathy and a desire to give assistance. A reply having been received stating the needs, Mrs. Campbell offered the following motion, which was adopted:

Moved that this Convention order the Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Hill, to send at the earliest possible moment to Dr. H.H. Bell, $1000 to be used at his discretion in providing for immediate use a comfortable place of worship. (See action of Corporation meeting.)

Motion carried that the request of the Secretary of Ministerial Relief to be allowed to send relief to any needy United Presbyterians in California, made so by the recent calamity, be granted. Also if there were not sufficient money for the purpose in that fund, that it be provided from other sources.

Meeting closed with benediction by Rev. Douglass.

WEDNESDAY, 8:40 A. M., MAY 8.

Morning Watch:—the President presiding. Singing from Bible Songs and a season of prayer led by Mrs. George McDonald, completed the service, which was followed by the opening devotional service of Praise, Prayer and Meditation, in charge of Miss Margaret Mitchell. "The Source of Power," Zechariah 4-6, was the subject of her remarks. Numbers 32 and 197 of the Bible Songs were sung, and Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Little, and Mrs. A. N. Porter, led in prayer followed by personal experiences. A prayer song closed the service.

The Minutes of Tuesday evening were read and adopted as recorded.

The report of Committee on Credentials was presented and adopted.

A motion to omit roll call at this session carried.

The President presented program with a few corrections and changes, and a motion to adopt it as presented carried.

Mrs. Samuel Yourd not being present, her report as Recording Secretary of the Board of Directors was read by Mrs. J. B. Hill and adopted.

Report of the Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Hill, was presented and after discussion, adopted.

Report of Finance Committee, Mrs. H. C. Campbell Chairman, read and adopted.

Delegates sang one verse of Number 236 Bible Songs, in recognition of God's goodness.

The ladies' quartette favored the Convention with special music.

Report of Literature Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Caughey, read and adopted.

A motion to defer the report of Committee on Temperance Memorial until 4:30, the Open Hour, carried.

A motion to place the names of Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Kruidinier, and Mrs. McLaughlin on the Delegate Roll, carried.

Greetings were received from Oklahoma Cedar Creek, Rock Island Presbyteral.

Adjourned with prayer by Dr. Calhoun.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

After-dinner thoughts were directed by Mrs. C. C. Kyle and Mrs. T. B. Turnbull, with Luke 14:12-14 as a foundation.

The Thank-offering Bearers Conference was held at one o'clock.

The devotional service, subject "The Price of Power," Matthew 16:14, was conducted by Miss Ferrier, of Tarkio, in the absence of Mrs. J. V. Brown. At the close of this service a solo was rendered by Mrs. Weber.

Report of Thank-offering Secretary, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, was read and adopted.

Miss Taylor at this time extended an invitation to the members of the Convention to visit the Indian Mission Station at Tama, Iowa. Report of Home and Indian Missions, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Secretary, was read and adopted. A prominent feature of this report was the mention of a conference between a committee from the Home Mission Board and the Women's Board in regard to work among the Mountain Whites.

A most interesting address on Home Missions was given by Miss Anna Torrance, of Los Angeles, Cal., one of the special missionaries supported by the Young Women's Societies.

Report of the Secretary of Young Women's Work, Mrs. N. L. Wallace, was read and adopted.

Report of Junior Secretary, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson, was read by Mrs. E. M. Hill.

Motion to omit from this report the reading of "the basis of union" referred to, on account of its incompleteness, carried, and the report adopted.

The Juniors from Redding, Iowa, won the silk banner for attendance. It was presented by Mrs. Reece, Junior Secretary, to Mrs. Winegart, who responded in the name of the Junior Society.

A duet by Mrs. Dowell and Miss Pearson was restful to the members of the Convention.

A motion to postpone report of Junior Magazine until after Junior Rally carried.

The Junior Rally, under the leadership of Mrs. Acheson and her assistants, Miss Blanch Nelson and Miss Margaret Taylor, was most interesting.

The little people gave several recitations and songs. The following Junior yell was given with enthusiasm,

"Say, my chum, have you seen
Second Timothy, 2-15 ?
First Thessalonians 5-22
Will tell you exactly what to do"

Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter gave them encouragement in a short talk, and Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson, the Junior Secretary, sent a telegram of greeting asking the reading of Numbers 6:24,26.

Report of Junior Magazine, Miss Margaret McLaughry Editor, was read by Mrs. J. B. Hill and adopted. Also report of Business Manager, Mrs. N. W. Stevenson, was adopted.

Committee on Memorial on Young Women's Work reported not ready. Report postponed.

The time for the open hour having arrived, the report of Committee on Temperance was the order of the day. On account of the lateness of the hour, a motion that it be made the order of the day Thursday morning at 9:45 carried. A motion by the chairman of Credential Committee to place the names of Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Finney, and Mrs. Jackson on the roll carried.

An invitation from Rev. D. M. McQuiston of the Elmwood Mission to the ladies of the Convention, to break the ground for the new church, was accepted, and time set at 4:15.

The amended report of Credential Committee showing one hundred and twelve delegates present was adopted.

Adjourned with prayer by Rev. Mr. Hervey.

Thank-offering Evening, 7:30 p. m.

There is no more solemn service of the Convention than that of the annual ingathering Thank-offering service. After fulfilling all their financial obligations as members of the Church, the Women of the Missionary Societies still feel they have not done enough for their Lord and Master, but open their hearts in songs and prayers of praise, and loosen their purse strings to pour into His treasury their loving tributes. The key-note was, "Thou openest Thine hand and satisfieth the desire of every living thing."—Psalm 145: 16. Mrs. R. J. Miller was in charge of the service. The program was closely followed, and after responsive readings and services of song, the delegates in solemn procession passed before the platform, placing the offerings in a basket. Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter offered the consecration prayer. Following came a most inspiring address by Mrs. Alice McClure, of India. Singing of the Doxology and benediction by Rev. Mr. Smith, of Pawnee, closed an interesting service.

THURSDAY MORNING 8:40.

The Morning Watch by Mrs. Findley. Devotional service, "The Transmitters of Power" as a subject, Acts 2: 4, was led by Dr. Laurena Rezner, of Biggsville. A season of prayer for the bestowing of the Holy Spirit closed a very sacred hour.

The reading and adoption of the minutes followed. The order of the day having arrived, the report on Temperance Memorial was given by Mrs. Henrietta Monroe of Xenia, Ohio. After discussion, the report was adopted.

Motion that time for adjournment be set for 12:30 carried.

Report of Home for Missionaries' Children, Mary W. Porter Secretary, read and adopted.

Mrs. David W. McNaugher gave the report of the Women's Association, which was adopted.

Mrs. E. M. Hill, the Secretary of Foreign Work, read her report, which was adopted. She also presented Miss Mc-Lean, the new missionary to the Soudan, who was received with the Chautauqua salute.

The report of the Magazine Commitee, including reports from both Secretary and Treasurer, was given by Mrs. George Moore. On motion, report was adopted.

A motion to receive Mrs. Walls, of Detroit Presbytery, as a delegate, carried.

The roll was called and the report of the Nominating Committee read, which was as follows:

For President, three names.
For First Vice President, three names.
For Second Vice President, three names.
For Secretary, three names.
For Treasurer, one name.
Women's Board, five names.
Magazine Board, five names.

On motion, report was adopted with the exception of one name for First Vice President, the person having declined the nomination. A motion was made that the Secretary cast the ballot for the Treasurer.

The Committee on Memorial on Young Women's Work being ready the report was given at this time by Mrs. M. M. Patterson. This report, which was adopted, contained two recommendations in regard to representation of Young Women's Societies in Convention of General Missionary Society.

Adjourned with prayer by Rev. J. H. White of Winterset.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

After-dinner Thoughts founded on John 21: 15 were given by Mr. W. F. Johnston, Omaha, and Mr. McClure of India. The subject of the devotional sevrice was "Hindrances of Power." Mrs. G. M. McKnight of Philadelphia presented very many helpful thoughts. Appropriate psalms were sung and prayers offered.

The report of the Field Secretary, by Mrs. Alter, showed a most excellent work accomplished in bringing women into closer touch with the missionary work. Thirteen societies, including Young Women's and Junior societies, have been organized, and eighty-three congregations have been visited during the year. The report was adopted.

Report of Parsonage Work, Mrs. George McDonald Secretary, was read by Mrs. H. C. Campbell, on account of the sudden illness of the Secretary. This report showed Iowa to be the banner state as to new parsonages. Report adopted.

The report of the Freedmen's Secretary was read and adopted.

A motion that Miss Elizabeth Campbell be allowed to give her address at the end of the afternoon program, carried.

Eight young Indian boys from the Tama Mission accompanied Miss Campbell to the Convention and excited much interest among the delegates.

The address of Mrs. J. A. Thompson of Tarkio on "The Ideal Home" brought forth many serious thoughts for meditation.

Miss Pearson's sweet voice was again heard in a solo.

The Open Parliament, led by Mrs. R. L. Lanning, proved helpful, instructive and suggestive. No less than twenty questions were asked and answered by delegates in one minute talks.

Report of Committee of Tellers.

President, Mrs. W. R. Baldridge, Des Moines.

First Vice President, Mrs. T. B. Turnbull, Philadelphia.

Second Vice President, Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Tarkio.

Secretary, Mrs. J. T. Logue, Cleveland, Ohio.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Mrs. Annie R. Herron,
Mrs. H. C. Campbell,
Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter,
Mrs. William Nease,
Miss Elizabeth Caughey.

MAGAZINE COMMITTEE.

Mrs. W. C. Hutchison,
Mrs. George Moore,
Mrs. H. C. Dean,
Mrs. S. M. Kelso,
Miss Sarah J. Reid.

The Committee on Place reported having received a most cordial invitation from the Second Church, Topeka, Kansas, for the Convention of 1907, and recommended that Convention accept the same. Report adopted.

A motion that the apppointment of a permanent Committee on Temperance be left in the hands of the Corporation was carried.

The set time for the delegates to attend services in connection with the breaking of ground for the new Elmwood church having arrived, the Convention stood adjourned.

THURSDAY EVENING.

This session was in charge of Mrs. E. M. Hill, the Foreign Secretary. Ten Foreign missionaries and one Freedmen missionary, seated on the platform, formed a most beautiful picture of true consecration and devotion to the cause of our beloved Master. As these missionaries were presented to the Convention, they were received with enthusiasm. Miss Kate Corbett, Rawal Pindi, India, led the devotional service; subject, "Blessed be God." Addresses were given by Miss Totten, of the Freedmen; Miss Susie Young, of Zafarwal, India, and Mrs. J. G. Hunt, of Tanta, Egypt, each presenting the great need of the Gospel of Jesus Christ for the uplifting of the people among whom she worked. A most pathetic letter from Miss Mary Lawrence, of Pasrur, India, telling of the illness and death of Miss Edith Fulton, touched the audience deeply. Surely her life will be an inspiration to many another.

Offering was lifted.

Benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Douglass.

FRIDAY MORNING, 8:40.

The early prayer-meeting led by Mrs. Atchison, of Allegheny, was followed by the morning devotional service in charge of Mrs. R. B. A. McBride, of Omaha; subject, "Unrestrained Power."

A motion that Miss Campbell be given the time now for her address carried.

Miss Campbell emphasized the fact that patience and perseverance were necessary in the work among the Indians. She made an earnest plea for more workers, especially for a married ordained minister. At the close of her address, she introduced her Indian Band, who rendered a number of musical selections.

Announcement was made that Wyoming, Iowa, reported the organization of a new Young Women's Society.

Notice was read of the Corporation meeting on the fourth Friday of May at 10 A. M., in Board of Publication rooms, Ninth Street, Pittsburg. Delegates as many as possible are expected to attend.

A telegram was received from Dr. H. H. Bell in answer to the one sent by the President, telling him of the action of the Convention in regard to the $1000 gift: "Special gratitude for the generous gift. Thank the Women. H. H. Bell."

Minutes read and motion to adopt carried.

The "Women's Appeal" from the Cairo Conference, on behalf of Moslem lands, was presented by Mrs. E. M. Hill. A motion that the Appeal receive the hearty approval of this Convention was carried.

Mrs. E. M. Hill reported that in accordance with one of the rules adopted last year as a basis of work, the two Boards, Foreign and Women's, had held a semi-annual conference in Pittsburg in April. At that conference it was decided that the two Boards unite in two petitions to the coming General Assembly.

First, that we request the General Assembly to abrogate the rule regarding medical work in our foreign fields under which the Women's Board operates, and adopt one permitting either Board to enter upon general medical work whenever advisable.

Second, that we request the Assembly to grant the power to the two Boards to increase the salaries of professional missionaries to $700 per year. See foreign report.

Mrs. E. M. Hill, in the absence of the Junior Secretary, presided at the conference of Junior workers and reported to the Convention as follows:

That after an informal discussion as to methods, the proposed basis of union for the Junior Societies of the Church, and formulated by the joint committee appointed by the General Committee on Young People's Work and the Women's Board, was read, discussed, and unanimously recommended to the Convention for adoption.

Mrs. Hill presented this "proposed basis of union" and the action of the Conference. The Convention took affirmative action.

A motion to adopt the recommendations of the Thank-offering Bearers' Conference which followed, was carried.

The Conference of Thank-offering Bearers met at 8:15 a. m. May 10 1906. It was opened with prayer by Miss Elliott, of Mercer Presbyterial. After an interesting conference led by Mrs. M. C. Porter, the following business was transacted.

Thank-offering Bearers Conference.

A motion was made by Mrs. Jackson, of Philadelphia, that we recommend that blanks be printed for Presbyterial Thank-offering Secretaries to send out annually to congregational Thank-offering Secretaries for their reports. Carried.

Mrs. Mitchell, of Kansas, moved that the Women's Board be requested to provide special Thank-offering envelopes for young women's societies. Carried.

A motion was made by Mrs. Little, of Chicago, that we recommend that the Woman's Board secure prices on odd-shaped banks for such Junior societies as may desire to use them in gathering their Thank-offerings, these to be ordered direct from firms having them on sale. Carried.

As the time for opening the Convention had arrived, the Conference adjourned until the following morning at 8 o'clock.

Thank-offering bearers met in conference Friday morning and was opened with prayer by Mrs. Watt, of Chartiers Presbyterial. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Moved by Miss Shepherd, of Muskingum Presbyterial, that we recommend to the Woman's Board that the statistical blanks for the coming year contain two columns for the Thank-offerings of 1906 and 1907. Carried.

Moved by Miss Reid, of Xenia Presbytery, that we recommend that societies—as far as possible—take up their Thank-offerings hereafter, during the first week in October, and that Presbyterial treasurers send the entire Presbyterial Thank-offering (if possible) in one check to the treasurer of the Women's Board before November twenty-fifth, in order that the offerings may be placed on deposit by December first and that the interest accrueing to the same between December first and the Convention of May 1907 (when the offerings will be reported by the Presbyterial delegates) be used as a contingent fund to help meet the expenses of the Thank-offering Department of the Woman's General Missionary Society. Carried. Conference adjourned.

Mrs. S. W. McKELVEY, Sec.,

Amendments to By-Laws.

Notice having been given by Mrs. H. C. Campbell at the previous Convention, the following amendments to the By-Laws were presented by Mrs. George McDonald:

First, That Section 1, Article 3, of our By-Laws be so amended as to read, "Each Presbyterial having, two, three, four, or five auxiliaries shall be entitled to two delegates and one additional delegate for every additional five auxiliaries. Adopted.

Second, That Section 1, Article 1, of the By-Laws be so amended as to read: "The annual meeting of the Corporation shall be held in the city of Pittsburg, county of Allegheny, State of Pennsylvania, fifteen days after the adjournmnet of each annua Conventon of the Women's General Missionary Society, at such hour and place etc." Adopted.

Mrs. J. B. Hill, Chairman of the Thank-offering Committee, reported the total amount received to date $30,942.31 and not all societies heard from. Report adopted.

Report of Committee on Recommendations.

The Committee on Recommendations respectfully submit to the Women's General Missionary Society the following report:

We recommend first: That in addition to the credential blanks now used, other credential blanks be furnished by the Women's Board to the Presbyterial Secretaries to be filled out and given to the individual delegates.

We recommend second: That each one taking part on the program strictly adhere to the time allotted to her.

We recommend third: That the committee preparing the program be instructed to arrange for an "Open Hour" at each meeting of the subsequent Conventions of the Women's General Missionary Society.

We recommend fourth: That the Missionary societies of the Church make a prompt and earnest and prayerful effort to have the fifty-five thousand women, whose names are upon our church roll and not upon the roll of the Missionary societies, brought into the ranks of active workers and givers in the great cause of missions.

We recommend fifth: That the Convention urge upon the local societies to sustain the work of the Magazine Committee by filling out the blank petitions to Congressmen, urging them to take some action to alleviate the inhuman treatment of the natives of the Congo region.

Mrs. S. D. DOWNS,
Mrs. RILEY LITTLE,
Mrs. W. HOPPING, Chairman.

The above report was adopted.

A motion that we most heartily indorse the work of our Magazine Committee, and that we approve of the whole make-up of the Magazine was carried,

Report of the Committee on Resolutions.

The women of our United Presbyterian Church in the Twenty-Third Annual Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society, acknowledge with profound gratitude the guidance and care of our Heavenly Father during the past year.

OUR WORK.

Whereas our departments for work are the methods through which we expect to accomplish the work for which we are organized, Therefore, resolved that we push each department vigorously, with special emphasis on the training of the young, the material for the future Church, Women's General Missionary Society, and our Association work.

LITERATURE.

Realizing that there cannot be much enthusiasm in our work without a knowledge of it, we would urge a larger patronage of our publications, Magazines, Senior and Junior, and more faithful use of leaflets and helps furnished by our literature Secretary, and also a thorough reading at least of our yearly reports as found in the Convention number of the Magazine.

FINANCE.

Resolved, that we show apppreciation of our faithful, untiring Treasurer and Finance Committee, by promptly and fully meeting our obligations, and seeing to it that our money contributed goes to the proper departments of work under the care of our Women's General, Missionary Society, and in order to decrease the labors of our Treasurer, that all cents be omitted in forwarding the contributions, except for the Thank-offering.

OUR MISSIONARIES.

Resolved, that we express our gratification in having with us during our meeting, so many of our loved missionaries; and we would assure all these from Foreign, Home, Freedmen, and Indian fields, of our appreciation of the faithful services they have rendered, and the great sacrifices they have made; and when they go out to their several fields of labor, of the prayers, sympathy, and hearty support of the women of our Church.

MEMORIAL.

Our Heavenly Father has taken to Himself three of our beloved workers since our last Convention:

Miss Sallie McDowell, a charter member of the Women's Missionary Magazine, and for many years one of its editorial Committee. She was its first Secretary, and continued in that relation for twelve years; also was Secretary of the W. G. M. S. in 1888. She was called home March 14th.

Mrs. J. S. Barr served long and faithfully as one of our missionaries in India. With her husband, she was a pioneer in that field.

In the half-century of our work, Miss Edith Fulton was the first one of our lady missionaries to die in the field. She was called to her reward after a service of twelve years. She died March 30th at Pasrur, India.

To the families of these who have gone home, we extend our tenderest sympathies, and pray Heaven's Comforter may be near them in their sadness. By these calls we are reminded that we also must be ready; and so may work while it is day, that our service may be well rendered.

OUR WESTERN COAST SUFFERERS.

Resolved, that our intense sympathy, accompanied by our gifts, be sent to the sufferers of our United Presbyterian churches in San Francisco and vicinity, who have been so recently bereft of dear ones; their homes, their all in some cases, by the fearful calamity which has visited our Western coast with such cruel devastation. We would remind them that though earthquakes move the world, God is still "our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."

TEMPERANCE.

We do greatly rejoice at the rapid stride we have made in this Convention in the matter of providing for the helping forward of the work for the complete overthrow of the monster iniquity, the liquor traffic. Pray that our women may take this cause into their hearts, and practice and preach total abstinence, to the overthrow of the monster evil, thus hastening forward the Missionary movement in all lands, and the answer to the petition "Thy Kingdom come."

THANK-OFFERING.

Resolved, That we forget not to send up a note of thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father for the inspiration and help given through our Thank-offering services; that we have been taught the joy of daily giving. In the future may we in a measure try to express our appreciation of God's best gift, His Beloved Son, and go to our homes determined that the Thank- offering of 1907 may be far beyond our past ingatherings.

THANKS.

Resolved, That our visit to the beautiful city of Des Moines has been a delightful experience, and that we express our appreciation of the cordial reception given, for the hospitality extended and for the ministrations to our comfort and pleasure; to the pastor and his wife for their constant helpfulness; to the local helpers for untiring service; to the choir and soloists for such helpful service of song; to Miss Campbell and her "boys" who so enthused us with their "Indian Band;" to the Railroad Secretary and the railroads for favors granted; to the Press for courtesies extended; to our efficient officers for their labors more abundant; to Rev. W. P. White, husband of our President, for his careful oversight of the whole Convention; and to all who have in any way contributed to our pleasure, we extend our hearty thanks.

Committee,

Mrs. J. A. HENDERSON,
Mrs. FINDLEY.
Mrs. LOWTHER,
Mrs. R,. G. PINKERTON,
Mrs. Jennie KILGORE.

A motion that Rev. W. P. White be given a vote of thanks for his helpfulness during the Convention, carried,

The new officers were then presented to the Convention by the President.

A vote of appreciation was extended the President, Mrs White, for the efficient way in which she conducted the affairs of the Convention.

Rev. Mr. Douglass in a few well-chosen words expressed the gratitude of himself and people for the presence of the Convention in their midst.

Gracious thanks by the President for the hearty support of all members, followed by benediction by her husband, Rev. W. P. White, closed another annual C onvention.

Mrs. W. P. WHITE, President.
Mrs. J. T. LOGUE, Secretary.

REPORT OF

Statistical Secretary.

In all business enterprises it is necessary to take an invoice once a year, to call a meeting of directors and stockholders, to hear the reports of those having the business in charge, particularly the statement of the Treasurer regarding the receipts and disbursements, and to discuss the reports with a view to enlarge the business, if successful and profitable. So, in a corporation such as our General Missionary Society it is necessary to hear the statistical report each year, as from it we are enabled to form an estimate of our growth or decline. Each Presbyterial society authorizes its Secretary to prepare a statement of the condition of its congregational societies, the number of them, membership, and amount of contributions. These compiled make up the annual statistical report.

The work this year was a little tedious on account of the difficulty of securing the congregational reports. Many of the secretaries waited long after the appointed time for sending in the presbyterial report, hoping that these minor ones would come, and in many cases they did. Often congregational secretaries were repeatedly urged. April 10 is the limit for Presbyterial reports, but some were as late as April 23rd. All received after that time, or after the Presbyterial report has been audited, are placed in the "delayed" column.

The instructions and advice given to secretaries have borne fruit, in that the reports this year are almost free from items of undesignated money and specials for which no column is provided in the blank, so that there is very little to report as undesignated. All reports are carefully audited and balanced before being placed in the summary. It would be a help if we could induce Presbyterial secretaries to balance the statement before sending to the General Secretary. Not more than ten of the sixty-four reports are even added. The summary of this year shows one new Presbyterial society—Boston, Mass., organized March 1906, with Mrs. A. K. MacLennan, of Boston, president. We are glad to welcome Boston as a Presbyterial association. For many year they reported a few societies, but they have organized with eight societies and 271 members.

Twenty new congregational societies are reported: one in Northwestern Iowa Presbytery; one in Butler, (East Unity); one in Brookville (Lumber City); one in New York, (Rochester); two in Los Angeles (Riverside and Harvard Heights); two in Albany; three in Cleveland (Stowe Lakewood and Akron); five in Frankfort, and seven in Muskingum. Two Young Women's societies are reported; doubtless there are more, which will be reported by the Secretary of that department. Fourteen new Junior societies are also reported and two disbanded. These names will be given by Junior Secretary.

We find a decrease in number of members reported in many of the Women's missionary societies. Yet there is such a decided increase in a few, that the total is very little affected. A number of societies that had been carried for two years by the number of members only have been dropped from the roll; so that those we do report are in active service, and consequently an increase in work and contributions. The decided decrease in number of members was strictly investigated, and we find that in several cases the number given this year is over one hundred less than last year. Where are these members?

We would urge the delegates and secretaries of societies to look after their membership and see if we can not bring societies up to their original number; yes, over it. For we ought to increase rather than decrease.

I regret this opening report of the Convention has in it a minor key, but figures "tell the truth." We have had a blessing on our work for many years, and it is in store for us still if we pray and work for it. Let us thank our Heavenly Father for past mercies and encouragements, and entreat his favor and blessing on our society for the future.

The report, as compiled from every Presbytery in the United States, except San Francisco, and from the foreign Presbyteries except Upper Egypt, from which a partial one has been received, is summarized as follows:

REPORT OF Recording Secretary.

In submitting the annual report of your Board of Directors, it is desired to acknowledge the goodness of God, who has given the needed strength for service and bestowed abundant blessings on each department of work.

On July 8th, 1905, the Board met and re-organized, electing the following officers:

President, Mrs. Annie R. Herron.

First Vice President, Miss E. D. Brown.

Second Vice Pres., Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson.

Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Hill.

Assistant Treasurer, Miss E. D. Brown.

Statistical Secretary, Mrs. M. W. Porter.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Samuel Yourd.

Corresponding Secretaries of Departments: Foreign, Mrs. E. M. Hill; Home and Ministerial Relief, Mrs. H. C. Campbell; Freedmen's, Mrs. R. A. Elliott; Literature, Miss Elizabeth Caughey; Junior, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson; Parsonage, Mrs. George W. MacDonald; Thank-offering, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter; Young Women's, Mrs. N. L. Wallace; Railroad, Miss E. D. Brown; Home for Missionaries' children, Mrs. Wm. Nease; Busines Manager Juniors Magazine, Mrs. Stevenson; Editor of Juniors' Magazine, Miss Maragret McLaughrey; Field Secretary, Mrs. Jeanette C. Alter. Attorney, Major R. E. Stewart; Auditor, Mr. A. F. Sawhill.

Standing Committees were appointed as follows;

Executive—Mrs. Herron, Miss Brown, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. J. B. Hill, Mrs. Yourd, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter; missionary appointments—Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Elliott; addresses—Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Wallace; finance—Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Herron, Mrs. J. B. Hill, Miss Caughey, Mrs. Stevenson; literature—Miss Caughey, Mrs. Nease, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Miss Schwarberg, Mrs. Wallace; stationary—Mrs. Mrs. Yourd.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Stevenson represented the Board at the General Assembly in Washington, Iowa, May 24-31. Mrs. Mary W. Porter visited the Warm Springs Indian Mission before returning from the Albany Convention.

In August special work was assigned to Young Women's societies, as per action of the Albany Convention—the support of four missionaries, two foreign and two home, representing Egypt, India, Freedmen's and city work.

Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. E. M. Hill represented the Board at the Summer School of Mission Methods at Northfield in July-August.

Sept. 5th Miss E. J. Sloan, on account of prolonged absence from the city, tendered her resignation as a member of the Board, and it was accepted with the deepest regret.

Sept. 6th, Mrs. E. M. Hill and Mrs. Campbell represented the Board in conference with the foreign Board in Philadelphia; and also attended farewell meetings for the out-going missionary party in Philadelphia and New York and saw them sail.

Oct. 3rd Miss McLaughry, editor of the Junior's Magazine, reported that she had decided to go abroad for a period of time, and Miss Jean McClure Hill was appointed substitute editor.

Oct. 11th, Mrs. Yourd represented the Board at a meeting of the Second Synod of Ohio.

In November, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. J. B. Hill visited our Freedmen's stations in Alabama and Tennessee.

In November Secretaries Little and Hawes, of C. U., and Mrs. Stevenson, E. M. Hill and M. C. Porter, a committee from the Board, met in conference and prepared a paper, which was adopted by our Board and by the General Committee of Christian Union, in which it was agreed to ask the next General Assembly to have all Junior societies placed under the care of the Women's General Missionary Society.

In December, Mrs. John A. Wilson was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Sloan.

Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter attended a meeting at Elizabeth, N. J., of the committee to arrange for the Interdenominational Convention of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions at Nashville, Tenn.

Jan. 2nd, Miss Jennie B. Wallace, for good reasons, tendered her resignation as secretary of the Convention, and Mrs. J. T. Logue, of Cleveland, O., was elected to fill the vacancy.

Our Foreign Secretary, Mrs. E. M. Hill, attended the student volunteer Convention at New Wilmington, Pa., in February.

In accordance with the action of the Albany Convention the Board appointed the following Temperance Committee: Mrs. Henrietta Monroe, Mrs. C. M. Ritchie and Mrs. T. H. Hanna.

Miss Elinor Collins, Secretary of the Magazine Committee, resigned as a member of the Committee, in March, and April 3rd, Miss Sarah J. Reid was appointed in her place.

Mrs. Nease resigned as Secretary of Home for Missionaries' Children and Mrs. M. W. Porter was elected.

In April at Pittsburg, a committee of three members of the Foreign Board met with the Women's Board in conference.

Mrs. Herron, Mrs. M. C. Porter and Miss Caughey attended the 7th Interdenominational Conference of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions in the United States and Canada; and at the same place, Nashville, Tenn., the National Students Volunteer Convention.

The Board held twenty-five meetings during the year and members made 100 addresses to societies and congregations.

The terms of Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. M. C. Porter, Miss Elizabeth Caughey, and Mrs. Wm. Nease expire with this meeting; and so we close another year. Looking backward we can not but feel cheered and encouraged, and looking forward we have a vision of what is yet to come. We have all a part in the work, whether large or small, and the reward is to the faithful.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. SAMUEL YOURD.

REPORT OF

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15TH, 1906.

As our Master has sent us all the money needed during the year just closed for the contingent expenses of the work of our General Society, it is very fitting that the committee in charge should render account of the funds committed to its care.

The duties of the Finance Committee are well known to every woman who reads our Magazine, but as we are receiving new members constantly, it may not be amiss to repeat them briefly: It conducts all negotiations concerning all loans and investments, reporting the same to the Board for action. Many of our struggling congregations are unable to build a church without borrowing some money and few are found willing to lend; so we try to help a little in this way as our funds will permit. Loans are given on first mortgage only and for one year, with he understanding that loans will be renewed from time to time unless our work demands the money. Four and one-half per cent interest is charged the first year; if renewed, five per cent thereafter.

The payment and interest on loans are made to the chairman of this committee. The interest on loans remains in the custody of the chairman, who deposits it as the account of the Finance Committee, and the money thus secured is called our "Contingent Fund," out of which all expenses of every kind are paid, thus making it possible not only to send one hundred cents to our several mission fields for every dollar contributed, but also to pay for the envelope and postage used in its transmission. Herewith follows report of loans at close of year:

Congregation	Amount Loaned April 15, 1905	Amount Paid		Amount Loaned April 15, 1906.

Eighth, Chicago, Ill.	3 000 00			3 000 00
	$35 475 61	$3 537 16		$31 938 45

As you will observe from the foregoing, thirteen congregations have reduced their loans during the year. This is expected of all after the first year, and payments, however small, are accepted at each interest bearing period.

It is also the duty of the Finance Committee to look after suitable and reliable investments for endowment funds of hospitals and surplus funds of Women's Magazine. So far this has been accomplished by the purchase of bonds. It is of course understood that the revenue from these bonds is not included in the foregoing report, as it is placed directly in the credit account of the hospitals and Magazine in the hands of the treasurer of the Board.

The interest received from the loans and also the interest on bank balances constitute the contingent fund, together with any offerings from societies for this purpose. Westmoreland Presbyterial has again the honor of being the only society contributing to the expenses of carrying on our work.

Reports of the Finance Committee are presented monthly to the Board and bills approved are paid out of the contingent fund.

Herewith follows detailed account of same:—

REPORT OF Literature Secretary.

During the year that has come and gone there are many features of our work that give us renewed reasons for thankfulness.

For our literature has had a wider circulation than ever before. Other Boards of all denominations have found our Egypt leaflets very helpful in the United Study and we have had more orders from the South and East than ever in the past. In our own societies California, Ohio, and Pennsylvania have done their share.

We rejoice in the interest that so many have taken in the United Study. Much of our success in this respect is due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. H. C. Dean, of Xenia, as shown in her outline of the study from month to month in the Missionary Magazine. In this United Study, Iowa leads, as usual with College Springs Presbytery, first. We have just had notice that the new study—CHRISTUS REDEMPTOR, or the study of the Island World, will soon be ready and are glad to note the author is Mrs. Helen Montgomery.

We feel sure it will be a helpful, and instructive study to us all ,and we bespeak for it the same interest so many took in the study of Africa. There are a few important things in the year's work. This is the first time the present Secretary has been able to close her account with no indebtedness, and the first time practically that all orders were paid, only 33 cents remaining uncollected.

In this New Year, we are planning an advance all along the line. We are arranging for a series of Missionary Leaflets, including one on the Foreign Work in our own land. In the meantime while these are yet in preparation let us not forget that we have many, many good leaflets on hand that all have not seen. Let them be read and all be ready for the new ones that will be added as soon as possible. We hopefully face the future and thank you all for the many kind words and helpful acts in the past. REPORT OF

FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1906.

The report of this part of the Board's work has little opportunity to vary in its nature from year to year. It must be mainly record of figures, with some facts in explanation of same. This combined with the fact that this line of work, in its details, is largely of a business character, has a tendency to lessen interest in it with many societies, and to give out the impression we meet continually, that this is a department of business rather than a missionary enterprise.

Some one has said: "The best way to insure the future is to do good now, and if we are to take our part in the accomplishment of 'our land for Christ' we must bend all energy to that end. Is it not true also that every successful enterprise needs as perfect an equipment as is possible for it to have? Therefore, one spoke is missing from the wheel of missionary effort unless we assist needy congregations to secure homes for the pastors, while at the same time another Board of the church is contributing towards the place of worship. Thus these two lines of work go hand in hand, laboring for the salvation of souls.

This report is given with thankfulness, because the Lord has accepted our offerings and crowned the year with blessings. New interest has been awakened, contributions by societies have increased, and the record shows enlargement of the work in needy places. This is evidenced in the amount of appropriations, $15,100 as compared with those of the preceding year, $8000. Seventeen applications have been received. Fourteen were from struggling mission stations; four of these, received about the time we were closing our books, are under consideration, and to date eleven have been granted. One of these congregations did not see the way clear to accept the conditions of the Board and decided not to call for the money, leaving ten new parsonages on the list.

Three applications were from places that had passed beyond the class of mission churches. One of these came from the far west as early as July last and the Board, though anxious to give the desired aid, had not at that time, the funds to supply a congregation from this class. However, later in the year when all applications from the mission stations had been supplied to date, this congregation was notified that the Board could now and would cheerfully grant the loan, but the circumstances were such that this people could not wait and had secured the needed amount elsewhere.

Another of our western congregations was notified it too could be supplied, which aid was accepted. This congregation, although not new in its organization, has seen many reverses and this aid, wrote the pastor, will be a stimulus to put it on its feet again.

In this year's grants we have entered for the first time into the state of West Virginia, also into the Indian Territory. From this latter region the superintendent of missions wrote that the Boards of Home missions and Church Extension had entered the town of Boynton and asked that your Board enter simultaneously, as the field was needy and the demand urgent. He wrote: "We are losing a wonderful opportunity, just at present, for Sabbath-school work. There is not a Sabbath-school in this town of seven hundred inhabitants worthy the name, and there is no place that we can secure in which to hold one. If we had a parsonage now we could put into it a Sabbath-school that would be a wonderful help later on."

Thus you see a parsonage may serve not only as a home, but for a time, as a house of worship also.

All the appropriations asked were cut down to the lowest estimate before presenting same to the Board. Our parsonages are never built on an extravagant plan, as the amounts granted will show, and every parsonage is a monument to more or less self sacrifice. The grants for the year are as follows:

Burlington, Iowa	$2000
Brinton Ave., Braddock, Pa.	2000
Second church, Tacoma, Wash.,	1400
Ewing, Neb.,	600
Hutchinson, Kan.	1200
Chester, West Va.	2000
Boynton, Indian Territory	1000
Evanston, Ill.,	2500
Olathe, Kan.	1700

The total number of congregations that have received aid from this department is eighty-three. Thirty-one have made their re-payments in full, leaving fifty-two still under obligations to the W. G. M. S.

During the year which this report covers the balance due was received in full from the following congregations: Clearfield, Iowa; Boulevard, Denver, Colorado; Pretty Prairie, Kansas; Liberty, Neb.; Oak Harbor, Wash.; and Kent, Oregon. That the work may be better systematized we recommend that all parsonage loans and payments on same pass through the hands of the superintendent of missions of each Presbytery.

With the appended financial statement the record of another year's service is closed, and for the success which may have been achieved we desire to give all glory to God, because it is His work and from Him must come the success.

For the coming year we ask a continuance of your interest; that the needs of this department be kept before your congregation. The demands are increasing and every society in our W. G. M. S. should be an interested and liberal contributor.

REPORT OF

Thank-offering Secretary

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1906.

"In labors abundant" are the three Scriptural words which best describe the work of the Thank-offering Department for the past twelve months. The story of the previous year had scarcely been closed when the "For-word" of the new year was written.

The important action of the Albany Convention in authorizing a change in the time of holding the congregational "Ingatherings" from spring until fall, we felt meant a less amount of offering at this Convention of 1906, unless the thank-offering workers all along the line were promptly informed of said action and their efforts throughout the entire year be marked with earnestness and perseverance.

Through Presbyterial officers and thank-offering secretaries the bugle call to service was promptly sounded forth in all parts of the church. Responses were quick and enthusiastic for the change suggested. Not a dissenting voice was heard and every month in the year has indicated activity. All the encouraging signs lead us to hope that the story the figures will tell in this evening's offering will fill our hearts, anew with songs of thanksgiving to Him "whose we are and whom we serve."

The annual reports of the Presbyterial Secretaries show that the large majority came into close touch with their societies during the year through addresses and correspondence. Many reports contain interesting facts and helpful suggestions concerning the work, some of which we pass on to others. One Ohio Presbyterial secretary planned to have all the societies under her care to devote at least five minutes at each monthly meeting to the interest of the thank-offering cause. At some meetings leaflets were read or talks given, and at others special prayers were offered for this department of our women's work.

A Pennsylvania Secretary writes: "Nine consecrated thank-offering secretaries (or committees) have been appointed in all our congregations and the work in our Presbyterial has put on new life. The boxes are used more extensively than ever. An evening was set apart by some societies as a time devoted to prayer in behalf of the thank-offering. This was not in vain, for where these seasons of prayer were observed the windows of heaven were opened and the blessings descended, as was shown in the increase of offerings over the previous year. In some of our congregations, where there are no Junior societies, Thank-offering day was observed in the Sabbath schools, and it is wonderful the interest the children manifested. Little boys and girls actually denied themselves of those things so dear to children in order to save their money for the 'Ingathering' day. With gladness and joy beaming in their faces, they came into the presence of their Master and laid their little gifts at His feet."

Another Ohio Secretary writes: "My aim has been to secure an offering from every congregation whether there is a missionary society or not. I tell them that by contributing to the thank-offering they help every department of the women's work; whereas if they only contribute to the general work of the church they do not in any way help the work that the General Assembly has committed to the special care of the women."

This secretary early in the year wrote the societies asking if they would not form a praying band and each one spend fifteen minutes every Friday evening between eight and nine o'clock in prayer for each other and for the cause of missions.

From Oklahoma Presbyterial, one year ago, the "youngest daughter" of the Women's General Mssionary Society, comes most cheering news: "The Thank-offering is an established fact in Guthrie and Oklahoma City. Two new societies have been added to our Presbyterial, one in a new congregation at Blair, and one in our to-be-organized congregation at Boynton—the only United Presbyterian mission station in Indian Territory." This secretary ordered Senior and Junior boxes and literature for every congregation in the Presbytery. The first thank-offering of this young Presbyterial was given at Albany last year. Its average offering per member made it to stand the second highest in the list of Presbyterials for the year.

One California society, reports: 'Our offering this year is almost fifty per cent of an increase over that of last year. This was due partly to the good work of our committee. We have a committee of three for the thank-offering work. The chairman presides at our annual service and this completes her work for the year. Then a new member is added to the committee and the second becomes chairman. Thus two members are always familiar with the work."

A society in New York State reports from an October "Ingathering": "Our society rejoices in the fact that changing the time of taking up our thank-offering has resulted in an increase instead of a decrease in the amount. The report shows half as much more as was raised in the spring."

From some reports we get a glimpse of the genuine help the good pastors are in the thank-offering work. One says: "Our increase in amount of offering this year was partly due to the pastor's plea from the pulpit for a liberal offering." Another: "Our pastor distributed Miss Kate Hill's leaflet, "First Fruits in India," on last Sabbath morning and requested that each member be able on next Sabbath to answer any questions he may ask in regard to the leaflet. We believe it will prove an effectual means of getting the congregation to read it carefully. Is not this a good method of giving missionary intelligence?"

One society in California had a most attractive program arranged for a Sabbath service, in which the Juniors and the church choir gave valuable assistance.

The writer says: "All were benefited by being there and many were the praises of the service. Our offering was a gain of $20.00 over last year, and we are thankful to our Master for this as there have been many demands for money from our little band during the past year."

Most encouraging reports have been received from mission stations in our home land. Some almost doubled their offerings of the previous year—one having given the goodly sum of $100.00, the largest in its history.

Enthusiastic letters from newly organized societies who order their first thank-offering services prove to be real tonics to the workers. The two Presbyterials, Boston and Albany, organized during the year, will be heard from next year, as the societies are already planning to secure liberal offerings for our women's work.

A report of the year's thank-offering would not be complete without giving the messages that come from across the seas. The report from Miss Kyle's school is as follows:

Cairo, Egypt, March 30, 1906:—About one month ago each teacher in the school was given a Thank-offering box. She took it to her class each morning and the girls put in their offerings. Yesterday the whole school with some friends met in the church for the 'Ingathering.' Miss Wilson, of India, and Dr. McGill, of the Sudan, made short talks. There were appropriate songs and recitations in Arabic and English. A girl from each class presented the class offering, and two of the older girls were appointed to count the money. The amount given was a surprise. It was $135.50. About nine pounds was given by the graduating class of girls, one having given one pound, another two pounds; but most of it was made up of small coins."

The writer adds: "Last evening I called on Miss Kyle and found her counting the offering to see if any mistakes had been made. There were enough coins to fill a good-sized bag. Miss Kyle's hands were black from handling them and her brain weary with counting; but her heart was happy over the amount given. Many of the girls came from homes where Christ is not honored, but they have learned to love Him and the best part of their offerings is the cheerfulness with which they give."

One of the new missionaries tells the story of how a thank-offering box was used at a service in a village near Assiut, Egypt: "I attended a Sabbath afternoon meeting in a native village with two of the lady missionaries. We rode out on donkeys. As we entered the village I felt that I had seen many a stable and even pig pens in America more inviting as a place of abode than these dark mud houses. The mission room had a clean earthen floor, some rude wooden benches, a table and a small black-board. It was walled on three sides and on the fourth was a partition made of cornstalks tied together. There was a company of fourteen women clad in the coarsest black muslin and not one able to read. They sang psalms they had learned and some led in prayer. Their voices indicated their earnestness in all they did. After a Bible talk by one of the missionaries she took out of her satchel a thank-offering box and placed it on the table. While they sang each woman dropped a coin into the box. They gave small amounts, some only the fourth of a penny, but all gave out of their poverty."

The society offerings from India are as follows:

Zarfawal	$19.50
Pasrur	14.50
Sialkot	14.50
Gujranwala	25.59
Gurdaspur	16.87
Bhera	8.83
Pathankote	8.67
Lyallpur	10.33
Rawal Pindi	22.00
Total	$140.79

Of this sum $48.50 was sent to the treasurer of the Women's Board to help in all departments of the women's work. The societies of Zafarwal, Pasrur, Gujranwala, Gurdaspur, Bhera and Rawal Pindi will have a place on the Honor Roll as having given larger offerings than the previous year.

In some parts of the church there come notes of discouragements. One society gave its offering to the Japan sufferers: another to the Home Mission Board; another to the Freedmen's Board; another to a returned missionary, while several gave toward their congregational expenses and the quota.

In themselves, all these objects are good, but to use thank-offerings on self is not giving in the true spirit of gratitude, and money used to pay the congregational quota is paying a debt; hence it cannot be a thank-offering.

When the Women's Board furnishes all the thank-offering helps at little or no expense to societies (except the Scripture Responsive Services) and does most of the work of creating and deepening the interest in this way of giving to the Lord, is it not just and right to expect the women of the church to prove loyal to the work for which this Board is held responsible? Remember that every dollar diverted into other channels, however worthy they may be, to that extent cripples the work the societies are organized to support.

While these discouragements should be pointed out, they should not be dwelt upon so as to lessen the interest in the work. How can these discouragements be overcome? By the officers of societies planning to have their offerings given into the treasury of the Women's General Missionary Society where they properly belong. Thus, soon only bright spots will be seen in the firmament of our thank-offering work.

One year ago at the Albany Convention after a free and full discussion of the suggestion to provide substantial banks for the gathering of the offerings, instead of the paste-board boxes now in use, the following motion was adopted: "That the Women's Board be requested to promptly procure estimates on some kind of a durable thank-offering box, and be authorized, if thought desirable, to procure the same for free distribution." Very soon after the close of the Convention bids were secured from different manufacturing firms, but no bid was less than five cents per bank. When the Board considered the necessary expense of packing and shipping metal banks to all parts of the church, it was decided to recommend the paste-board boxes for the future; and response to a request from Egypt for plain white boxes, to be lettered Arabic in that country, thirty-one hundred boxes were sent in the fall with out-going missionaries. With the first of April, 1906, our work year closed. The same date opened a new year of service and a new era in the Thank-offering department. For 19 years the women of the church have had full twelve months in which to give their offerings in preparation for their annual "Ingatherings." This year it is expected that all societies will hold their "Ingatherings" early in October, which will give but six months for the gathering of the offerings for the 1907 Convention. This serves to emphasize the great necessity of keeping the thank-offering cause prominently before the church in order that the total offerings for missions might not be less than had been given annually in the past. From this very necessity was born the invention of our Bible Book Mark, and here we give its story.

In the fact that only six months time was given for the gathering of our next offering, it was evident that something must be done and that promptly to keep before the women of the church the importance of daily offerings. Special prayer was offered day by day for divine guidance. For a time all was a blank. No answer came until one day a drawer in the thank-offering secretary of the writer's home that is not often used, was opened. The first object which came to view was a tiny leaflet published by the American Tract Society in very small type, entitled, "Why I give an offering on the Sabbath." This leaflet had been laid away unused for years, but God's watchful eye was upon it, and in His own good time He brought it forth in answer to prayer, to help to give a new message to the women of our United Presbyterian church.

Soon, with help from above, the leaflet was enlarged and adapted with the title, "Why I give a daily Thank-offering." But the perplexing question arose—How can we get the women to read it and then keep the Scripture words in mind?

It being the custom of many persons to keep helpful articles as marks in their Bibles prompted the plan of printing said leaflet in the form of a Book Mark. A publisher, a consecrated man and one who has long been a helper in the thank-offering work, soon sketched off the form, and in less than a week samples were sent to societies all over the church. Within a few days following over one thousand copies of the Book Mark had been ordered and now every day brings its full quota of orders for large supplies of them.

It is the desire of the Women's Board that every woman whose name is upon the church roll shall have a copy for her Bible. This desire will not be accomplished unless all interested thank-offering workers will make a special effort to place them in the Bibles of the uninterested. Arrangements have been made to supply all demands however large they may be.

This Bible Book Mark is a compilation of Scripture and every copy should be sent forth in prayer. If this be faithfully done each one will carry with it God's blessing. May it like the "tree of life" extend its roots until they shall take hold upon every hearthstone in our denomination and yield its fruit not 'every month,' but every day for the "healing of the nations."

REPORT OF

Secretary of Young Women's Work.

Some one has said, "God's biddings are enablings," and so it has proved during the past year. The command of the Women's General Missionary Society to "Launch out into the deep and let down the nets" was most unexpected. coming as it did after the year's night of toiling. However, in obedience to orders, like the disciples, we too have received the blessing. The casting of the net of effort on the right side, as the Lord directed , has been His way of leading the advance in the "forward movement."

The phenomenal success of the department illustrates the truth that when God's time has come, it is the best and only time, as in this case. Some one declares we must quicken our speed, for God is marching on faster than we are following. The work of the department has been accomplished through two well known channels—prayer and painstaking. These are in the reach of all congregational societies.

Twenty-two of the Presbyterials have responded to the request for the appointment of secretaries for the Young Women's Department. There were five the first year, ten last year, and twenty-four new organizations this year, making thirty-nine in three years. Two circular letters were sent out explanatory of "Special Work," and many personal letters. There seems to be a deep interest in the new missionaries, and an earnest desire to have a part in their support; but many of the circles are handicapped, in that they have pledged all they can to assist in the support of the missionary adopted by Presbyterial or congregation. This is of course , all good work, and in many cases was undertaken previous to the announcing of "Special Work" for the Young Women's societies. A leaflet contest has been conducted on a small scale, but we feel many others will wish to take this up another year. The Women's Board published a leaflet outlining the rules by which the contest was to be conducted. NINE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY SIX leaflets have been read by seven circles. All testify that the reading has been most profitable, and has resulted in a broadened vision or horizon. There seems to be a growing interest in the mission study course. This, with a realizing sense of the val ue of prayer as regards the development of Christian character, are some of the hopeful signs. Some one has said, "the MEASURE of our PRAYING is the MEASURE of our GROWTH."

If we make every day a day of prayer, we shall be prepared to ask the large things our Heavenly Father wants to bestow. On the whole we feel like King Frederick the VIII, who declared he had a great admiration for our President, Roosevelt, especially his capacity for work, for getting things done. We feel that with God and young women, things are already being done, and more will follow.

"Only one life, "twill soon be past;
Only what's done for Christ will last."

Will you take this as your motto?

Mrs. N. L. WALLACE,
Secretary Young Women's Work.

Report of Committee on Memorial on Young Women's Work.

The committee on memorials of the Convention at Albany presented the following recommendation, viz:

That the representation of the Young Women's societies, in the General Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society shall be one delegate for each five Young Women's societies in each Presbyterial society.

A Committee of three was appointed at the Corporation Meeting in Pittsburg to consider this matter and report some plan of representation from the Presbyterial societies by which the Young Women's societies should have such representation as should be deemed best for the work.

In order to ascertain the present plan of the different Presbyterial societies, a letter, containing certain questions, was sent to the President of each Presbyterial society. Sixty two letters were sent and forty-one replies were received.

Of the forty-one Presbyterials heard from, thirty-five have not sent a delegate from the Young Women's societies within the last five years, for the reason that a number of the societies have only recently been organized.

The method of choosing delegates is not the same in all thePresbyterial societies. Some have a committee to decide who will go. The majority send in turn, selected from a roll of the different auxiliary societies, arranged alphabetically, according to date of organization, or by groups of city and country congregations. Very few send the full number of delegates to which they are entitled, the reason being lack of funds to pay the traveling expenses. Your Committee therefore recommends:

1. That the roll of each Presbyterial society be arranged by churches, alphabetically, or numerically if the churches are numbered, Women's and Young Women's societies to be included in the roll; the congregational societies to decide whether the Women's or the Young Women's societies shall be represented.

2. That each Presbyterial society assess its congregational societies a certain sum per capita, to form a fund for defraying the traveling expenses of its delegates to the Conventions of the Women's General Missionary Society.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. N. L. WALLACE,
Chairman of Committee.

REPORT OF

Women's Missionary Magazine.

Surely this is a changed world since the time when Jonathan Edwards searched the meager "News Letter" of his day hoping to find the least hint of something concerning the progress of the Kingdom of Christ. It is estimated that at present there are over one hundred publications, mostly monthly, devoted to missions, and that three fundamental principles govern each of these which may be called axiomatic.

First, It is the plain duty of each missionary organization to use every possible means for awakening and intensifying interest in missions within its constituency.

Second, One of the most efficient means for stimulating this interest and zeal is the missionary periodical, which aims to present the needs of the work, and keeps its readers in touch with the workers. The men and women who are doing missionary work must be set in the fore-front, must be seen and known, if their work is to be provided for.

Third, Each missionary organization should have an organ for the presentation of its own work. Desirable as interdenominational unity may be, loyalty to ones own denomination is a very commendable reason for subscribing for and reading the magazines of ones own church. The demand that these publications be made so attractive and interesting that they will command the attention of the indifferent and uninformed is preposterous. As well ask that a painting be made so beautiful that the blind shall see it, or music so sweet that the deaf shall hear it. Let a quickened love for our Lord and his Kingdom fill the hearts of his people; then information from the fields of conquest and contest will be welcome, and facts of missionary history, biography or current work, will not be without interest.

As we bring to you this Nineteenth Annual Report we wish for something new, but in detailing the labor, the facts, figures and experiences of the past year we find that much of prayer, anxiety, and deep concern for the best interests of the Magazine eludes our power of expression in words, but as we look up, we see the light of Heaven shining in precious favor on the year's work; and the survey of present conditions is a pleasant one.

We doubt if a like statement could have been more justly made at the close of any year in the history of the Magazine. It is beyond all question taking a firmer hold of its regular and special constituency. Emphatic testimony is being given to the enlarging degree with which it is fulfilling the rightful expectations of its readers. Those who make use of it in preparing for missionary meetings and conferences on the missionary work of our church, and in the United Study of Missions, are not withholding expressions of appreciation of its helpful service. It must be a source of satisfaction to those who are valuable and cheerful contributors to know that with increasing frequency extracts and entire articles are being made use of by other denominational papers and magazines. Occasions for our use of the "scissors" have been seldom, and the waste basket has received few, if any, contributed articles. Then again many subscribers are having the Magazine bound into volumes. The careful reader has discovered that the Magazine is a repository of valuable missionary information where the continuity of the past, present and the future fore-cast of missionary history can be preserved, and side by side in the family library take an honorable place in the annals of the church.

Considering the fact that the Magazine is the only distinctively missionary periodical in our church, where the activities and benevolences of women's work are presented broadly and fully, with its methods, its policy, its field, its workers, and all the interests for which this General Missionary Society stands and plans, is it not strange that the Magazine does not make an advance that can be exultantly expressed by figures, and that, in contrast with the encouragements and cheer before referred to, there stands but a slightly increased subscription list of 401 the past year? There is a great deal of faithful work done by local agents; your committee does not understand why this does not make a larger showing. If it is true that missionary magazines are great intellectual and spiritual conveniences where labor is abbreviated, and the work and application of the few are at the service of the many; if it is true that missionary information is necessary for equipment for service—then the mailing list of our Magazine should carry the names of at least 13000 earnest, intelligent women instead of 6220 the present number of paid subscriptions. Our women are capable of reaching this number; they have grown surprisingly strong by doing, and why cannot they address themselves to this duty by a hearty enthusiasm in some concerted plan for the larger support of this superlatively important department? We would not reflect disparagingly upon the intents and purposes of any, or magnify the almost inexcusable indifference to the importance of one of the General Missionary Society's most potent agencies; yet to have prosperous missionary societies, and an increasing number of missionaries and teachers entering the field while the "power house," the compelling force, lacks support, seems about as impracticable as it would be to maintain an army with feeble arsenals and scanty provisions.

The fellowship and friendship sustained by the members of the Magazine Committee for each other, and by the force of missionaries in other lands, and by the heroic workers at home, delightful in its personal aspects, is made yet closer by sharing the responsibility in the administration and management of the Magazine. May this delightful cooperation continue and the Committee be enabled to serve the General Missionary Society in such a presentation of its work that the impressions for good will be distinct and commanding, and the results benign and far reaching; and may the women of our church each month read a new chapter in the story of the glorious progress of Christ's Kingdom.

REPORT OF

Junior's Missionary Magazine.

Since the change in management of the Junior's Missionary Magazine in October, 1904, the editor has been absent so many months from her post of duty that she is yet unable to render a complete report for a full year's progress. During February and March we were so far away from the publisher as to render proof-reading and compiling impracticable, and this part of the work was generously undertaken by our busy Mrs. Hill, the former editor, who accepted the task as a pleasure rather than an additional labor. In the autumn the providence of God led us very unexpectedly on a longer and more distant journey, thereby compelling us to give up our duties entirely for a few months. At this time we were so fortunate as to leave the Magazine to the tender love and care, as well as to the skillful management, of Miss Jean Hill, who had been trained to the work, having been her mother's "little helper" even as a child.

When we accepted the position as editor of the Magazine it was with the prospect of having our lack of experience supplemented by the efficient aid of Mrs. Hill, the retiring editor; of Mrs. Stevenson, Junior Secretary and business manager, and of Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, who edited the department of missionary study. While the first two are unswerving in their constancy Mrs. Porter was obliged in January, 1905, by the condition of her health and the demands of other church work, to be relieved of her departmet in the Magazine; and it was with the utmost reluctance that we consented to the change. In answer to our prayers Miss Ella M. Barnes, who had the reputation of being an efficient leader in Junior societies, was engaged to prepare the "Plans for Programs." The Master had other work for her, however, and in August she sailed away to the mission field in Cairo, Egypt, but did not forget to leave with us the lessons for the rest of the year.

The lessons for the Junior Christian Union were edited for several months by Mrs. J. A. McDonald, but duties in home and church having accumulated beyond her expectations, she was obliged, much to our regret, to give up the work. A few months later Miss Mary Elliott, who is known for her interest in all missionary enterprise, was induced to accept this department, which she has ably edited up to the present time.

The beautiful serial story by our Field Secretary, Mrs. J. C. Alter, helped to furnish interesting and instructive reading for our Juniors for nine months of the year; and we hope that her pen may frequently be employed in preparing for our readers some of the many stories of Indian life and customs that she has in her mind.

To all of these noble women, who have rendered such valuable assistance, because their hearts have been in the work for the children, as well as to the missionaries and other friends who have contributed articles and pictures, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

On the whole, in spite of many obstacles in our way, we believe that progress has been made during the year. We believe that the earnest prayers that have been ascending to our Heavenly Father for the past eight years, that our little Magazine may help educate the children in missionary activity, are being answered. It is His work not ours, and our only plea to the women of this Convention is that He may direct us and whatever helpers He may raise up for us into the use of the methods that can best be used for extending His kingdom.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET McLAUGHRY, Editor.

REPORT OF BUSINESS MANAGER.

An increase of about 200 in the circulation of the Magazine can be reported, also an increase in the receipts of $27.18 for the past year. More than 200 copies have been sent out as samples to societies, individuals and Sabbath schools. While we cannot hope for much patronage from other denominations we are pleased with the efforts put forth by the General Secretary of Young People's Work in the Associate Reformed church to introduce it in that denomination.

Our funds will not permit us to offer prizes or premiums for new subscribers. We have found our best way is through the honor roll. Those sending a club of ten will have their names placed on this roll. It has proved an incentive to a number of the Juniors. A small society in Cedarvile, Ohio, increased its order by the above method, from ten to sixty-six copies in a few months.

We want to give you more illustrations in the Magazine and our idea is to have a pretty cover, but the accomplishment of these ideals can only be attained by a greatly increased circulation of the Magazine. Our financial statement is evidence of this, notwithstanding the careful and economical management of the Committee and publishers. We were agreeably surprised one day to receive five dollars from a society with instructions to use this for illustrations in the Magazine.

We start the new year with a very small balance, although the Board cancelled our indebtedness for one hundred dollars, which was reported as a loan last year. Our aim this year will be to reach every Junior society in the church with the Magazine and cross the seven thousand mark in our subscription list. I am sure we can do it if every delegate here will say a good word for the Magazine in her report to her Presbyterial and then ask for subscriptions from every family where there are children.

Junior Missionary Societies.

It is one of God's orderings, difficult for us to understand, that this year, of all years, our faithful and beloved Junior Secretary should be unable to attend the Convention and present her annual report. For this bids fair to be a red-letter year in the history of the Junior work.

Mrs. Stevenson has been praying, and longing and working for a union of the different Junior organizations of our church. It would seem as if we were now on the eve of such a union, thanks greatly to her efforts.

In November a committee from the Women's Board, consisting of Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. E. M. Hill and Mrs. M. C. Porter met with one from the Young People's Committee, consisting of Rev. Little, and Rev. Hawes, and held a conference on the subject of union. Difficulties which had seemed insurmountable when viewed from a distance, melted away at that conference, and a plan was subsequently drawn up which is to be presented to the General Assembly and then to the Young People's Convention. Every one interested in Junior work will await the final decision with deep interest, for we must all agree that whatever other divisions may be permissible, the children of the church should march in step, under one banner. But while we mourn Mrs. Stevenson's absence today, we are thankful that she is now recovering from her serious illness and we hope will soon be able to take up her work again with all her accustomed vigor. The Presbyterial blanks have been carefully gone over by Mrs. Nease and the writer, and while the report cannot be so full nor so interesting as if Mrs. Stevenson had been able to write it herself, yet we trust you will find in it much food for thought and encouragement.

There was once an orchard which was the pride of the whole village. In the springtime it was a mass of fragrant blossom and, in its season, it bore all manner of fruits. To the close observer, however, there was one fault in the orchard. The trees were all of one age—all in their prime. You looked in vain for the little seedling, for the slender young tree. To your questioning the husbandman replied "My time is fully taken up with the fruit bearing trees. It would be years before the young trees you speak of would amount to anything; it pays me better to dig about and prune and water those trees which bring such grand results." The years passed, and with them, the glory of the orchard. The storm uprooted one tree, another ceased to bear fruit and had to be cut down, and still another died, and there were none to take their places.

Here is a Presbytery. Its congregational missionary societies are full of life and vigor. They branch out in all sorts of activities; they blossom forth in many a plan and project, and our treasury is witness that they bear golden fruit in abundance. But what about the Junior societies? Your General Secretary writes this question to them from year to year, and sometimes no answer comes back, and sometimes it is "Junior work is so discouraging; it needs so much patience; it takes so much time; there are such few results; we cannot find a woman willing to undertake to superintend it." It takes no prophet to foretell the future of such a Presbyterial society. Like the orchard, in a few years its glory will have departed and the place which once knew it shall know it no more.

Happily for the future of our work, the Presbyterials that are neglecting the Juniors are in the minority. And yet there is not one of the whole sixty-two which might not do better, not one which has reached the ideal of having a Junior society for every women's missionary society, a seedling for every sturdy tree in the orchard. Let us make this our object and may the year on which we are just entering see great advances towards it.

MEMBERSHIP.

The year closing shows a steady improvement along nearly every line of Junior work. From fifty Presbyterials there came reports as compared with forty-four last year. The number of congregational societies reporting also shows a good increase. Last year there were, including L. L. B. societies, 259; this year 281, a gain of 22. The total membership last year was 7,578; this year 7803, a gain of 225. The little Light Bearers number last year 1,340; this year 1,359, a gain of 19. There was a decrease in the number of new societies organized, only twenty new societies having been reported this year as compared with thirty three last year. Muskingum Presbytery has the honor of reporting the greatest number of new societies, having six to its credit. 502 Juniors joined the church during the year. There were 647 honorary members.

ATTENDANCE.

The banner given for most faithful attendance last year to the Eighth church Mission Band, Philadelphia, goes this year to College Springs Presbyterial, Redding City Junior missionary society having a percentage of 106 in attendance for ten months. Two others are above 90—Harvard Heights, Los Angeles Prebytery, and Sheakleyville, Lake Presbytery. Brown Avenue, Erie, also of Lake Presbyterial, deserves honorable mention, for out of a roll of 40 they had an average attendance of 36.

THE NEW SPECIAL WORK.

The W. G. M. S. now owns a lot in the Sudan, situated in Khartoum, north.

We are planning to start a school for Sudanese girls. Already a bright, consecrated young lady has been found willing to go out as their teacher. So all we need now is the school building. It is to be built of brick and 325,000 is the estimated number necessary for its completion. 25,000 of the best quality will cost $7 a thousand. 300,000 of the second quality will cost $4.50 a thousand; a total cost of over $1600 or one half a cent for each brick. We feel sure the Juniors will do even more than this judging from past years, and so we think they might also supply the windows, an estimate of which will be given later.

The magazine will have a column specially to keep count of the bricks, and there is no limit put on the number which a society may provide. Would it not be grand if the Juniors, all by themselves, nobody helping them a single bit, should be able to buy every brick in the first Christian school for girls in the Sudan? I wonder which society will send the first load of bricks.

LIFE MEMBERS.

Last year a life membership fund was established in the Junior Missionary Society. A sum of ten dollars makes any child under 14 years a life member.

The money raised in this way goes to ———. Last year there were six life members reported; this year thirty-eight have joined the ranks. The Secretary would like to see at least one representative from each congregational society among the life members. The following is a list of those who became life members during this year.

Clifford McDougall, Dorothy Burns, Hanna and Charles Wise, of Kirkwood, Ill.; Anna Hanna, of First Church, Cambridge, O., in memory of Margaret Craig, of same church; Mary Fowler, North Bend, Neb.; Mary Hutchison Leiper and Robert McClellan Leiper, St. Joseph Mo.; Margaret Hannah, Shadyside church

Pittsburg; Mary Hood, 2d church ,Cambridge, O.; Dorothy Jane Eccles, and Ruth Gilmore Adams, of 9th Church, Pittsburg. The Sixth Church, Pittsburg, Pa., has provided for twenty life memberships. Ten of these new life members are Mary B. Kincaid, Eleanor Kincaid, Thomas S. Kincaid, Bessie Morrison, Harvey Coleman, Mary Flinn, Fulton McCracken, Esther McCracken, Mrs. R. M. Russell and her daughter, Jane Russell. The other ten life memberships were provided for by the King's Sons, a group of eleven boys. The members are Alexander Scott, Herbert B. Baetz., Robert M. Russell, Jr., James Carothers, H. W. Eyerly, Thomas B. Coleman, Roy L. McGrew, William J. Walker, Jr., Roy W. Watkins and Thomas B. Rodgers. and Robert E. Frazer.

WHERE THERE IS NO JUNIOR SOCIETY.

In a number of places where as yet no Junior Societv has been organized, the primary teacher in the Sabbath-school devotes some time, either at the close of the regular lesson each Sabbath or once a month to teaching the children about missions and in some cases a missionary offering is taken up. We have no fear that in every such case a Junior Missionary Society will ultimately be established. Where there is a mind to work there is a way. When the roads are too bad for the children to go to the Mission Band, take the Mission Band to them and form societies in the families, which has been done in two instances; where no superintendent can be found to take up the work, put on a missionary addition to your Sabbath-school class; and any way, every way, teach the children to know about and to give to the missions of our church.

Junior Secretary,

REPORT OF

United Presbyterian Women's Association.

Again the work of the Association comes to you bigger, and fuller, and farther-reaching than ever before. This outcome is in great measure attributable to the generous thought of the people of our church, along with the unceasing prayers and work of the women who have been entrusted by you with these special workings. In full measure have we been remembered, both in prayerful word and in the trustful stewardship of monies. When we think upon the tiny beginning of 27 years ago and its development it seems a marvelous tale—a full coming-to-pass of "That all things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer believing, ye shall receive."

The other day I was told by a woman of wide experience in missionary lines, one who recently has been brought to know much of our doings, that she has never met with such earnest, harmonious workers; for whatever may be our diverse opinions, prayer and love, and a free talking heart to heart, as in our Association meetings, bring out at least an almost perfect harmony—a harmony that dissipates all self interest and petty jealousy. And so we work as a unit in our threefold plan.

Almost a year has passed since one of our best, truest and most helpful friends went Home. In all our history Dr. Samuel Collins, a member of our Advisory Board, whose wife was the first President of our Association, had ever lent a listening ear; was ever ready to counsel and advise, to give his best thought in our behalf; and at the end to show his great interest and confidence in the future of our work, left all his worldly possessions to our Association. In each of our three institutions suitable memorials to Dr. and Mrs. Collins are to be placed as evidence of our thorough appreciation of such helpful friends.

The Orphans' Home.

This work claimed us first and is the forerunner of all to follow. The little children gathered into the arms of the church and of her good women so many years ago, rise up and call your workers blessed. That seed time has proved a glorious sowing.

The past year has been most pleasant and successful, a year of unusual freedom from sickness. Ours is a happy household where many amusements and much cheer are provided for the children. All the advantages and pleasures of a Christian home are theirs. After school vacation our children came back to us the better and stronger for their joyous, healthful stay among our kind friends of the outlying congregations in this and other states. Our heartiest thanks go out to all who have made a summer's outing possible for the little ones. These good friends surely well know the blessing of giving. From September 1st to the present time we have cared for 69 boys and girls. Nine have left us to enter homes provided by their friends; so our number now is 60.

The children of school age are sent to the Second Ward Public School one of our good schools close by. They regularly attend church, Sabbath-school, and Junior meetings at the Fifth Church, Allegheny. This year three of our eldest girls have united with that church.

While our Home has not been visited by the Death Angel, yet our Board of Managers has experienced a great bereavement in the loss of one of our workers: Mrs. George Shaw, who, for more than 23 years, had been a most faithful and loved member. And so again we lay our burden at the Minster Gate, and pray for that grace which God gives to his sorrowing children.

When Columbia Hospital is opened, the little hospital, so long connected with the Orphans' Home, will be turned over to us with all its furnishings and memorials by the Association, at the request of the Hospital Managers, to be used for the care of those slightly indisposed. The seriously ill are still to be cared for in Columbia. This building will hereafter be known as the Orphans' Home Memorial Infirmary.

Out of full hearts we thank our good friends throughout the church for their thought of our work among these fatherless and motherless little ones. We ask for your prayers and support, even in greater fullness, that your Orphans' Home may become the more useful in doing our Master's work.

Columbia Hospital.

Columbia Hospital comes to you with a right glad story to-day. The fruition of years is upon us. The first day of June we mean to open her doors for the broad work that has been crowding upon us so long, to make glad a greater number of the sick and the afflicted in the brightness and beauty and perfect equipment of our Hospital. The echoes of sanctified memory will ever linger about the little hospital under the hill, and so make our larger work the deeper and more Christlike.

Yours is a beautiful hospital—a rare gift to God's people. On the same grounds with the Home for the Aged, we are now almost ready to lend our aid to these dear old people when sickness comes upon them—ready as ever to care for our orphans across the river, the children who have been such a part of our life. Ever the interchanging, interwining work goes on, each step a necessary part to the whole plan.

November brought our time for the election of staff, and with it the knowledge that because of distance our old staff found it impossible to serve in Columbia other than as consultants, and so along with the familiar names of these earnest, faithful, efficient men, who have given us of their time so cheerfully and ungrudgingly, you will learn the names of our acting staff, physicians of like faith, efficiency, and skill. Miss Aikins was chosen Superintendent, a graduate nurse of wide experience and ability. She has charge of a training class begun two months ago, a class of 12. We are greatly encouraged by the zeal of these young people, and hope for a larger class of like workers. The two years course of training offered to young men we trust may be an inducement to enter this work. There is great demand for trained male nurses.

As the work of our training class progressed, many needs presented themselves. These were no sooner made known than met; now as at other times setting forth the unbounded interest our work has called out, not only among our own church people, but among her outside friends—more of the countless proofs of answered prayer.

Our first Board meeting in the new hospital was a real home-coming. All these years no room in the hospital could be given us for a meeting-place. We have been the welcome guests for a long time of the Orphans' Home, and later the Association. So you may well know what thronging joys and sorrows crowded upon us as this meeting, ever-to-be-remembered, began: the joys of work well on the way, and over all the watchful care of God. And with bowed heads we gave thanks for our Father's manifest approval asking for a continuance of His love, thankful to the fullest for the added inspiration from the lives of those dear fellow-workers who have been called Home.

Almost completed work encouraged us that day to set a date for our formal opening. The 10th of April was chosen, because our Managers wished thus to celebrate the birthday of one who, more than any other one, by her untiring efforts and complete blotting-out of self, has made possible Columbia Hospital—our dear Association President, Mrs. H. C. Campbell. Incomplete work made this date an impossibility, and so our dual celebration comes this first day of June. We invite every United Presbyterian ,every friend of our work, to meet with us that day.

Columbia is a general hospital, with a capacity of 125 beds. (For full description see our last annual report, a number of which are distributed in the pews.) In our little hospital 73 patients have been under treatment since last May, and but one death, that of a frail little baby sent to us by the Children's Aid Society. Four of these were outside cases, one an adult.

Home for Aged People.

The glorious light of evening skies glows all about our Home; its peace and happiness and love fall as a divine benediction. The evening of life fills us with the quiet serenity that makes us the better and stronger for time spent within its threshold. It is a place strangely free from the dull routine, the jars and friction, of like homes. Surely the peace and comfort written all over the faces of these dear old people is multiplied blessing to all.

Our Home represents a growth of 16 years. Our work reaches everywhere; we have now three applications from the far West; two of those admitted last fall came from Los Angeles. There are now 72 in the Home, 12 of whom are men. Many of these have passed their 80th year, and two are past 90. It might be possible to admit a greater number, but we find it much more comfortable not to have two in a room, except in the case of sisters, or in that of husband and wife.

As our needs increased, additions have been made, and now with the new parts we number 81 rooms, including bath rooms, kitchen, laundry, etc. Many of these have been furnished as memorials. Nineteen are waiting to be named, waiting for the help in this line that will surely come. The opening of the East wing, December 5th, was a memorable one. Both afternoon and evening were given over to an interested throng of friends. An especially appropriate program included the formal handing over of the key by the President of the Association.

Divine service is held each Sabbath afternoon, and once a year the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is dispensed Last month the Rev. Mr. Edgar, of Wilkinsburg, conducted this service. In our last annual report you will find the work of this, the third branch of our Association, given in detail. We ask you to give it careful reading, to note the success and progress made.

We wish to thank all societies and individuals who have so generously come to our aid in supporting this Home; to ask a continuance of your help, and that you may make the interest of the Home your interest. The Divine command, "Honor thy Father and thy Mother," comes down the ages with forceful meaning and rests upon each one of us.

Such is in part a report of the Association. The whole path is alive with work, thronging and crowding with eager, prayerful workers. We ask that your interest and support be even greater than ever before, and so help make the way broader and clearer. And shall we not pray that in all humbleness of heart we may go on, with the love of God and the love of man written all over our hearts?

Mrs. DAVID W. McNAUGHER.

REPORT OF

Committee on Temperance.

To the W. G. M. S. in Convention assembled at Des Moines, Ia., May 9--11, 1906.

Sabbath morning, in our ships of war, as the hour of worship draws near, the stars and stripes are lowered, and there is raised to the peak a pennent upon which is a blue cross, symbol of the kingship of Christ, on a white field, emblem of national righteousness. Then Old Glory is drawn up under the cross, in token of the national allegiance to Christ as its King, thus saying in the language of flags: This is a Christian Nation, and our flag shall float over nothing in token of protection that is not consistent with the cross of civilization, and the "law of Christ must be the law of the world." And yet we know that our ships, sailing under the flag of our country, carry that which destroys both body and soul. Every effort must be put forth to remove the greatest hindrance to the advancement of Christ's cause, and the upbuilding of His kingdom. How can we pray, Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven; and yet not lift a hand to destroy the liquor traffic?

The command is, to root out, to pull down, to destroy, to throw down; then to build and to plant. The rooting out, the pulling down, the destroying, the throwing down, must precede the building and planting, else we build and plant in vain.

The question naturally arises, "What has this to do with the church, with missions, and with our missionary societies?" Very much does this concern all of these. The work of the church is exceeding broad; it cannot be confined to one branch, to one people, to one country. The command, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature," given by the Saviour to His disciples, was not meant merely for them, but it was a charge for all time to His followers. It is obligatory in the church everywhere to carry on His work, and each member is individually responsible. It means you, it means me. The teaching, the preaching, the baptizing, are not all. There is work of preparation, of prevention, and work of defense, and the church is the mighty agency to carry it on; to lay the foundation for it broad, and deep, and strong. The church holds the balance of power, and it must arouse a great Christian sentiment against every power of evil and of darkness. When the working force of the Church hears the call, "Why cry ye unto me; speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward; quit you like men; be strong in the Lord and power of his might," the work will be done.

This is no new thought, no new idea. Senator Blair once said, in a public address, "Temperance must become as much a part of church work as missions; it must be put in the same lines as the missionary, and the educational institutions of the church. If the pastors would make it a part of their primary work, to make a regular presentation of it to their congregation, call for contribution to its support, as is done for the missionary and Bible societies, the future of the Temperance movement would be as sure as the triumph of the Gospel, by the same eternal word of God."

How does this question bear on the missionary societies?

Hear the testimonies of missionaries. Rev. Cyrus Thornton, after his work of forty years, wrote: Saloons and the Gospel cannot go together." Rev. J. R. Alexander, of our church, after twenty-five years of service, writes: "To my great sorrrow, the use of intoxicating drinks and drugs is on the increase in Egypt." Bishop Thoburn, of India, says: "The rum exported from the United States cannot but work moral and physical ruin, and is a curse to the poor creatures wh spend their last penny for it." Bishop Newman writes: "Rum is the greatest barrier to our missionary work in Africa." And the universal testimony of missionaries is, that Christian nations are making ten drunkards to one Christian; that conversions could be multiplied by ten if we could destroy this dreadful evil.

But why multiply testimonies, to which might be added hundreds. Let us rather consider the duty of missionary societies as related to the Temperance movement, especially to the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church, which we believe has come to the Kingdom for such a time as this. Is it not time that they heed the cry which comes ringing down through the centuries "Rise up ye women that are at ease; hear my voice, ye careless daughters; tremble, ye women that are at ease; be troubled, ye careless ones; gird sack-cloth upon your loins, until the Spirit be poured upon us from on high, and the work of righteousness will be peace, and the effect of righteousness and assurance forever."

"For if thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are ready to be slain; if thou sayest, Behold we knew it not, doth not He that pondereth the heart consider it? and shall not He render to every man according to his works?"

In view of these solemn facts, your committee appeals to your honorable body, asking that Temperance be made a department of missionary work, and recommends that a Permanent Temperance Committee be appointed, whose duty it shall be to use utmost effort to have a Temperance Secretary in every Presbyterial, and in every Congregational or Auxiliary society; that the Secretary in the Congregational or Auxilliary society plan to hold a temperance meeting during the Week of Prayer, and take an annual offering for the work.

Your Committee further recommends that this Permanent Temperance Committee be willing to co-operate with the Permanent Temperance Committee of our General Assembly, joining hand and heart with it, in every effort to protect our church and missions from this dreadful foe.

Finally your Committee recommends that the officers of our Women's Board memorialize the Women's Boards of all denominations, to unite with it in combined effort to stop the exportation of liquor to heathen countries. When we secure a consolidated sentiment of American Christians, which will protect against this exportation, the victory will come, and we will understand the message in its largest significance, "Blessed are ye that sow beside all waters."

Respectfully submitted,
HENRIETTA L. MONROE,
MARY E. HANNA,
JENNIE F. RITCHIE.

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF

Home for Missionaries' Children.

Many changes have come to the Home in the past six months. Mrs. T. J. Finney, of Egypt, who had occupied the Home with her family, and also provided a home for the two sons of Dr. Lansing, left for the foreign field to join her husband. A few days before her departure the lady who had consented to take the responsible position of house-mother, Mrs. Isabel Strang Lansing, widow of Dr. Carroll Lansing, and daughter of Rev. David Strang arrived from Egypt with her little daughter and took charge October 1st, 1906. At the present time there are five boys and this little girl in the Home. Five girls are in the Ladies Hall connected with the college. The children at present under our care do not all attend college, some being too young, but attend the public school in New Wilmington.

The local Board has for its Chairman Mrs. J. H. Veazy; secretary, Miss Frances Barr; treasurer, Miss Jeanette Shaffer. Monthly meetings are held and reports received from treasurer and house mother. It should be understood that the child of any missionary, foreign or home, is eligible for admission to this Home; those under 12 years of age to pay $2.50 a week; those over twelve, $3 per week. This money is used for the running expenses of the Home. The rules governing this Home are such as govern any Christian home or family. The children are required to attend Sabbath school, church and family worship. The use of tobacco in any form, and cards are forbidden.

We would be glad to hear of others who wish to leave their children in the homeland to be educated, and can assure them they will have a pleasant, comfortable home surrounded by Christian influence and a watchful care. The future of the Home depends largely on the use made of it by the missionaries. If the demand for a home of this kind is not made clear to the W. G. M. S. after a fair trial, a change will be made. At present we have ten children under our care and two more are expected in the early summer. At present we could not accommodate more than this number, but if they are given into our care, we will enlarge our quarters and take as many as will come. We ask any interested party to visit this Home, where they will be welcomed by Mrs. Carroll Lansing.

Owing to the sale of the property which we now occupy and our lease expiring August 1st, 1906, we are obliged to move. Houses for rent are very scarce in New Wilmington at present, and property for sale is advancing rapidly, owing, no doubt to the boom given the town by the enlargement of the College and the near prospect of a trolley line from New Castle on one side and from Sharon on the other.

Hoping this invitation will be accepted and the Home have many visitors during the summer months, we close with the financial statement, first asking a place in your prayers for these children who have, early in life, felt the anguish of parting from father and mother, and who are at the most tender and impressionable age; also for the parents, who from a conviction of their duty to the cause of our Master have parted in sorrow and tears from these dear children.

May we be enabled to fulfill the trust confided to us. Remember us in your contributions also, when the fruit season comes around and the usual supplies for the family are made up. Think of our boys and girls who are so fond of sweets and who, we are happy to say, have such good, wholesome appetites.

Thanking you in advance for the granting of these requests, we respectfully submit this report, with financial statement following:

REPORT OF Foreign Department.

Mrs. E. M. Hill, Secretary.

As we gather up the results of the past year in our efforts for the extension of the Master's kingdom in India and Egypt, we seem to hear again from out the dim past the old prophet's question, "Watchman, what of the night?" The night of sin and sorrow that settles darkly on all without the gospel. And shall we not find a partial answer at least in the report of the Foreign department? Dry figures, uninteresting facts perhaps, and statistics that may be wearisome; but through them all we see the "morning light breakin" and can rejoice in the approaching day of gospel light.

Therefore the faithful band of more than 30,000 women and children who so generously support this department will "utter abundantly the memory of His great goodness," and with enlarged hopes will enter the new year with an energized spirit and a courage that shall give continued service until that glad day when,

"Earth's utmost bounds shall hear and turn:
All tribes and realms thy worship learn."

$61,569.28 is the generous total that has been received by our treasurer for the year. $28,314.50 is the amount appropriated to salaries; $5000 to needed improvements on the Memorial Hospital; $6000 advanced for the purchase of a piece of land necessary for the best equipment of the medical work in Tanta. The remaining thousands have been applied to the maintenance of the three hospitals and the two boarding schools and the necessary expenses involved in the equipment and going out of new workers and the return of others. $2627.50 was designated for work not under the care of the W. G. M. S. and must be "counted out" of our work. But as this is the smallest sum that has ever been received on "specials" your secretary extends congratulations to friends and societies who are learning loyalty to the work in hand.

$54,656.00 is the amount of the estimates as presented by our three missionary associations and accepted by the Women's Board. This sum is to be divided as follows: $21,395, Egypt; $32,261, India; $1000, Sudan.

As this is the first year of work for the W. G. M. S. in the Sudan, it may be interesting to know the items included in the $1000. They are as follows: salary, $400; outfit, $100; traveling, $250.00; language teacher, $100, and sanitorium expenses $150. These items make clear the fact that all the expense in supporting a missionary is not included in her salary. New work, such as the purchase of property building, etc., has not been included in the above estimates, but must be considered separately. At the earnest solicitation of the missionary association of the Sudan, the Women's Board agreed to extend our work to Khartoum North where a plot of ground, 475 ft. x 175 ft. has been purchased at a cost of $12000. On this property it is planned to erect a Girl's Boarding School, the estimated cost of which is $9,209, making a total of $21,209. A bequest of ten shares of Pennsylvania R. R. stock valued at about $700, was received by the Board for "its most needy work." This gift from Miss Ann McQuiston, of the First Church, Pittsburg, Pa., was made the nucleus for the Sudan work. Gifts from various sources, paid and pledged, have now reached the sum of $7,825, leaving a margin of $14,175, for the very many who will want a share in the very beginning of things in that needy section of the Dark Continent. $1000 remains unpaid of the amount needed for the improvements on Memorial Hospital, Sialkot, India, and will have to be advanced in the near future.

Two other needs that are very urgent and that the Board would gladly provide if the co-operation of our generous co-workers can be secured. The first is a Zenana House in Sialkot, India—a home for the two lady missionaries who carry on evangelistic work among the women of that city. They now live in a rented house more than a mile from the city, from which they must come and go at a great waste of energy and time, and to which they can not persuade the native women to go, because of the distance. Perhaps some of the Lord's money is waiting in the hands of His children to be applied to just such a need as presented. The second a home in Ramleh, the summer resort in Egypt to which our missionaries must go each year for a rest, if health and energy are to be maintained. A house for the accommodation of the young lady missionaries is an imperative need. As it is now, the few houses that are at Ramleh are barely sufficient to provide for the married missionaries and their families, so that plain, comfortable quarters all their own would be a great blessing to the over-worked and tired young women who represent us in Egypt. $3000 is the probable sum that would provide either of these buildings.

If the estimates for the year are provided for, the new work in the Sudan all paid for, and the two houses for our young women undertaken, an expenditure of more than $75,000 will be necessary. This will mean over $14,000 more than the amount contributed this year. Can it be done? We leave the answer with those who have the interests of this department at heart and who may we depended upon "to give as the Lord has prospered them."

The following detailed reports justify the liberal support granted and should be read with interest by those who have made such institutions possible.

INDIA.

Good Samaritan Hospital, Jhelum, Dr. P. J. Simpson in charge.

The efficiency of the hospital has been greatly enhanced by the erection of the surgical ward, so generously provided by the missionaries of India, who wished to commemorate the memory of their friend and former associate, Dr. Sophia Johnson, in a permanent form. Faithful ministrations to the women and children of that district have been carried on throughout the year by Dr. Simpson and her assistants. Hitherto about one third of the expenses of the hospital has been met by the English military and civil officials located in Jhelum; many of whom have manifested a deep interest in the beneficent agency of the medical work.

Because of the removal of the military to another station the estimates for the coming year have been increased. In a very interesting letter commendatory of missionary work in general we find the following statement written by one of the government officials. It reads:

"I do not think I am maligning the government institutions when I say that it is common knowledge that the people receive at mission hospitals a degree of sympathetic treatment which is rarely met with in government hospitals and dispensaries. This applies especially to women patients." Thus we have intelligent outside testimony to the efficient services of our workers in Jhelum. The number of indoor patients has increased rapidly and the opportunity for evangelistic effort among these has never been neglected.

The dispensary at Bhera under the direction of Dr. Simpson has been well cared for by Miss Aldridge, who succeeded Miss James, who gave valuable service in this field for many years, but who resigned last January.

Memorial Hospital, Sialkot, Dr. Maria White in charge.

ASSISTANTS.

Superintendent Evangelistic work Miss Emma Minger; Superintendent Indoor department since November, Miss Flora G. Smith; Hospital assistant, Miss Miriam Nasir; compounder, Bhagan Hira; Bible woman since August, Mrs. Hiazer; Bible woman till October, Sakina Negam Diu; nurses, Kissie, Maryam, Margret, Mrs. Spence; matron, Mrs. Isaac.

The year 1905 has been marked for definite answer to prayer. Never has my heart been so full of thanksgiving to God. Sometimes I can hardly realize that I am the human director of the Memorial Hospital, God so fully does it for me. Difficulties have occurred, some most trying; but our Heavenly Father kept His loving care over us, and set our feet on a rock.

The first answer to prayer came in February. The Mission had ordered me to erect a new building and take in tubercular patients and orphan infants. I asked God if this work was of His direction, to send me a certain amount of money for the building as His seal on the work. The Mission asked the Woman's Board as the regular channel, but before it had taken any action the Holy Spirit put it into the heart of Miss Mary Boyle, of the Eighth Church, Allegheny, Pa., who was called to her Heavenly home, to leave to the hospital by will the exact sum I had asked God for. Praise His Holy name! How such assurance lightens the labors and gladdens the heart. She knew nothing of the needs of the building and could only have been guided by God.

In August a meeting was held in the Christian Training Institute for the deepening of the spiritual life in our own hearts and in the hearts of our native Christians. God's Holy Spirit came in great power in their midst, but as the work was heavy, both myself and native assistants were largely hindered from attending and we lost much of the blessing. While thinking and praying over this God said to me, "Open meeting at the hospital and I will bless you here." It was done and the blessing came. During these meetings the spirit directed that the land bought for the new buildings should be offered to the district missionary for special open air meetings. This was also done and the American and Scotch missionaries with their native pastors joined and a large and attentive audience of all classes and castes, often high up in the hundreds, was the result. The work was heavy and physical strength seemed almost exhausted. Many prayers had ascended to the Heavenly Father for a competent assistant for the indoor department, and faith had not been rewarded, when one morning came a letter with these words: "Do you still need help? If so, may I come?" from one, who after serving sixteen years as a missionary had been for five years at the head of a Y. W. C. A. I wrote come and in less than a week she was with me.

While I record with thanksgiving answered prayers, the year has also been marked with many trials and discouragements; tears have been shed, and the body has many times been weary to exhaustion. The attendance both out and in has been larger than any previous year. The extreme cold of January and February produced much sickness and the hospital wards were crowded with serious cases; at one time five cases of pneumonia and two of pleurisy in different stages of the disease, requiring most careful attention. At no time were there less than from twenty to twenty-five patients, and two of the rooms of our own house were filled with missionaries and their children. The matron had left the first of December and was not replaced for six months, and Miss Minger went to the District the middle of January, and alone with my native helpers I took up the full burden of the work day and night, thinking, praying, feeding, prescribing, administering, nursing, teaching, and directing the teaching till it seemed that human strength could not endure longer. The heavier stroke fell in April when, facing the hot season and the heaviest work of the year, the Mission, at the suggestion of two or three of the ladies, ordered Miss Minger to Zafarwal for the summer. I laid aside my usual precautions in choosing help and accepted as matron an English woman of whom I could learn but little. In July the Hospital assistant's health failed and she had to take two and one-half months leave and all the dispensary work fell on me.

Looking back over the year with all its trials, each of which brought me closer to the foot of the cross and the glorious answers to prayers, I can with a full heart praise God for a year crowned with His goodness.

The attendance has been greater than ever before. The indoor department shows a daily average of 27, with an admission of 375 new cases. There has been a greater degree of contentment and willingness to listen to the Gospel and to remain till dismissed. Of this number we have only six deaths to record. Of the full number 300 went away cured. There were 27 births in the hospital, but the record of last year was reversed as 24 were girls against 29 boys of last year.

The tubercular department now has five inmates mostly from the Girls' Industrial Home. The babies ward is the most interesting department. Five little tots, three our own and two the son and daughter of Rev. Barkat Masih. Baby Annie Herron, our little three months darling, is both bright and pretty.

The out-door has also exceeded last year having treated 9412 new cases with an aggregate of 28,325, due to a requirement of the India government to ascertain the number of different diseases for some two or three months. Any patients suffering with two diseases absolutely non-dependent on the other both diseases were entered and it was astonishing how few there were that were not either se quels or complications less than ½ of 1 per cent. of the whole.

Miss Minger carried with her in the district medicines for those needing relief. She reports 357 treated. The Evangelistic work, both in the indoor and dispensary, was faithfully carried on, the report of which will be given by Miss Minger. Four names of last year must now be dropped from our report. The matron Mrs. Massey, who had done faithful work for five years, left in December 1904, to join her husband who had other service. Sakina, the Indoor and Dispensary Bible woman, was married in October and has gone to live in the Christian village of Martinpur. Mrs. Spence resigned and left the first of September, and Maryam Khuda Bakhsh in November.

Pasrur has kept steadily on, gaining a little over last year. The workers have been faithful and there have been 2,566 new cases treated, with an aggregate of 8796. The Bible has been carefully taught, but Pasrur is one of the most bigoted towns, not only walled with brick, but also walled by Mohammedan prejudices, which are hard to break through. The workers with medicine and the Bible visited a number of villages and treated 251 in their homes. But some villages refused to receive them, as the people had become so alarmed at the plague doctor, who had his headquarters at Pasrur for several years. They charged him with taking plague to them and suspected my workers to be his agents for the same purpose. Most of the villages, however, received them gladly and accepted both the physical and spiritual help.

Summing the year up and endeavoring to count the blessings which were more in number than the hair of my head, I can only close this report as I began it, with songs of joy and thanksgiving.

MARIA WHITE, M. D.

Evangelistic Work, Miss Emma Minger in charge.

There are many blessings for which we have praised God during the months of the past year, and we are still praising Him for His great goodness unto us.

He has blessed the Word unto many in the Hospital and Dispensary. Many have come to us only once or twice perhaps, but have not gone away without hearing the message; others have come often, sometimes continuing to come for weeks and months, and it has been such a pleasure to note that some who were perhaps careless at first have gotten to listen with real interest and pleasure, and we dare to hope that in some of these hearts the seed which has been sown will bring forth fruit unto eternal life; for some of them really seem hungering and thirsting. But oh! there are so many who come carelessly and are unmindful of anything but physical relief. On the whole there seems to be more interest and less opposition. A good Bible woman has helped us in the hospital and city teaching. Sabina, the dispensary Bible woman, was married and went to a home of her own; so this left the new teacher alone, and as she was not well acquainted in the city, there was not much done in the way of visiting for a time. But since Annual Meeting many new homes have been opened by visiting those who came to us and who desired further teaching. The Medical work is a splendid "home and heart opener," for every one seems to feel kindly toward it. Out in the city new houses are constantly opening to us. For usually when we come from the Zenana Hospital below to the Fort; as our Hospital is often called in the city, they want us to come to their house too. Their object may be to have us see some one who is sick and find out whether anything can be done for them. We satisfy their questionings as well as we can, and advise going to the hospital for treatment and in many cases the advice is taken with good results. After telling them a bit more about our work we lead them to the gospel message of the Great Physician.

The days of the Sialkot Convention brought blessing to us as we told the listening women of what God was doing for His people, not only here but in other places all over India. They seemed to realize as never before that what we had been telling and teaching them concerning Christ and Christianity was true, and that Christ alone can bring the true joy into the hearts of those who accept Him as Lord and Saviour.

During the meetings held in October, just across from the Hospital, the patients also showed great interest, and those who were able, both Hindoos and Mohammedans, attended the meetings daily. It was a grand opportunity for them, for the Word was proclaimed there with wonderful plainness and power during those days.

When it comes to a personal application of the lesson—when we say, "Why do YOU not accept it?" they say, "It is not for us." How we wish that they might realize speedily that it IS for them and that they might accept Him.

We are praying, very especially during these days, that this same wonder-working Spirit of God, who is doing such great work in this land in these days, may speedily break down this great caste barrier which is keeping so many from confessing faith in Christ. We believe that He who hears will also answer this prayer as He has answered so many others.

District work in Khangah Dogran, Miss Mary Logan in charge.

During the camping season, we visited the villages where there are Christians and some of the centers were visited twice. At a few places, we found the Cristians had not made progress during the year; some even seemed to have gone back. But I am thankful to say such as these have been very much the exception. Almost everywhere we have found steady growth and at some places very marked progress in spirituality and earnestness, and also in understanding. At one village where for several years we have been grieved by the indifference and worldly-minded-ness of the Christians, we found real earnestness and had one of the best Sabbath services we had anywhere in the district.

At another place where there are no baptized people, but who have for some times regarded themselves as inquirers, we found a marked difference since last year. When we were there a year ago, the women refused to leave their work and sit and listen, and we feared that they had completely gone back to the old life of idolatry. This year, we were received with joy and they repeated to us the commandments, verses and Psalms they had learned from the catechist, and also told a good deal of the story of our Lord's life. On the Sabbath they walked several miles to our camp where the service was held, and brought their collection, a few handfuls of wheat or corn, with them. I mention these two villages, for they may be taken as fairly representative of our district work among the Christians and inquirers this year.

As is our custom, we visited in the heathen quarters of the villages and towns where there are Christians. We also visited 38 villages where we have never gone before. Many of the women whom we met had never seen a white woman, and most had not for the first time heard the Gospel message. The surprise and almost incredulity with which some of them heard the new, new story was touching to see.

It is wonderful that God should have so loved this sinful world as to redeem it, and why we who have so long known and who have almost grown to regard it as our right, have ceased to wonder or be surprised. One woman said: "Miss-Sahiba, we are unlearned and no one has told us of these things and how were we to know?" I replied, "True, you could not know and the responsibility was ours until we told you, but now it has become yours." At some villages, they told pitiful stories of almost whole families having been taken away by plague during the past year. The wife of the head man of one of the villages had wept herself blind because of the death of her sons. We do not wonder when we remember that her sorrow was the sorrow of those without hope.

District Evangelistic Work, Sialkot, Miss Fannie Martin in charge.

The work among the village women grows more interesting every year. Especially is this true of the past year. We find a greater spirit of inquiry than ever before. We have often asked ourselves, during the year, "if the revival that has come to many places in this land will each to the poor, ignorant village people. But with the experience of the past few months we are ready to say, Yes it is even now at their door.

During the year I have met with the Christians in one hundred and eleven different villages, and sixty-three villages where as yet there are no Christians. In these we were well received and we felt the Word was received by many. During the summer I visited regularly in a number of villages near Sialkot. The progress some of the Christian women made in the course of studies is very encouraging.

There has nothing given me more joy than to see the way the people have laid hold on the Psalms. In one village during our meeting the people asked for one Psalm after another to be sung until we had sung ten numbers, each one seeming to bring new joy and light. We then went to another village about a mile distant,

To our surprise every Christian woman from the first village had followed us. I expressed some surprise and their answer was, "We have come to sing the remainder of the Psalms." Singing is a starting point to a greater knowledge of the Word of God. among the Punjabi people.

Zenana Work.

Zenana work in Sialkot has been carried on as usual largely by the one old faithful Bible woman, Mary Anna. She has taught in over 400 Hindu and Mohammedan homes. She is not only faithful in her visits to these homes, but in giving to these shut-in women the true message of eternal life.

During the summer months while in Sialkot I carried on the Zenana work in connection with the school, visiting in the homes of the girls. I have found some of these homes where the Gospel has been gladly received and an interest shown to learn more of it. In not a few homes do I find the mark of the school. The 51st Psalm has found its way to many of these poor shut-in women.

In connection with our congregation in Sialkot we have our Woman's Missionary Society, which holds its meeting monthly. The meetings are fairly well attended and a good interest taken by those members who can read.

Girls' School.

This school for Mohammedan and Hindu girls has had a very happy year. During the summer months I spent the first hour and a half of the day in the school giving the Bible lessons. I have never enjoyed any work more than among these bright little girls. The love and tact that is shown by the head teacher, Miss Shahbaz, cannot but make a lasting impression on these young lives. I found the work here a stimulant for the remainder of the day's work in the homes. We have had an enrollment of seventy-five with an average attendance of sixty.

About three months ago a Mohammedan boy who had been a servant for the school for several years was baptized. We thought perhaps this would effect the attendance in the school for a time, but rather it gave to the women of the city an excuse to come to the school to inquire if all they were hearing was true; for they were keen to know how he became a Christian and to know all there was to be known about it. The power of God has been revealed to many through the life of this young convert. And I can praise God for the blessing brought to this school through this one who was led and made a public confession.

Zenana Work in Gurdaspur and District.

The MISSES WILSON in charge

We would begin our report with a note of praise and thanksigving for all that the Lord has done for us, and our people during the past year. We have had a season of refreshing from the Lord, and many evidences of the spirit's working in our midst. One of our best workers, himself a licentiate, (with his wife) has taken up self-supportand he has had more blessing on his work than all of the other workers. Our time has been more taken up than formerly, teaching the Christians and enquirers. There were 622 baptisms in our district during the year, and during the first month, nearly 400 more were brought into our church, so that our Gurdaspur District Christians now number over 2200, and are scattered in 70 villages. There are 14 of these within five miles of Gurdaspur, that we can visit and work in during the summer, and the others we visit during the camping season. We held a Sabbath-school weekly in two of them for four months this summer, and we could see much progress in those we visit regularly.

The plague this year has slain thousands in our district, as elsewhere. It was very bad during the winter months. In February we were encamped at a village where it had been very bad. A farmer's wife of the Sikh religion told us very sadly, "I have recently lost my two grown sons by plague within eight days, and I am now all alone in this big house and court; I pray God to take me also." We told her she ought first to pray for fitness for death, and then told her the story of Job which seemed to comfort her much, and she came frequently to our tent, or went with us to other houses to hear more instruction.

Gurdaspur and some other towns and villages have been visited three and four times with plague, and there are very few in the whole district that has not been visited by it. Another Sikh woman in another village has been bereaved of all her large family, but two little children. She told us with a breaking heart that from her door and a neighbor's in the same court, eleven bodies had been carried out in four days. How could she help thinking God had dealt hardly with her, and nearly cry her eyes out? We tried to comfort her but in vain, not one bright ray of hope could she see in the future. How different it seemed when in the same village we offered consolation to a poor Christian woman who within three days had lost her husband and three children. Although she had not fully recovered from the effects of the plague herslf, she takes up life's burdens with a faith born of hope, although she must work hard for a living. She told me, when her husband was carried out she was unconscious, and they were all so ill at once that she held her babe on her lap and with one hand poured water into its mouth and she knew not what she was doing. When we tell the heathen women of the Christian's hope of meeting their loved ones in heaven, they reply, "Meet! Where shall we meet our friends again and how?" in such a sad way. In one village we found their cattle dying of the plague, and instead of using proper medicine to cure them, they had called a fakir, who tied a lot of leaves on a string and stretched it across a road and made the cattle pass under it, and read some mantars. We told them they ought to use medicine instead and ask God to make their cattle well. They frequently ask us, "Why does not the plague leave our country?" We tell them we think it is because they do not repent of your sins, and there are two special sins this land must repent of, idolatry and rejection of Jesus Christ as Saviour. Then I told them how God spared Ninevah when that city repented.

Many are thinking seriously and offer less opposition to God's Word, and many among the upper classes are inquiring "the way of God more perfectly." One of the older workers who had been a co-laborer with us for these twenty years, has recently frequently remarked at the great change that has of late years come over the people, and how respectfully and quietly they hear God's Word in the villages where we could not get a hearing before. We believe God's Spirit is at work breaking down unbelief, prejudices and superstitions and he with us expects to see many of the higher classes pressing into the kingdom before ten years. It is the burden of many hearts in India that God would fill us and our Indian fellow-workers with His Holy Spirit, and pour out His Spirit upon the native church, purifying and strengthening her, and t rough her convict the Indian world of sin, righteousness and judgment. Will you not unite with us in this prayer?

Idolatry and caste have a remarkable hold on the hearts of these people and die hard. We met some Aryan women who boasted that they had left off all idol worship, even that of the Brahman and the cow. Few of Gooroo Nanar's followers will acknowledge that worshiping idols is right, though they still do it.

Some of the low caste people still hold up strongly for their idols, but it is remarkable how many of these people are breaking down their idol altars and asking to be taught how to serve Jesus. Many yet put confidence in charms or threads blessed by some priest, more than medicine when they are ill, and the evil eye or the "shadow" is much dreaded. In one sweeper woman's house we were not permitted by an old grandmother to enter, lest our shadow falling on her young grandchild might cut its life short. She had lost her husband and son last year, and attributed it to the "shadow of some enemy falling on them."

Several caste women have said to us, (half jokingly of course) "Take me along with you; your teaching has captivated my heart." We tell them, "Come along," but they make no move to come as yet. We still manage to reach many of these non-Christians in hours and at times when we are at leisure from the Christians. We must have reached some 5000 in this way in 1905. Yet because of the increasing number of Christians, they will have soon to seek us instead of us them. An instance of the foolish idea about the "shadow" was when a young woman who had recently lost her babe, was not permitted to come and sit with some of her sister inquirers, until they got up and stood to one side and she had got seated, then they sat down. Poor thing, she was so distressed! She said, "Not only the women but men run from me, if I go."

The young Mohammedan woman and children who were baptized last July about two months after her husband, is doing well. Her two older children, a boy and girl, are attending the village school. She had read the Koran and takes up the Urdu readily, and is now learning to read. It is easy to teach one who is so intelligent They are living alone in their old village where they must daily testify for Christ.

We have been praying that a teacher's wife whose husband was baptized about two years ago might also come out and confess Christ and bring her three little girls with her. As yet we have very little encouragement, as her mother is so bitterly opposed to it, and has a very bad influence over her. But with God all things are possible and we would ask you to unite with us that these souls may also be won to Christ. Pray much for us and this district, for more laborers, to gather in and care for the harvest, and for great wisdom, grace and strength for those who are sheperding these Christians.

Sialkot Girls School.

Many years ago a boarding school for the daughters of the native Christians in our India mission was started at Sialkot. The purpose of the school was to get hold of the girls in the Christian homes and train them for future usefulness in the church in India. Too often a Christian worker or teacher has a wife who cannot read and the influence she might have on the village women is lost. We need to educate the girls if our Indian ministers and teachers are to have educated wives, and if we are not to have trained teachers in the village Girls' school we hope to have in the future.

In the report of the school for 1886, twenty years ago, there were thirty girls enrolled . The missionary in charge was responsible for zenana work done in the city as well as having charge of the school. Now two missionaries give their full time to the work and they are ably assisted by Miss Qut-bud-Din, the Normal teacher, and Miss Ingalls, head teacher, both of whom are Indian Christian girls who have been trained in the Alexander Girls' Normal and high school of the C. M. S. Mission. A language teacher, a writing teacher and a sewing teacher are men. In the higher schools for girls in India the Urdu language is not made the specialty that it should be; so some man who has studied Persian and Arabic is employed, as the Urdu is made up of these two languages and Hindu. The writing teacher is a specialist and buys the supplies for the school; and the sewing teacher the cloth, thread, etc. As the tailors of India are men they are the best sewing teachers. Two other teachers give their whole time to teaching. These are girls who have been trained in the school and hold Normal certificates from the government.

The rest of the teaching is done by the girls in the Normal department of the school. The pupils have regular instruction in the Bible course established by the mission and in the secular branches according to the government code. They have good domestic training as well. The classes have each one a regular sewing period every day and the girls make all their own clothing.

In order to give the girls a more practical domestic training, the school was divided into family groups and the girls live in these little groups. They sleep, cook and eat separately. Each family is in charge of one older girl and two assistants, who being older, oversee the work of all under the direction of themissionary. The work follows a regular rotation and each girl's work changes every Monday morning., so that each one has training in every branch of housework. The girls wear the dress of the villagers and cook their food in native style. Everything foreign is discouraged, for the idea is not to break the sympathy between these girls and their village people and homes.

Students enter when seven years old and many of them remain for ten years, and even longer if they take the Normal course. They are in school for ten months of the year and spend two months in their own homes. Sometimes when they return after vacation they are able to tell of some work that they have done for Christ in their villages while at home. Miss M. R. Martin and Miss F. J. Jamison are in charge. Miss Jameson gives the following report:

Report of Miss J. F. Jameson.

At the beginning of the past year there were 127 boarders in the Sialkot Girls' School; largest number at one time during the year, 148 The work done in the school has been very satisfactory, this being shown by the results when Miss Francis, the Inspectress, came to examine the school. She was much pleased with the work. The results in the Bible examination were good, but small in number. The spiritual condition is high. Many of the girls have advanced wonderfully, while many are still careless and even naughty. May we not be more in prayer that all may be led of the Spirit.

The Sabbath-school work is about the same. A worker in Lyallpur is still supported, or partly supported, by their offerings. The girls are much interested in the Christian Endeavor meetings, and several of them comprehend that they can really serve in these prayer-meetings. Besides the Sabbath-school and Christian Endeavor meetings, they have their regular meetings for prayer, morning and evening. One of the things which makes us glad is to see individual girls going off to some secluded corner for a time of quiet communion with the Father before retiring. It is hard for them to have these quiet seasons when so many girls are in so small a space.

Additions have been made to the buildings, and the plan of having the girls in families is a good one. No regular matron is in the school, but the work during the past year, with the help of two young helpers has been carried on most satisfactorily.

During the year, the girls have seen their little playmate laid away—a little famine orphan who was not able to overcome an attack of pneumonia. She was not permitted to remain here many years, but saving her from famine was not in vain, because her perfect confidence was in Jesus. One of the teachers, Nasibau, was sent to Zafarwal, thinking a change of place and lighter work might be a benefit, as she did not seem at all well. We were so shocked to hear, after a week or two, the news of her death. The Father had called her to her reward.

We have had mumps in school, but the general health has been good. The Father has watched over His flock here, and may we not expect Him to do even greater things for us in the days to come? May we not have your prayers that these girls may grow up to serve Him;?

EGYPT.

MARTHA J. McKOWN HOSPITAL, TANTA.

Lulu W. Harvey Superintendent. Drs. Watson, Lawrence and Drake in charge.

Physicians, 2; nurses (foreign 3, native 1), 4; number of patients in hospital, 201; number of operations in hospital, 61; obstetrical cases, 8; Mohammedans, 135; Protestants, 34; Copts, 17; Catholics, 15; number of villages represented, 45.

"The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad." Our hopes and expectations have been more than realized in the number of patients. We had thought to double them, but instead they have more than tripled in the year.

There have been quite a number of very interesting cases from a medical and surgical standpoint. One of these was a Moslem charity case who came in with necrosis of the bone. She was with us two months, during which time she showed great interest in the daily Bible instruction. She returned to her home happy and apparently well. Word came to us some months afterwards that she was again very ill. Her father said he was afraid to bring her on the train, lest she would be taken for a plague patient. Dr. Watson and Miss McMillen went to see her. They found her very ill with a raging fever. The end was not far off. Her surroundings were pitiful. She was unable to talk much; but listened attentively as Miss McMillen read and prayed with her. She kissed their hands and thanked them over and over again for coming to see her. Another service was held just outside the house, at the door, to which twenty or more came to listen. An uncle of the patient asked to borrow the Book that had given so much comfort to the suffering one. The brother of the sick one told how his sister had related to them the Bible stories she had learned while in the hospital. "On hill-top sown a little corn."

We were not a little amused, as well as interested, in a case of tetanus (lockjaw). The husband was surprised that his wife's condition was serious, and insisted that it was only necessary for us to pry her mouth open with an instrument. When told that her recovery was doubtful and that a stay in the hospital was necessary, he hesitated to pay out money for the purpose of restoring the function of a woman's jaw. Nevertheless, he rejoiced with us in her recovery.

The patients are entered and discharged. Daily the Bible teaching goes on. We often wish for greater tangible results of our evangelistic work. An encouraging incident came to us yesterday. A patient who had been in the hospital some weeks returned home. She was pleased with the teaching she had received in the hospital, but there was no one in her town who could instruct her. She sent for the evangelist of a neighboring town to come and teach her in the Bible.

Tanta Clinic and Out-practice.

Number of visits to clinic, 6,868; number of visits to houses, 487; number of visits to villages, 86; number of obstetrical cases, 23; number of operations in clinic, 143.

Religions—Moslems, 92 per cent.; Copts, 5½ per cent.; Catholics, 2 per cent.; Protestants, ½ per cent.

The Tanta clinic draws largely from the surrounding country, more than a hundred different villages being represented this year. We have also received more calls to go to villages than in any previous year. This widens our circle of influence and has been the means of drawing patients to the hospital.

We oft-times regret that many remain at home until eyesight is entirely gone, or disease has made such progress that nothing can be done. On the other hand, we know that hundreds have been benefited and that they, in turn, have returned home to tell others of "the American women who treat the sick kindly and always tell the truth." We count it a privilege to have had the opportunity of ministering to so many from widely scattered places. You will note that ninety-two per cent of the clinic patients are Moslems, which illustrates better than words can do the opportunity presented by medical work to preach the gospel among the self-satisfied and bigoted followers of the false prophet.

A call came from one of the poorer sections of town. A poor Moslem woman was found lying on a straw mat. It was evident from the first visit that nothing could be done other than relieve suffering. She lived some weeks, and was visited and carefully taught. The day before her death, she said to Miss McMillen, "I believe in Jesus and have asked him to forgive my sins." The other women in the house and the neighbors have been interested listeners as Miss McMillen has since visited and read with them.

It is ours to labor and sow the seed. It is yours to bear the work before the Master in continued and united prayer. The harvest-time will then surely come.

In addition to the report given, an interesting item has come through the Egyptian Gazette, in an article written by an attorney in Cairo who visited the hospital in the interests of a client who was a patient there. He was so pleased and surprised at the excellent facilities, capable management, and skillful services found in our medical work that he wrote an expression of his appreciation of the work and ended with an appeal to the people for financial help.

Dr. Watson, in a private letter, gives 48 beds as the capacity of the hospital.

Ten of these are endowed at a cost of $1,000 each. It is the hope of the Board that many more friends will be interested in this permanent provision for the hospital and invest in a bed. The last endowment was from that well-known friend of missions, Mrs. Mary Jackson, of Philadelphia, Pa., who has given $1,000 through the thank-offering in memory of her sister, Miss Margaret Louise Dales.

Dr. Watson and her associates feel the burden of their growing work and, like true disciples of the great Physician, have asked that the members of the W. G. M. S. unite with them in very definite prayer for the medical work in Tanta, that the spiritual blessing so greatly needed may come to all who find physical relief under the care of our physicians. Saturday evening is the time suggested when we may meet by way of the throne for such petitions. Thousands are being reached in this district, many of whom are reading the Word and the religious tracts given them by our workers, and especially for them should we pray.

HARIM REPORT, 1905.

"God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness hath shined in some hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." Such is the record that has gone on high concerning the work that has been done for the Master among the women of Egypt the past year.

The light has entered many miserable hovels, pathetic for their very barrenness of almost everything we consider essential to comfort. The hearts it has found within have been just as dark as their surroundings and the lives just as barren of all that is helpful and uplifting. And again it has shined into the homes of those in more favored circumstances, to find them in just as great need of its life-giving light.

Day by day the Bible teacher or the missionary has made her rounds, and, whether seated in a comfortable home or on a piece of sacking spread on the earthen floor, or on the black covering that one of the women has taken off herself and spread for her on the doorstep, she has read to those who gathered about her from that and neighboring houses, and often from the street, the old, old story of Jesus and his love, and her heart has been cheered as she has heard them exclaim, "Your words are sweet." She has won their hearts, too, as she has patiently listened to their troubles and sympathized with them in their sorrows.

Miss Thompson, who has been privileged to visit some of the villages from the Nile boat, in referring to the women, says: "They are not neglected." She describes one of the meetings as follows: "In Abadieb, Sultan Pasha the pastor and I went across the river to see the church-members who live in one village. The meeting was in the house of the oldest member, and soon a nice company of twenty or more people collected reverently, and the pastor had a short service, asking me to say something before he closed and to lead in prayer. One woman could read nicely—one who, while in sorrow over the loss of children, learned where to receive comfort. I thought of the many homes there are up and down this valley where there are women who can read and who can pray and who speak of Christ to their neighbors and tell them to come to him. There are also notable instances of other women who cannot read the Bible, but who have the love of God in their hearts and are a blessing with their efforts and prayers." Miss Thompson also says that "The village women are an example to their city sisters in attending church services, forenoon and afternoon and at night as well."

Assouan.

Concerning the work in Assouan, Mr. Ibrahim Moosa writes: "We have one Bible woman here who teaches about forty women. A special meeting has been held for them each week, and five or six have united with the church during the year."

Luxor.

From Luxor, Mrs. Pollock writes: "Thankful mention can be made of the work of our three faithful Bible women. The one who has labored longest undergoes the most severe trials. With a family of five besides herself to support, she works unceasingly. The meager five dollars cannot supply them with proper food and clothing; but, with true motherly spirit, the others are cared for first. With the little that remains she nourishes and clothes her own frail body and, with a year-old baby on her arm, goes to carry light to others. Her work is among the most simple, ignorant Copts of Luxor. They all love and respect her. Always smiling and patient, she can teach us all lessons. Each week more than fifty souls come under the influence of this blessed life. The other two Bible women have been educated in the Pressley Memorial Institute. Their work is chiefly among the higher-class Coptic women, wives of clerks and shop-keepers, and grown-up daughters whose early education has been neglected. Together they visit forty-two homes, twice one week and three times the next week, often having several pupils in one house. They both show much wisdom in dealing with these often critical and fault-finding ones. When opportunity affords, they charge a few piastres monthly, which causes the pupil to appreciate her lesson more. At our last communion, two of Belsam's pupils united with the church. The mother of one opposed her uniting with the Protestants, but, before the Bible woman and myself, the daughter answered kindly yet firmly that she would not be a Copt. The gospel brought to her by a Protestant had changed her life and given her something to live for and she wanted to be in a position to show her gratitude to her Redeemer.

"With the Bible women as mediator, the pastor and I held three prayer-meetings in Coptic homes in different quarters of the city. At apparently the most fruitful one, eleven Coptic neighbor women came. When speaking to the pastor, each kept her face all covered except one eye, but as they became more interested in the explanation of gospel passages they forgot their coverings. At the end of the meeting their whole faces were exposed, and as they stretched out their hands to bid us good-by they expressed their gratitude over and over again and begged us to come back and hold another meeting, which sickness has prevented. However, several of the eleven now come regularly to our meetings each Thursday, when the pastor holds a women's prayer-meeting. Each Friday we have a Young Ladies' Bible Study class, followed by a sewing meeting. Both have very good attendance, and an encouraging feature is that seven of the Coptic girls who attend the meeting now come regularly to Sabbath school. In fact, each Sabbath the harim work is in evidence, when we see nearly twice as many women as men at the two services morning and evening. The communicants, also, are in the same proportion. We are not blind to the hindrances and discouragements that come in our way, yet, with even our weak faith, the future of Egypt looks bright."

Of the work in Koos, Rev. Farah Bucktor writes: "We have no Bible woman here. Two meetings a week are held for women, which are attended by from forty to sixty women."

From Bahgura, Mr. Yuseph Kiddese reports a woman's prayer-meetings held weekly, with an average attendance of twelve.

Ekhmeem reports one Bible woman at work, but the pastor, Rev. Abd es Shaheed, says that the work is not encouraging, and he would be glad if a lady missionary could help them.

Rev. Butrus Hanna, of Souhag, also reports a Bible woman, but is discouraged over the work.

From Tima and Mushta, the pastor, Rev. Beshy, writes: "We have no Bible woman in this district, though the work is important and the field large, so that we need not only one, but many."

From Zerabbi, we have the glad news of a real missionary society organized among the women. The pastor, Rev. Gabriel Michael, writes: "During the year 1905 we organized a Woman's Missionary Society. It is small and only in its beginning, but it has twenty members, and all of them preach in the name of Christ every week, and they reach 200 or more in this way. They improve the opportunity at funerals to read and pray. A gratifying result of their work is a larger attendance at the Sabbath morning services."

Rev. Benjamin Fam, from Abutig, writes that a large number of women attend the morning service. About 25 are taught by the Bible teacher, and about 90 by the pastor in his visits to their homes. Five have united with the church the past year.

Asyut.

Miss Rena Hogg writes from Asyut: "In looking back over the past year, two occurrences immediately fix themselves on one's attention as distinct from those that preceded them. During the earlier months of the summer a wave of special interest and earnestness seemed to pass over the community, which affected the women's work as it did other branches of effort. Women began to attend church and prayer-meeting. Those who had long been impervious to all appeal were usually called for by the more zealous members. For about three months the attendance at the woman's meeting on Thursday morning ranged from sixty to eighty. Part of that time a few of them gathered, also, on Sabbath mornings before church to pray for a blessing on the pastor and his work. The interest, so welcome and hope-inspiring, waned again, but while it was at its height a forward step was taken by the congregation towards more aggressive work in the southern part of town. Among other things, they appointed a blind young man who had received several years' training in Asyut College to devote his time to house visitation. His work is not exactly that of the Bible woman, his visits being more occasional, his influence less intimate, but unembarrassed by side issues and more entirely consecrated to the preaching of the Word. He is specially acceptable at public mournings, where he secures a quiet hearing with as little opposition as a missionary. His weekly average of hearers has been 164, and he finds himself perplexed by the problem of conflicting claims, the multitude of open doors."

The other occurrence is one of the many signs of the success of that secondary and illusive work of the mission, its leavening influence amongst those who never join its ranks and never appear in its statistics. In the end of May an urgent, almost imperious, call came from some of the Copts of Girgeh for the loan of a Bible woman. They had appealed to their own church in vain; it had no one to send, and now they came to us. The occasion was the death of a daughter in one of the wealthy families under circumstances that added a keen severity to the blow. The mother had given herself up to the most violent and extravagant grief, and those familiar with the wild confusion of the first days of a mourning in a bigoted and conservative Coptic harem can fully sympathize with the urgency of the appeal of the men of the house for help. A friend of the family who was visiting in Asyut was ordered to remain until the demand was supplied, and telegrams followed each other in rapid succession reiterating the plea and offering all the help that money could give to wipe away difficulties.

At last a blind Bible woman was found willing to undertake the quest. She set out with many misgivings into the untried and unknown. Her welcome was all that could have been desired. From the first she won a respectful hearing from the crowd that thronged the house, and so great was her influence over the mother and relatives that they almost immediately modified their customs to the extent of having only two formal weepings in the day and none on Sabbaths—an innovation undreamed of in Girgeh, which is proverbial for the cruelty of its mourning customs.

Every day she read and taught and prayed with the family alone and with those who gathered to weep, and when death entered another influential house in the neighborhood she was borrowed by they to do the same work of mercy. The agreement had been that she was to be lent to Girgeh for two weeks, but she was retained two months and relinquished then only when it became aparent that she herself was hungering for her home and friends. The results of her work cannot be estimated. She is a worker of much force, intelligence, and piety, and scores of those who listened to her simple, earnest preaching had never before heard of Christ and his salvation in such a way that his message could reach their understanding and their hearts. In Asyut 7 Bible teachers at at work; 480 have been taught by them during the year.

Quite an interest is manifested by the women of Mellaway. The pastor, Rev. Shahata Amada, writes that two meetings a week are held for women, one of which he conducts himself and the other is conducted by the women themselves.

In Fechu the pastor is encouraged because the women are attending the night meetings and are learning the Psalms and singing them.

Rev. Shenudeh Hannah, of Senoris, says of the women there: "Some of them show an interest in the salvation of others and try to teach them themselves or get them to come to meetings. About 95 women are taught the gospel message by the Bible teacher. At their weekly meetings many of the women lead in prayer, and their prayers show earnestness, sincerity, and spirituality."

Miss Martin, from Medinet el Fayoom, writes: "The work here is still in its infancy. We are just entering upon our second year of work. We have a very earnest and faithful Bible worker, and her pupils are making fair advancement. A number of small prayer-meetings are held at different homes of our church-members, at which a number of other women have been reached. Perhaps in no way has the work told for more than in the increased attendance at both prayer-meeting and church services, the attendance at both being larger and more regular."

Several features of the work are encouraging; perhaps nothing so delights our hearts as the fact that some of the women are learning to pray. One of the girls who has just graduated is very anxious, she says, to go with her to villages.

Miss Thompson, from Cairo.

Five hundred and three women have been under regular instruction in the four districts,—Esbekieh, Feggalla, Boulac, and Shoubra,—126 of whom are able to read; 122 were members of our church; 104 Mohammedans, and a few Syrians; but the largest number were Copts, women of some of the best families down to those who live in huts. Of the nine Bible women under her instruction, she says there are several of these who go about comforting the mourners, praying for those in sickness, reconciling those that are at variance, and all of them are trying to bring the gospel of Christ to their pupils. Two of the women united with the church during the year, and at least two others are thinking about it. The interest in religious things has never been so great, and the willingness of the women to have meetings in their houses is very encouraging. Some of the Bible women have shown more of a yearning for souls and for love and good-will among men than ever before. One of these was rewarded by being invited by two wealthy families to the seaside for a holiday in summer, and she spent the time reading to them or visiting those who needed to hear. She does not teach reading at all, but spends her time reading or praying with them. The tendency now among the teachers is not to weary those who have no ability to learn to read, but to spend more time in teaching gospel truths. One Bible woman gave a man a Bible, but for some time he did not care much to read it; but, through the remark of a friend, he took great interest in it and read it through in two months.

Miss Bukhtea says that in the district of the huts the women are so glad of her weekly visits she feels she cannot pass any house, no matter how tired she may be from reading and discussions. A Moslem said, one day, "Come and moisten our hearts with the words of our Master." Recently another man asked her why she was going about teaching them to make Christians of them. After a very long argument, in which she showed a good deal of grace and skill, he said, "Keep on reading to them; we will lose nothing as you teach them to be obedient to their husbands and not to quarrel or to speak bad words." This Bible woman has two prayer-meetings weekly, conducted by herself, with an average attendance of fifteen at each.

The Bible work in the Shoubra district was revived in April by starting two teachers for a little while, one to read the Bible and to pray in certain houses, the other to teach the women to read. The former is an invalid and her strength gave out, but at one of our Friday meetings she told those present of her gratitude for the meetings and that the women should be thankful for their privileges, because formerly it was considered wrong in the Coptic church for a woman to read the Bible, especially the Old Testament.

There is a meeting for women in each of the four districts, with a total weekly average of 47 women and 7 girls, which represent a large number of houses and neighborhoods reached by the Bible. The Scripture Union readings are always used as the subjects. The Boulac Women's Missionary Society collected nearly $20, and the Feggalla society over $80, the greater part of which was spent for the teaching of women and girls in Cairo and elsewhere.

Miss Smith writes of the work in Haret es Sakaeen and Fum el Khaleeg, Cairo. Two meetings for prayer are held, one in each of the two districts. Women are often present at the Sabbath-school teachers' meeting in Fum el Khaleg. One who used to attend the prayer-meetings there and seemed much interested is now making every effort to keep women from coming. The Coptic priest there also seems determined to keep the work from succeeding, but the work is the Lord's, and it must succeed. One of the teachers has done good, earnest work. Some of her pupils pay tuitions, which help in the support of the Bible work. A pupil of the Bible woman in Frun el Khaley was led to Christ during the year. "She is very poor, but very earnest. Last year she gave one piaster a month to the church, and said she would give a piaster a month for herself and one for her baby."

Two of the women taking lessons in Haret es Sakarem have expressed a desire to join the church, but are waiting until they learn more. Another was anxious to make a profession of her faith at our last communion, but a quarrel between her mother and her husband caused her to put it off until the next communion season. Miss Smith asks prayer for her Bible workers. She says the work is difficult, and often discouraging, but she feels it is very important.

Benha.

In Benha, during the first part of the year, the work was carried on with great earnestness and energy by the Bible woman. She also visited regularly two villages near the town, and occasionally went to villages some distance away, usually gaining entrance through the work of the colporteur. Her message was entirely new to many who heard, and they would beg her to come back. Plans were made for the enlargement of the work and a new Bible woman secured, but by the time she had learned the houses the hospital at Tanta was left without a Bible teacher, and, as no other could be secured, it was thought best to take the one from Benha.

Mrs. Hart reports three Bible women at work in Zagazig. They have taught 97 women. She says many doors are open to us and we get a warm welcome to many homes whenever we are able to visit them. There is some improvement this year in the attendance at Sabbath services on the part of the women.

Monsourah.

Mrs. Coventry writes from Monsourah: "During the year the two Bible women have given lessons to seventy-four persons. The wife of the Coptic minister has been a pupil, and for a time their black servant girl took lessons also; but, as she learned much more quickly than her mistress, they soon refused to let her take lessons, saying that she wanted to study so much and neglected her work. A poor, ignorant woman, the wife of a Mohammedan, who united with our church two years ago, was faithfully taught by Mrs. Werda for several months before they moved from Monsourah. She had asked to be baptized, but it was thought best that she should wait until she might be given a little more instruction. A short time ago she was received into membership in the church of Alexandria. We feel that her husband's changed life and Mrs. Werda's teaching were the means of bringing her to Christ. She was very angry at her husband when he united with the church, but not long after she told us how much better he treated her and the children."

Tanta.

In Tanta a Bible woman was at work the first half of the year, but she went home for her vacation and did not return. Truly in Tanta the Master has set before us many open doors. No less than one hundred homes are open to hear the gospel message, but there is no one to go in. The whole country has been searched for a Bible woman, but none has yet been found, and the demands of other work have made it impossible for the one in charge of the work to do any visiting since the summer. One woman, a most earnest Christian, has done what she could toward carrying on the work. She has taught her neighbors whenever opportunity permitted, and she has gathered them into her home for a meeting every week. Some of her Coptic neighbors were forbidden by the priest to attend her meeting, but she talked with them and urged them to come to hear God's Word, so they came back. She herself learned to read from a Bible woman after she was the mother of a family, and is now, in turn, a light to others.

Alexandria.

In Alexandria, Miss McDowell has had four Bible women under her supervision. One of them was married and gave up the work in June. The average monthly number of those taking lessons was 113. She says the work has been hindered by sickness among the teachers, but it is gratifying to know that the great majority of the pupils who are taking regular lessons have a good knowledge of Bible truth, and some have been attending meetings for women who never attended before. The work among Mohammedan women opened up the last two years has been continued, but, owing to sickness and the press of other duties, it has not been pushed. New doors have been opened, and, while progress has been necessarily slow, we have been able to see growth. The women are now able to grasp truths that they could not a year ago.

She says: "Women have appealed to us in regard to training their children, asking how best to train them to serve the Lord, and in the hour of sorrow they come to us for comfort. It was our privilege to sit in the midst of a great mourning of about one hundred Mohammedan women and tell them of the love of our Heavenly Father. The death of the granddaughter in a leading Moslem family has been the means of our getting very near the women."

A pupil of one of the Bible women expressed her desire to unite with the church, but has been hindered from doing so by a very serious illness. Part of the year Miss McDowell held four prayer-meetings in different parts of the city, but during the latter half of the year was able for but two. The average attendance at these meetings was 50. She says: "Our Bible women need the outpouring of the Holy Spirit and our city needs a lady missionary set apart for work among the women."

Miss Finney reports one Bible woman at work in the Moharrem Bey and Bab Sidra quarters of Alexandria. She expresses thankfulness for this one, as she is exceedingly capable and deeply interested in her work. During the year she has regularly taught 68 women. She says of them: "Their Bible hour is a precious hour. If it happens that the Bible woman is hindered from going to any one at the regular time she is sure to be sent for." She reports a marked improvement in the attendance at the regular prayer-meeting for women at the church, and attributes it to their living now near the church. The women come to the prayer-meeting; then often come to see them afterwards. In speaking of the Woman's Missionary meeting, Miss Finney refers to their great loss in the death of Mrs. McClenahan. She says: "It was she who planned and very often prepared our programs. The meeting after she was called home, when the program of her planning was being carried out, we felt as if our hearts would break. It was a very impressive meeting."

One other meeting also deserves mention. After the prayer conference in Assiout, we asked Mr. Mitri to tell the women of the Missionary Society his impressions and to pass on to us the thoughts which had been helpful to him. It happened that an unusually large number of women were present that day, and all were wonderfully helped.

The special prayer-meeting under Miss Finney's charge is in the Bat Sidru quarter. She says: "There is an average attendance of twelve. It is held every week, generally in the homes of Christian women. Each one is especially active in gathering in her Mohammedan neighbors. In this way quite a good many Mohammedans are reached, some of whom have become quite interested in hearing the Word. One family of Mohammedans asked us to have the meeting at their house in turn. We went and had a splendid meeting. Some of the Christian women who are the mainstays of the prayer-meeting have become quite interested in teaching their Mohammedan neighbors, and on other days gather them in and read to them and sing the Psalms for them."

Such is the story of the year, and, while it is not ours to know as the Master knows, every heart that has been made lighter or every path that has been made brighter because of those who have ministered in his name, yet he has given us much to encourage us and much for which to praise him.

Women's Appeal—Cairo Conference.

We, the women missionaries assembled at the Cairo Conference, would send this appeal on behalf of the women of Moslem lands to all the Women's Missionary Boards andCommittees of Great Britain, America, Canada, France, Germany, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Australia, and New Zealand.

While we have heard with deep thankfulness of many signs of God's blessing on the efforts already put forth, yet we have been appalled at the reports which have been sent in to the conference from all parts of the Moslem world, showing us only too plainly that, as yet, but a fringe of this great work has been touched.

The same story has come from India, Persia, Arabia, Africa, and other Mohammedan lands, making evident that the condition of women under Islam is everywhere the same, and that there is no hope of effectually remedying the spiritual, moral, and physical ills which they suffer except to take them the message of the Savior, and that there is no chance of their hearing unless we give ourselves to the work. NO ONE ELSE WILL DO IT. This lays a heavy responsibility on all Christian women.

The number of Moslem women is so vast, —not less than 100,000,000,—that any adequate effort to meet the need must be on a scale far wider than ever yet attempted. We do not suggest new organizations, but that every church and board of missions at present working in Moslem lands should take up their own women's branch of work with an altogether new ideal before them, determining to reach the whole world of Moslem women in this generation. Each part of the women's work being already carried on needs to be widely extended with an army of trained and consecrated women doctors, trained and consecrated women teachers, groups of women workers in the villages, with love in their hearts to seek and save the lost. Even though it may prove a very cross of Calvary to some of us, we shall hear our Master's voice afresh with ringing words of encouragement, "Have faith in God. For verily I say unto you, that whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and, Be thou cast into the sea, and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that these things which he saith shall come to pass, he shall have whatsoever he saith." "Nothing shall be impossible unto you."

It is a matter to be explained by Miss Buchanan, or governmental officials, why the report of the Girls' Boarding School at Luxor has not been received in turn to be included with others. From private letters we are assured that the same energetic work is going on from day to day, the corps of workers having all they can do to meet the demands of the needy section of Luxor.

New and Returning Missionaries.

The ladies who have been with us in the homeland for one or two years have won the gratitude of the church in their endeavors to bring its members into a more personal touch with foreign missions and into a more intimate knowledge of the working of the Spirit, who is so willing to work through us.

Miss Josephine and her sister, Miss Jennie Martin; Miss Josephine White, and Miss Kate A. Hill will return to India via the Pacific at a date to be named later.

Miss Kate Corbett leaves this country in August with the prospect of visiting missions in Syria.

Mrs. MacClure, her daughter, Lois Reed, now six years old, and Miss Laurella Dickson, will leave by the eastern route early in September. Miss Margaret Bell will accompany these ladies as far as Egypt.

Sympathy will be extended to the two ladies, Miss Cora B. Dickey and Miss Zella W. Mitchell, who must exercise still more patience and remain in the homeland until their physicians pronounce them physically able to resume their duties in Egypt.

One new missionary for each field is the force recruited at this time. In the month of March, 1906, Miss Lena S. Brotherston, of Buffalo, New York, left this country for India, according to an appointment made some months before. Since that time Miss Jennie, youngest daughter of our honored missionary, Dr. Samuel Martin, has received an appointment to that land where her father and two sisters have labored so efficiently and where the dear mother's precious dust awaits the resurrection morn. Miss Martin will go as the representative of the Women's Missionary Society of Chicago Presbytery.

Miss Coral McMillen, of Aledo, Ill., has been appointed to work in Egypt, where she will join her sister, Miss Adelle, who has served her Master and our church so faithfully. Miss McMillen will go as the second representative of the Women's Missionary Society of Shadyside congregation, Pittsburg, Pa.

A young woman, Miss Hannah C. McLean, of Carnegie, Pa., who has given evidence of consecrated zeal in her home church and in mission work among Italians of Pittsburg, has been chosen as our first representative to the Sudan. Those who have the honor and privilege of supporting this new missionary are Mr. John Denham and Miss Jane Denham, of Shadyside congregation, Pittsburg, Pa., and Mr. Charles Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, nee Denham, of the Third Church, Pittsburg, Pa. Miss McLean will accompany Rev. and Mrs. Sowash when they return to Khartoum. During the building of the Girls' Boarding School in Khartoum North, Miss McLean will be located at the mission home in Khartoum, about an hour's ride distant, where she will devote herself to the study of the Arabic, the language used in that section of the Sudan.

Miss Elizabeth McCahon and Miss Rosa T. Wilson have but recently returned for a period of rest, which they both need very much, and which we hope the church will allow them to have by refraining to request any public service from them.

Miss Henrietta Moore, of India, is now on the homeward journey. Miss Cynthia Wilson's furlough period is due, but no one being available to take her place and care for the village women with characteristic devotion, she refused to leave and permitted her sister to return alone.

Our congratulations and loving thoughts should be extended to two of our missionaries who have permitted Cupid to interfere with the work and hopes of the W. G. M. S. Ere our readers see these pages Miss Myra Boyd, of Egypt, will have become Mrs. Bell, and, with her husband, will return to the homeland for a year or more. Miss Bessie McCrory, of Egypt, will have become the life partner of Rev. Walker, and will continue to labor in Egypt.

Three vacancies, therefore, are to be fillled. The salaries are provided; the laborers are needed. "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he may thrust forth the labobers."

The appeal of the past three years is once more repeated when we urge the need of two lady physicians for India. Are there not two good women somewhere in our church willing to sacrifice their practice and go to the relief of Drs. White and Simpson? Until conditions change, only physicians of the allopathic school can be appointed.

The missionary associations of India and the Sudan have asked for trained nurses,—two for the former and one for the latter,—who will be located at Dalaib Hill. Applicants for the work of nursing will receive appointment for the same time and under the same rules governing the regular missionary. Five hundred and fifty dollars is the salary for the Sudan, and $500 for India.

A strange coincidence marked the writing of the reports of this department for the years 1904 and 1905. While writing the former, one year ago, the message of the death of Miss Jennie L. Gibson, on the morning of May 15, was received and noted. This year, during the compiling of the present present report, the sad news of Miss Edith M. Fulton's death, on the 30th of March, 1906, reached us. Miss Fulton was given her appointment to India in 1894. One furlough period has been spent in the homeland, but now she has gone to her eternal home, there to receive her crown of rejoicing. We ask that those for whom she labored and with whom she labored, as well as the dear ones in the home in Nebraska, from whence she went a few years ago, may all be included in our loving thought, sympathy, and prayers. Miss Fulton represented the women of Illinois Southern Presbyterial Society, the members of which have loyally declared their willingness to support a successor when found.

Representatives of the Foreign Board and the Women's Board have held two conferences during the year, one in September, in Philadelphia, when conferences and public meetings were held with outgoing missionaries; the second, in Pittsburg, in April, when various questions as to estimates, the division and the development of the work were discussed and future plans agreed upon.

The two boards united in two petitions to the General Assembly:

First, that we request that the salaries of unmarried professional missionaries be fixed at $750 per year in Egypt and the Sudan and at $700 for India; and that the furlough salary for each professional missionary be $450.

Second, that the rule permitting the Foreign Board to do medical work among men, and the Women's Board among women, be so changed as to allow either board to take up general medical work whenever and wherever advisable.

With the going forth of the four new missionaries, our roll will include 65 workers. The plain, unvarnished story of the year's work, and the thought of the work so faithfully done by our 65 representatives, together with the thought of the blessed years of past service, when God was better to us than our fears, should lead us to say to the other women of our church who have had no part in this work:

"O noble women, never more a queen
Than in the laying down
Of scepter and of crown
To win a greater kingdom yet unseen."

REPORT OF

Home Missions and Ministerial Relief

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1906.

"Change" seems to have been the prominent feature of this department during the year. Nevertheless, the Master has continued to guide the work, so that souls have been brought to a saving knowledge of Jesus, new churches organized, and new workers called and sent out, and all necessary means provided. For all this and many other blessings, we thank and praise the Lord for "his wonderful works among the children of men."

INDIAN WORK.

Miss Montgomery, the well-beloved and consecrated field matron of the Warm Spring Reservation, was, at her own request, released from her position at the close of December, 1905. The Indians mourn her loss and cherish her memory. We are sure that at "that great day" there will be many of these people for whom she labored so earnestly among the number of the blessed. Oregon Presbytery recommended the continuance of a field matron, but no one has been elected as yet. One reason for this is that Mr. Gordon is very anxious to leave, so that his children may receive their education without being separated from their parents. It was thought that the new missionary whom the Master shall send might like to be consulted regarding the appointment of a field matron. Mr. Gordon kindly agreed to remain at the reservation until September 1, 1906. We are praying that his successor may at that time be on the field. Here follows Mr. Gordon's report:

Report of Warm Springs Mission

FOR YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1906.

The year's record is quite similar to those which have been made in former years. When so much is repetition and commonplace, the record seems scarcely worth mention.

Because of the distance from the railroad, it is seldom the mission is visited by any of those who have aided in its support. But this year we were made glad by a visit from several of the delegates to the Albany convention, among whom was Mrs. Mary W. Porter, delegate from the Women's Board. Their visit was to us a refreshing shower in this thirsty land. We regret they did not get to see more of the work, but think that what they saw was not without interest and profit. It would be a good thing if more of the Christian women who so nobly support this work could visit the mission. Yes, if the ministers of the church could see this work among the North American Indians, the importance and responsibility of carrying it on might so press upon some of them that they would be willing to take charge of this mission.

For nine months the church has been searching for men to take up this work, and not even one has come saying, "Here am I; send me." Why is this? Surely it is not that the Master does not call us as a church to this work; nor is it that we owe no debt to these people, not only blinded by their own superstition, but bound by sins into which the white people have led them. Is it because the work is difficult and discouraging? While the difficulties are peculiar, they are not greater than in many of our home fields, and the same may be said regarding the discouragements. The field is lonely, and more cut off from civilization than Egypt or India. Granted; but the government finds many ready to come here for the wages which it pays. Shall the Master call in vain for workmen? To look upon it as a privation, or sacrifice to be in this work is, as I see it, a mistake. It's an enjoyable work, and all who have labored here will to this say amen.

The past season has been a trying one for the Indians, owing to the shortage in the hay and grain crop. A mild winter has been in their favor, and but little stock has perished, though their teams are in poor condition for spring work. An unusually good huckleberry crop last fall gave them a food supply and a little cash. While in the mountains they are so scattered it does not seem profitable for the missionary to attempt to reach them with the gospel. Though many are absent, more are present at the church than could be gathered in any one place in the mountains. In another respect, also, the people have been favored this year—health has been given them. There have been fewer deaths and less sickness than since I came here. For two years the Indian doctors have been increasing their work and influence; in fact, have been quite active. An incident brought their work into unexpected prominence. The sudden death of a strong and prominent young man of the Piutes called out a very decided expression from his people that he had been killed by the Indian doctors, and the event showed that even yet there is all but unanimous belief that these doctors have power to kill their people with the spirit darts. This incident has aroused, somewhat, the enmity, which was very strong in former years between the Piutes and the Warm Springs. Another effect has been that our members who have gone to the Siksekwa Chapel when appointed by the missionary to conduct services since this event, have not been willing to go; and it seems to me the Piutes have less interest in the gospel message. But I trust that in a few months this may all pass away.

Miss (?) Frances Young, of Chevy Chase, Md., kindly remembered the needy among the Indians, sending a generous donation of twenty dollars, which was used to procure comforters and hosiery. The Sixth Pittsburg (W. M. S.?) sent a nice supply of yarns and flannel, and the Fowler, California, congregation forwarded two barrels of dry fruit, freight paid. To pay for supplies purchased last fall the Women's Board sent $12. Some packages were received through the mail. The above has been sufficient to meet the wants of the really needy, but we would be glad to receive, at any time, through the mail, quilt pieces, as we are not able to supply all calls for them. This may not be a real need, but it is quite a help to many to get these pieces.

The attendance at the church services has been about as during the preceding year. Four girls professed their faith in Christ, and one was baptized. For three months they had received special instruction before they were received into the church, and we hope they are really God's children; but the history of the mission shows that the reception of children and young people into the church has been far from satisfactory—just the opposite from that of white children, who usually turn out better than those who profess their faith in mature years. The influence of godless government employees has been the cause of more evil than for several years. Would that we had good, Christian white people in charge, or that the school were under the control of the church; then there would be some ground for hope that the rising generation of Indians would serve the Lord.

Yours in the Indian work,

WM. W. GORDON.

Warm Springs, April 2, '06.

Rev. J. O. Ashenhurst was, at his own request, released from the field at Simnasho early last winter. His aged mother now needs the presence and services of her son, and he is now at her home in Ohio.

Mr. Ashenhurst made good progress, in spite of many difficulties, in the study of the Indian language, having been asked to preach many times in the native tongue, and we are persuaded that the good seed sown by him will, in God's own time, spring up and bear everlasting fruit.

Rev. J. A. Speer, who had worked on the reservation for many years, kindly consented to go back to Simnasho, and has consented to serve as pastor there for the ensuing year at least. I will let him tell his own story:

Report of Rev. J. A. Speer.

To the Women's Board.

At your bidding I came to the Simnasho Indian mission, arriving on the field November 24, 1905, and so have been four months on the ground. My coming was wholly unannounced, and the people were not expecting any one. On Saturday, the 25th, I saw a few persons, and on the Sabbath thirty met me at the church, and on the following Sabbath sixty were present, or about three-fourths of the Indians at that time embraced within a radius of eight or nine miles from Simnasho. At that service quite a number told me they had fully arranged to move during the week to the Des Cleuter River valley, in order to secure pasture for their horses and cattle, and could not return till grass came in the spring. At my request they remained and met in council during that week. The meeting was well attended, and an excellent spirit prevailed.

In explanation I should have said that lack of rain the previous season caused a great scarcity of crops in this vicinity and throughout the entire reservation. The month of March has brought an unusual amount of snow and severe cold, so these people have not yet been able to return. This necessarily has lessened the church attendance. Except a few who are near by, the women have not been able to attend for lack of ponies. There are in all a little more than one hundred Indians whose homes are within eight miles of this church. Nearly one-half of these have been out of reach of the church during the winter. The average attendance for the four months was thirty-six, that of the men twenty-one, and of the women fifteen. As compared with any community of white people, either in city or country, I think this a very encouraging showing for church attendance. The largest attendance at the church at any single service was one hundred, forty-five men and fifty-five women, though I preached one day, by request, in their camp, to over one hundred and fifty people gathered from far and near.

One bitter cold day, with the mercury at zero, and with wind and snow, the attendance fell to twenty-four, five of whom were women. Some of us would have felt it a hardship to face that storm for only a few blocks, but no one of this audience came less than a mile, some came five, and a few came over ten miles, and sat through the service when it was impossible to make the audience room comfortable.

The interest manifested is apparently all that can be desired. I have kept no record of the individual attendance, but a score or more have seldom missed a service. One man, quite aged, and crippled, has frequently come on foot for lack of a horse, though living nearly three miles away. A young woman, daughter of a chief man, not a Christian, sent a letter to Mrs. Speer recently, in which she wrote: "I like to come to church every Sabbath. I like to hear God's words read to me. I try hard to keep them fresh in my mind till another Sabbath comes to hear more good words of our Lord Jesus Christ our heavenly Friend." She and her sister, who cannot speak English, I think have not been absent from a single service since I came.

Indians are not the listless auditors which their stolid appearance seems to indicate. There has been considerable sickness among the people, and a number of deaths, mostly children. While I have found no case of downright destitution, a number of old people are very needy. Both the sick and the needy call for sympathy and aid from the missionary. By the timely help of friends and the Board I have been able to assist in relieving not a few. The government physician lives twenty miles distant, and very seldom comes here.

A variety of remedies have been left with the missionary, which does not at all lessen his burden of responsibility, or lessen the number of demands made upon him. The people have more confidence in the missionary than in the doctor, and do not understand but that we know all about medicine. If a day school is established here, the dispensary will be moved from the mission house to the school building, where it properly belongs. The school is talked of, and the department in Washington, I learn, is favorable.

Owing to bad weather and bad roads, I have not been able to reach all the homes of the people. My special effort, however, has been to make the church and mission home an attractive center, in order to draw the people to it, rather than require that the missionary go to them too entirely. I have therefore met almost every one who lives on this part of the reservation.

During the four months I have held twenty-four church services, married four couples, attended five funerals, and made one hundred and twenty-five calls. The following has been received from societies and individuals:

First Church, Portland, Oregon, one barrel and one box of second-hand clothing; Juniors of First Church, Pittsburg, Pa., a quantity of flannelette; Mary S. Struthers, Sewickley, Pa., and her mother, cash, $10. This came to me by Miss Ella Montgomery. From New Wilmington, Pa., and Mrs. J. H. McRoberts, First Church, Pittsburg, calendars and pictures.

My financial statement is as follows:

RECEIPTS.

From Women's Board	$50 00
From Mary S. Struthers and mother	10 00
Total	$60 00

DISBURSEMENTS.

For food supplies	$29 00
Garden seeds	5 00
Seed grain	10 00
Freight	7 50
Cash balance on hand	8 50
Total	$60 00

Estimates for the coming year I will submit to the Presbytery for its approval.

Very Respectfully,

J. A. SPEER.

Simnasho, Oregon, April 1, '06.

Dr. Tate was also obliged to resign from the reservation, as he had other lines of work which he wished to take up.

Recent letters advise us that the government has authorized the opening of a day school at Simnasho. When that is accomplished a much greater work can be undertaken at that mission, as there will be so many more of the young people and children, in whom is one of the greatest hopes for the future evangelization of this people.

TAMA RESERVATION.

The new church home at the above place is now completed, which is a cause of great rejoicing to us, and especially to our devoted missionaries, Miss Campbell and Miss Taylor, and their Indian proteges. Herewith find a brief statement of cost:

Purchase of land, surveying and recording of deed	$202 75
Buildings	2,553 00
Fencing, barn, grading, etc.	575 00
Furnace	147 00
Basement	112 50
Extra plumbing for laundry	12 00
Insurance	50 00
Total	$3,652 25

This amount was paid by your treasurer from time to time, as bills were sent, but it does not include $906.34 paid by Miss Campbell for a great many additional improvements and comforts, nor $29.64 expended by Miss Taylor for the same purpose. The Board protested against this in vain, as both these claimed the right to put some of their money into the work. The total cost, therefore, is $4,588.23.

We hope many of the delegates to this convention will go home by the way of Tama, and see for themselves the completeness of this life-saving station on this reservation. We know that all will be glad to know that these consecrated women have at least a comfortable home, and are also pretty well equipped for training both boys and girls. Pray often for this work, that the Spirit may lead these darkened souls into light. Miss Campbell thinks the work has now reached a stage where the labors of an ordained minister are needed. The Board will take no action until the voice of this convention and of Cedar Rapids Presbytery has been heard.

Report of Miss Elizabeth Campbell.

DEAR FRIENDS: My report this year will be a disappointment to many who have been praying faithfully for the conversion of this people. At least, we have closed the year with a feeling of keen disappointment in regard to the spiritual condition of our people, and yet our faith has never been stronger than at present. We have gained a hold on the affection and confidence of the people that is not only a surprise to ourselves, but to all who know the people with whom we have to deal, and the independence and reserve with which they meet all offers of friendship. Another cause we have for rejoicing is the certainty that an educational spirit is being aroused, and that some are getting a nice little start in English who, one year ago, could not understand a single word we said.

We have hoped that this year's report would tell you of a building entirely finished and equipped for the work, and have labored persistently with that end in view, but one delay has followed another, and although since last July we have occupied our own apartments, and the rooms intended for the girls have been used for all who came, the boys' rooms are not quite ready yet. The opening of these apartments will be the beginning of a new era in our work for the girls, and we look forward hopefully.

During the past year we have received 5,599 visitors in our home, which is more than 1,500 above last year's report. We have made 627 visits in their homes, and in many cases the welcome was very cordial and sincere. Medicine has been dispensed 425 times, and 895 garments and thirty-six quilts have been made in our home. The Bible has been read and explained to 114 persons, and 2,013 lessons have been given in reading and music.

Two things have grieved us very much during the past year. One was the very evident increase in drunkenness, with all its attendant evils of poverty, sickness, debauchery and murder; the other was the appalling number of deaths, quite a number of them due either to whiskey or tuberculosis.

Through the kindness of the Women's General Missionary Society, the Juniors, and others, we not only have a neat home, quite completely and comfortably furnished, but we have been supplied with canned fruits and other comforts for the sick ones, and these ministrations have helped much in winning our way to the hearts of the people.

We have received the following contributions in money since last year's report, in addition to the regular salary:

Butler, Pa., L. M. S.	$10 00
Mansfield, Ohio, Juniors	1 00
Mays, Ind., Juniors	3 00
Cedar Rapids Presbyterial	6 50
Fifth Allegheny Intermediates	7 00
Fifth Allegheny Juniors	10 00
Mrs. Aiken, Albia, Iowa	5 00
Waterloo, Iowa, L. M. S.	12 00
Cedar Rapids Y. P. C. U. and Pratt Creek Individuals	14 90
Girls' Circle, Washington, Iowa	2 50
Mrs. Carrie P. Giffen	7 00
Butler, Pa., Congregation	51 50
Beaver Valley Presbyterial	5 00
Idaville, Ind., Juniors	5 00
Indianola, Iowa, Y. P. C. U.	10 00
Allerton, Iowa, Friend	5 00
Bloomington, Ind., L. M. S.	11 00
N. Fairmont, Cin., Juniors	2 00
New Concord, Ohio, Juniors	5 00
Piqua, Ohio, Juniors	5 00
Total	$178 40

Received from the Women's Board:

For house rent	$20 00
Kitchen range and utensils	35 00
Chairs for boys' room	2 55
Window shades	2 45
Insurance	50 00

Plumbing	12 00
Finishing basement rooms	112 50
Total	$244 50
From personal friends	90 00
	178 40
Grand total	$512 90

The above, $244.50, from the Board, has been spent as indicated. The remaining $268.40 has all been used in supplying floor coverings and other furnishings, plumbing and stereopticon views, band instruments and music, and the extra expense in finishing the basement. So many other kind friends, Junior societies, Ladies' Missionary Societies and individuals have remembered us with boxes that it is impossible to mention them all, but a few deserve special notice, and the Juniors of Fifth Philadelphia head the list of Junior societies. Among the Women's Missionary Societies it is hard to find first place, so will take them in order as received.

From Traer, Iowa, W. M. S. and from individuals, come honey, butter, fruit, literature, sheets, pillow covers, towels, feathers, blanket, aprons, dishes, etc. From Cedar Rapids, Iowa, forty yards of draperies for the box furniture in the bedrooms, and ten quarts of fruit. From Clarion, Iowa, carpet for two bedrooms. From Goldfield, Iowa, thirty quarts of choice fruit. From Greenville, Iowa, Juniors a quilt and pictures. From Hartstown, Pa., Juniors, two quilts and dolls. From Washington, Iowa, girls and Y. L. M. S., quilt, four bed pads, and framed picture. From Salinesville, Pa., Juniors, quilt. To all the scores of others, we would say your gift was appreciated, and used to the best advantage possible.

For the coming year we bespeak, not more liberal gifts, but more faith-filled prayers that these people may be made willing to hear the gospel.

Sincerely yours,

ELIZABETH CAMPBELL.

GLENDALE MISSION, SPOKANE.

Miss McGregor, who labored in Glendale Mission, Spokane, completed her term about August 1, 1905. From September, 1904, she made 1,250 calls, and attended 325 meetings. Sabbath-school offerings amounted to $120.73, and the Ladies' Aid Society raised $50.00. Average attendance at the Sabbath school was about ninety. The Home Department meets weekly for the study of the Sabbath-school lesson, and the offerings amounted to $6.90. The Cradle Roll numbers thirty.

We regret very much having to give up the support of this missionary and this mission. Glendale has been on our list for years, and as the Presbytery did not consider it wise to organize a congregation at this time, we could not consistently with our rules, continue the support of a missionary for that field any longer. We are glad to note that Miss MacGregor will still work with them on Sabbaths, and we pray that she may see the seed sown spring up rapidly to the saving of many souls.

Miss Grove, of Wichita, Kansas, left the work there to take charge of the home of her husband. Our best wishes go with her as she enters this new and happy life. The mission was so well established in its own new chapel that Rev. Mr. Davis, of the First Church, Wichita, who had been instrumental in the opening of the new work, thought that a pastor was needed. Consequently no one was sent to take Miss Grove's place.

The Home Secretary and other delegates to the Albany convention had the pleasure of visiting the mission in Seattle, in charge of Miss Wade. All were delighted with the enthusiasm she manifested, and her charming manner, and great influence over the children. During the last summer she, too, left mission work to preside over the new home which was established by Mr. Spalding and Miss Wade after their marriage. We wish them both every possible happiness. The mission is now a flourishing congregation, which we see by the church papers has recently bought property for a building under the pastoral care of Rev. W. H. Treisch.

Miss Sue Cooper White began work in Johnstown, Pa., February 11, 1905. Her labors there were discontinued September 2, as she was appointed to go to India as a foreign missionary. She loved the work at Johnstown, and her labors were blessed. Her report, which follows, was written at Singapore, India. She is busy studying the language, and we are confident that she will prove a valuable addition to the ranks of our workers.

Final Report of Sue Cooper White, City Missionary, Johnstown, Pa.

The mission Sabbath-school of Johnstown was begun over two years ago in a little office; but later a chapel was built by the First Church. I began work February 11, 1905. I give statistics for my time there, February 11 to September 2:

Average attendance of Sabbath-school, 88; highest attendance, 165; lowest attendance, 55; average collection, $2.00; highest collection, $10.74; lowest collection, $1.04; money taken in by mission, $128.91; visits made, 2,762.

First children's meeting, February 16, with seventeen present. Organized Juniors March 9, with thirty-two members; highest average attendance for any one month, fifty-three. Besides the regular Sabbath-school and Junior meetings, we had preaching services whenever possible, including two weeks' evangelistic services, one week by Rev. Foster, of Johnstown, and the second by Rev. C. P. Proudfit, of Bellaire, Ohio.

As to the results of these meetings, visits, and efforts, we find them in increased attendance and collections, greater interest, better order, and more reverence during services; growth in favor of United Presbyterian doctrines, especially of our psalms, and a great interest in foreign missions and better lives. Two adults have joined the First Church, and others are considering doing so.

There is a feeling of sadness as I leave these friends and the chapel which has become a dear meeting place to me, yet the Lord has prepared another field, and as I recognize his hand, I can trustfully surrender to him the work in Johnstown, and will go to the new work in India, grateful for both privileges, and with the hope that the work may be thoroughly established and strengthened.

Respectfully submitted,

SUE COOPER WHITE.

Miss McMunn closed her labors in Altoona, Pa., October 1, 1905, leaving a fully organized congregation, with a pastor in charge. A lot has been purchased, and we expect to hear of the dedication of the new Second Altoona. This is the second congregation which the Master has permitted Miss McMunn to see as the result of her labors.

Report of Miss McMunn, Altoona, Pa.

On the first of September, '04, I began work in the mountain city. I found that the First Church had organized a mission Sabbath-school in that part of the city known as the Sixth Ward, and September 4 I met with them for the first time in the eating room of Odd Fellow Hall. On that day there were twenty-three pupils present, and four teachers, all of whom came from the First Church. A house-to-house canvass was begun September 5, and in thirteen months over 6,000 calls were made. Many of these were of only a few moment's duration at the door; others gave an opportunity for mutual help, the privilege of reading the word, and of bringing united petitions to the throne of grace; and again, at the bedside of sick and dying, receiving lessons of patience, and pointing the sufferers to "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." I would mention also the weekly, and often semi-weekly hospital visits, distributing flowers, fruits, papers, etc., always receiving a kindly welcome.

from hearts made tender by suffering, and ready to receive the message of love and hear the story of the Great Physician.

The third week of my sojourn we began our Wednesday evening cottage prayer-meetings. At the first meeting we had an attendance of eight. From that meeting until the close of my term we held our meetings every week. The last quarter the attendance ranged from thirty to thirty-five, all taking some part. The voluntary contributions at these meetings amounting to over $50.00 for the year. The Mother's Meetings, held semi-weekly, were always well attended and interesting. Mothers were brought in from the world, and became active and effective workers for Christ.

Beside the regular meetings for study and worship, we held a bazaar, raised money to send a poor woman to the hospital, and organized a Dorcas Society, by which we hoped to reach and help many destitute the coming winter.

Other helpful auxiliaries were the Sunshine Club for girls fourteen to sixteen years of age; Boys' Brigade, for boys twelve to sixteen; Young Men's Parliamentary Drill, and the Bible Class organizations, which held their monthly business meetings and sociables, always aiming for the advancement and upbuilding of their respective classes, thus bringing new members under the influence of Bible study, as well as introducing them into a new social life, and to new associates.

June 18, under the authority of Conemaugh Presbytery, the congregation was organized with the supervision of the session of the First Church. Following a sermon by the pastor, Rev. R. A. Hutchison, twenty-eight members were received into the organization. By a generous subscription of some twelve or fifteen members within the bounds of the Presbytery, $1,700 was given for the purchase of a lot. Through and by a donation and loan from the Board of Church Extension, a plot of ground 50x100 feet has been purchased, and a chapel, 32x50, has been contracted for, and is to be completed by the last of February, '06.

The General Committee, aided by the new congregation, are supporting Rev. H. P. Smith, who began his labors July 9, '05, and who from the very first took hold of the work with such energy and enthusiasm that it is meeting with great success, and we predict that ere long—the mission which has been self-supporting, paying rent, furnishing Sabbath-school supplies, and preaching from the very start—the Second Church will not only be self-supporting, but will be organizing a mission of their own.

Respectfully submitted,

L. ELNORA MCMUNN.

Miss McMunn began work in Erie, Pa., under the auspices of the Browne Avenue congregation. You will be pleased to read the following brief account of her work there:

Report of Miss McMunn, Erie, Pa.

I began work here January 7, and in that time we have received forty-nine into church membership, representing twenty-two heads of families, and twenty-five new families. The Sabbath school has increased at the rate of an average of seventeen per day, contributions daily increasing at an average of 71 cents. Last Sabbath broke the record, with an attendance of 158, and $6.13 in contributions.

All departments of the work are flourishing. We have a Home Department of sixty members, and a Junior Society whose average attendance for the three months has been ninety per cent. of their enrollment. Three Sabbaths ago I started in trying to get the married people who had decided they were "too old to attend Sabbath school," back into line. Had twenty-two in my class last week, and it is just beginning.

Not having so much of the machinery to look after gives more time for personal work, which I enjoy very much indeed. Have six services each Sabbath. Teach in the Sabbath school, and meet and introduce people at the morning service; Catechism and teaching doctrines of the church at 3:30 P. M.; superintend Juniors at 4 P. M.;

then O. Y. P. and evening services, so you may imagine a pastor's assistant does not have much time for napping.

Do not for a moment think I am claiming the credit for all the work, for I am not. Rev. Bovard is one of the best preachers and pastors combined it has ever been my privilege to work with. Boarding at the parsonage enables us to use the "follow up system" to an advantage.

Hoping that all your work is meeting with merited success, and that the Des Moines meeting may surpass any yet held, I remain,

Yours in his service,
L. ELNORA MCMUNN.

While in Portland it was the good fortune of many of our women to visit our Mute work in the Grand Avenue church, as directed by Mrs. J. H. Gibson. That "quiet" congregation, how pleased and interested it seemed as our women talked of our work and Mrs. Gibson interpreted. This devoted woman was the eighth of our workers who were obliged to leave us this year. Dr. Gibson was sent to labor in Bellingham, Washington, and Rev. DuBois has been sent to fill his vacancy.

For a short time our mute people became discouraged, and were not so faithful in attendance, as it was difficult to find one who could fill Mrs. Gibson's place; but at last a gentleman was found whose services are very acceptable to the people, and to Mr. DuBois. The same arrangement has been made for the continuance of this work as prevailed with Mrs. Gibson.

In the midst of the gloom that now surrounds our California people comes the following ray of sunshine from Miss Torrance, who represents you on the Pacific Coast. This report was written before the terrible earthquake visited that favored land. Miss Torrence is expected at the convention, and will be pleased to answer questions about her work.

The foregoing modest statement does not tell one-tenth of the work done, but is rather a statement of results. I am therefore obliged, from a sense of justice, to add a little to what has been reported.

Those who read our church papers know that our First Church, Los Angeles, has recently sold its property. With very commendable liberality that people took part of the proceeds of the sale and bought a beautiful corner lot on Harvard Heights, a new and lovely suburb of Los Angeles. As soon as arrangements were made and the old First Church vacated, the contract was let to take it down, haul the material to the new lot on Harvard Heights, and proceed to erect a new church building on the foundation which was waiting. Miss Torrance had a good Sabbath school, and the nucleus of a good congregation gathered together waiting for the building. So, as the result of the consecrated generosity of the people of the First Church, and the devoted labors of Miss Torrance, the church has a new Harvard Heights congregation worshiping in its own new house, which cost about $10,000, free of all debt, and anxiously waiting for the man whom the Lord will send to lead them into a larger work and better lives. Praise his holy name.

Our Foreign Work in the Home Land has assumed greater proportions the past assumed greater proportions during the past year than ever before. The women of the church are now supporting, or assisting in the support and work of four different stations among foreigners. These people of strange tongues come to us from every land under the sun, and are easy to learn our language and customs, thus making it comparatively easy to gather them together, and while instructing them along industrial and educational lines, to teach them the way of life everlasting. For several years Monongahela Presbyterial supported Rev. Mr. Fortunato. He is now a regular pastor in Monongahela Presbytery, and is no longer supported by the women. Many of them, however, teach in his schools, and render very efficient aid in raising funds needed for his work. The following brief report from his pen is very interesting:

PITTSBURG ITALIAN MISSION.

Report of Rev. J. B. Fortunato, Pastor First Italian U. P. Church.

To the Women's Board of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church.

LADIES: It is a great pleasure for me to tell you of the many blessings that we are permitted to enjoy for the past year. Our mission has grown in number, in strength, in faith, and in Christian character. From the following figures you will obtain a very slight idea of how good the Lord has been to us:

Communicants, present number, 62; communicants, by last year's report, 48; increase, by profession, 30; decrease, by death, 1; decrease, by removal, 17; infant baptisms, 6; adult baptisms, 27. The offering through the year is amounting to $275.00; average per member, $4.43; pastoral calls during the year, 775.

The English evening school began with the first Monday of October, 1905, and three sessions per week were held until March 31, when it was closed. We had an average attendance of thirty persons, and four teachers. A splendid Young People's Society was organized last October, with fifteen members, and we have now on the roll thirty names, with an average attendance of twenty-five young people at their meetings, which they hold every Sabbath evening.

A strong musical organization was recently formed. Many young men have been taken away from vice and indifference and brought to Christ through this instrumentality. The young men pay for the tuition, which is imparted to them by an Italian teacher three times each week. In order to encourage them we furnish the instruments, which are nearly half paid for.

For a long time we have felt the need of evangelical literature to circulate among our people, and the Lord has crowned our desire, for with the beginning of the new year we were enabled to start the publication of "L' A pe Evangelica," (the Evangelical Bee), a small religious paper in the Italian language, which is published twice a month, and it has a circulation of 500 copies; it goes into Italian homes in Pittsburg, in Brushton, in Elizabeth, Pa., East Liberty, Butler, Carnegie, Washington, Steubenville, Ohio; Schenectady, N. Y.; San Francisco, Cal., etc.

Another great blessing we are enjoying just at the present time is a grand revival that the Lord is operating in our midst. Since last Christmas we were compelled to move from the chapel which we used for preaching service, because of the increasing multitude coming to hear the Word of Life. On January 21 last we celebrated the Lord's Supper; seventy-five communicants were present; fourteen adults and one infant were baptized; twelve new members joined the church on profession of faith, two ladies and ten men. More than 250 people of Roman Catholic faith were present.

From Christmas to the present time we have had an average attendance at our Sabbath preaching service of 130 persons. Last Sabbath, April 1, there were 150 persons present, and on Sabbath, April 8, we had over 200 present. Is not this great encouragement for us? A lot to secure a home for the mission has been purchased by order of Monongahela Presbytery, and we hope and pray that the Lord will soon provide the necessary means for the erection of a building on it.

We recommend our work and ourselves to your prayer and sympathy, and may our Lord bestow his blessings upon the ladies of our beloved church for their great efforts put forth for the advancement of the kingdom of Jesus.

Respectfully submitted in his name,

J. B. FORTUNATO.

Of course you all remember that Mr. Fortunato was born in Italy, and preaches to his people in their own language. He has also translated and published a collection of Psalms, which are used exclusively in our Italian churches. Pray for a rich blessing upon him and his people.

Mr. Fortunato began work in Brushton, also, but after he was installed as regular pastor to the Pittsburg congregation he could not give it any more of his time. The women of Monongahela Presbyterial accordingly secured the services of the Rev. Leonard D'Anna, also an Italian gentleman, to take charge of the work in Brushton, a suburb and part of the city of Pittsburg. As he tells the story very much better than I can, I now allow him to make his own report:

BRUSHTON ITALIAN MISSION.

Annual report, from April 1, 1905, to March 31, 1906, for the work of the Brushton Mission by the undersigned missionary to the Women's Board and Monongahela Presbyterial:

To Miss Carrie M. Reed, Chairman of the Italian Committee:

I entered in charge of the work on April 1, 1905, and have worked one year, always with the ability the Lord has given me, assisted by Christian noblewomen and men of the United Presbyterian churches who are interested and consecrated to this part of the Lord's work. I will report only what I remember and have recorded.

From April 1 to June 15 as Follows:

1. Preaching once every Sabbath in the mission room. Attendance at each service from 4 to 24 adults and several children.

2. Cottage meetings from house to house of the people; two every week. Attendance from 4 to 20 at each meeting; 228 missionary calls.

3. The sewing school which I found in action was suspended in May, while the Sabbath school was always taught.

4. On May 1 was opened an English night school, which lasted one month only. One of the three nights, each week, the school was closed with a preaching service to the pupils. Number pupils enrolled, 34; average attendance, 11.

From June 15 to March 31.

Preaching once every Sabbath in the mission room. Number of sermons preached, 41; attendance, 982; average attendance, 23.

Cottage Meetings.

Total meetings, 42; total attendance, 559; average attendance, 13.

Missionary Calls.

Calls made, 1005; calls made in twelve months, 1233. Often a single call gives the opportunity to evangelize several persons.

English Night School.

The English night school was reopened in October and closed March 16; was taught three nights each week. Report from October 9 to February 28, as follows: Number pupils enrolled, 83; number night taught, 57.

One of the three nights, each week, the school was closed with a preaching service to the pupils. Often, in addition to the pupils, a few other persons came to attend the preaching. From March 1 to the 16 of same month the attendance was smaller and the school was closed.

Prayer-Meetings in the Misssion Room.

Beside the preaching on Sabbath day, to the pupils in the night school and in the cottage meetings during the twelve months, I have held several other preaching services and prayer-meetings in the mission room.

Preaching in Other Fields.

I have preached a good many times to the people in the First Italian United Presbyterian congregation, Pittsburg City, Rev. J. B. Fortunato pastor. Once I have preached in the First Italian Presbyterian church in East Liberty, Rev. Thomas Fugale pastor; and once to the Jew-Christians also in the city, Rev. Maurice Ruben pastor. I have done a good work in talking and evangelizing the Italians everywhere I was able to reach them.

Sabbath School.

Number of officers, 3; number of teachers, 10; number of scholars, 75; average attendance on one Sabbath, 28; collections, $36.90; paid for congregational expenses, $26.37; remainder, $10.53.

Sewing School.

Number on roll, 100; average attendance, 38.

KINDERGARTEN.

Since January 1 we begun to keep separate account of the Kindergarten. Number on roll, 30; average attendance, 9.

BOYS CLUB.

Organized on December 9. Number on roll, 42; average attendance, 14.

GIRLS CLUB.

Organized January 6. Number on roll, 25; average attendance, 17.

The kindergarten, the boys club and the girls club are a part of the sewing school and the number of them must not be counted separately, but that of the sewing school only with them inclusively.

COLLECTIONS IN THE MISSION.

At preaching service and Sabbath school, $78.26; paid for congregational expenses, $52.62; remainder in cash, $25.64.

CONVERTS.

Received into the membership of the church by the Provisional session, in the twelve months: By letter of dismission and recommendation, 2; by profession of faith, 22; total, 24; Adults baptized, 8. The 8 adults declared being not satisfied with their baptism received in the Roman Catholic Church and asked to be rebaptized. So I have baptized them with the Christian baptism, according to the scriptures.

SALARY.

Sums received from the Women's General Missionary Society, United Presbyterian church of Monongahela Presbytery: By Miss E. D. Brown to help in my removal from Scranton to Pittsburg, $40; by Miss Carrie M. Reed for the same purpose, $15; by Mrs. J. F. Welch, my salary for the month of April, $83.35; by Mrs. J. B. Hill, my salary for the eleven months from May to March, $916.65. My salary was paid always promptly.

Books received in twelve months as follows: By Mr. D. T. Reed, 50 copies New Testament and Psalms, and one Bible for the pulpit.

By Rev. J. B. Fortunato, twenty copies of the Italian song book for the Mission, which with the other 20 copies received some time before makes the total of 40 copies received and used in singing the Psalms.

By Mr. Jos. R. Orr, Agent Young Men's Bible Society, Allegheny County, 62; 12 copies of the New Testament and Psalms, large type; 12 copies of the Book of Psalms; 12 copies portion of Gospel of John; 24 copies New Testament and Psalms, large type; 4 copies the Book of Psalms; 2 copies portion Gospel John, all large type, and 5 copies portion Gospel of Luke, 4 of Matthew, and 3 of Mark, small type; 12 copies New Testament ,the whole in the Italian language.

BOOKS DISTRIBUTED:

Copies: New Testaments and Psalms, 35; New Testaments and Psalms, large type, 2; New Testaments, 27; Bibles, 2; Bible portions, 59; New Testaments, English-Italian, 3; New Testaments, English, 2; English Bibles, 1; Bible cards, 147; Bible tracts, 190; Mission cards with an appeal to the souls, 500; "The Home's Friend," a small book in Italian, 7; "The Glad Tidings," a small paper, same, 125; "The Evangelical Bee," in Italian, 150; other religious papers, 45.

ORCHESTRA.

In the month of January we started a school of music. We have bought 4 musical instruments which belong to the Mission. February they began to play in our Sabbath school and are playing often in such services. Six of our boys play the six instruments, two of which belong to them. Four of the six boys are members of the mission and two are adherents. My Sabbath-school class has the largest attendance in the Sabbath school—24, almost all adults.

TEMPERANCE.

On Saturday, March 24, we had temperance meeting and decided to take up the temperance work in a regular way in the boy's and girl's clubs. On Sabbath, March 25, we observed temperance day, and while our own orchestra played sweet melodies of songs and Psalms, 29 children and adults came forward and signed temperance cards.

SOME FACTS

that will show how, very often, what is done to hurt and harm, does rather help our work:

1. A young man who is a member of the mission, was attending the mission only once every Sabbath, but not regularly, many Sabbaths did not come. His father has forbidden him to come any more to the mission. He obeyed the father and did not come for only one Sabbath; afterwards he came and attended the mission twice every Sabbath instead of only once. He is attending more now than before he was forbidden.

2. A young man began to attend our mission and was told that if he would not stop coming he could not marry the girl who ought to become his wife in the near future. He was not discouraged, but continued to attend. Finally he was received a member of the mission and was baptized in our church.

3. In one family, composed of the parents and several children, besides several Italians also, who are boarding there. I have visited very often and in that home I have preached Christ and the gospel, and held services many times, and the Lord has given us converts who now are members of our mission. About one third of the present membership of the Brushton mission are living in that home. The first to be converted, before I came to Pittsburg, was their own son. The parents were both against him, and at last Lord's Supper the father himself asked to be baptized, as he was not satisfied with the baptism received in the Roman Catholic Church. The wife, when she heard that her husband had renounced the Catholic baptism and was baptized in our church, lost her temper and took the Bible and all the Protestant books and cast them on the ground, and has forbidden her daughters to come any more to our Sabbath school. The girls are young and don't come any longer because they are under her control, but all others in the home are indignant against her for that act she has done against us. The husband is firm and all the others are coming to the mission, and the girls are firm as ever in their new faith. The older girl reads the Bible more than before, and the husband is not at all discouraged, but gives encouragement to all others in his home. We can say indeed, in general terms, that the oppositions and difficulties have been won by God's help and the leadership of our captain, Jesus Christ. He has blessed our united efforts, more than what we could hope, in this field.

On October 26 I was received a member of the Monongahela Presbytery. In addition to the usual certificate of dismission and recommendation the Presbytery of Lackawanna, of which I was a member in good standing, has accompanied it with a special letter of commendation. This document is in the hands of the clerk of the Monongahela Presbyterial.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

LEONARD D'ANNA.

Across the river the women of Allegheny determined that they also would begin evangelistic work among a neglected people. Read what the committee in charge has to say:

Work Among Foreigners in Allegheny Presbyterial.

In April, 1904, Allegheny Presbyterial Society began mission work among foreigners. Our sister Presbyterians had some time before been engaged in this department of work and have occupied several districts among these people where there are large numbers gathered together for work, in the Woods Run District in Schoneville and Troy Hill, Allegheny, Pa. Upon investigation a very needy field was discovered in the eastern part of the city, East Ohio St., embracing all that section down to River Ave. The committee appointed set about to secure a worker or colporteur. Not having any one qualified in our own Seminary, they appealed to the Evangelization Committee of the Bible Society. Through the efforts of Rev. Vaclay Losa, a member of that committee, they secured Mr. A. Kristoff, a student in their Seminary (a refugee from Macedonia), a most excellent man who could speak to the Croatians, of whom there are a majority in the district selected. He was a faithful worker during the session until April, 1905, when he was assigned to another field of labor which we very much regretted, and had we been assured of financial support, his services could have been retained. Missonary societies became much interested in the work and almost all pledged a special sum each year for its support. Another student was secured, Mr. Frank Hormicheck, and he proved to be an excellent colporteur. Was very successful in distributing copies of the Bible and Testaments and gained an entrance into many homes, as his predecessor had done. But the committee were to be deprived once more of a worker; as while in the Seminary near the close of their studies, time cannot be given to much outside work, and for a time we were again without a representative among these needy people. As the demand for such workers was increasing so rapidly and could not be supplied, the Presbyterian Church decided to open a Training School for young women from different parts of the country, on Allegheny Avenue, Allegheny, in a private house with a superintendent over it to teach sewing and housekeeping in such ways as will be useful in their visiting in the homes. They also have a course of lectures given by the various professors of the Seminary on Bible History, the Catechism, Authenticity of the Scriptures, Theology, and Higher Bohemian Literature, as so much of their work comes among the Bohemians, and such Slovak races as can understand Bohemian. The societies endorsed the action of our committee in assuming the support of a woman for two years course at $125 per year, and at the expiration of the time we will have a city missionary of our own. Miss Hormicheck (a sister of Mr. F. Hormicheck), is the one assigned to us for this year and is now visiting and seeking to establish a sewing school and Sabbath school as soon as a small room can be secured, and a prayer-meeting as the way opens for more aggressive work. Thus you can readily see the difficulties in the way of rapid progress. It is impossible to secure a converted Croatian, and we have to do the best we can until the Lord opens the way for a Croation worker. We had another student, a young man, Mr. Byscinsky, employed, but he could not speak to the Croatians, yet did good work among his own people, the Lithinuans, and his purpose is to graduate and return to his native land, Russia, to proclaim the Gospel of Salvation there. After the close of the special study course, we will have the whole of Miss Hormicheck's time through the vacation, and we look for more progress through God's blessing on our work. It is the day of small things, but the need is great. We have only to reach out our hands and touch our "neighbors from across the sea," and we must be up and doing, or the day will soon come when our beloved land will regret that more effort was not put forth for the conversion of emmigrants that know not the sacredness of the Lord's day, if for no higher motive than our own safety, and it becomes all Christians to unite in this great work for the evangelization of the emigrants who are coming by the thousands every week, and "how shall they hear" except they have a preacher.

"Pray ye therefore, the Lord of Harvest, that we would send forth laborers into his harvest." "In the morning, sow thy seed; in the evening withhold not thy hand," for who can tell whether this or that shall prosper or whether they shall be alike good.

The paper entitled the "Croatians," by Mr. A. Kristoff, will be published in the June number of the WOMEN'S MISSIONARY MAGAZINE, with the report of our Home Mission Secretary, Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

Along the Wabash Railroad, about nine miles from Pittsburg, exists and flourishes another vigorous and interesting mission, under the direction of the session of the Gladden congregation. Miss Florence Shaw is your missionary to this field. Her labors have been very acceptable and as her report shows, have been blessed of the Spirit, for ten have been led to confess Christ, being received into the Gladden church until the mission has a building of its own. "Thy word shall not return unto me void."

Report of Treveskyn Mission.

FROM FEBRUARY 11, 1905, TO APRIL 11, 1906.

Number of calls made, 2,317; number of tracts distributed, 800; number of Bibles distributed, 42.

Number of preaching services, 58; number of week services, 7; average number present at regular services, 51; amount of money contributed about $200.

Sabbath school reorganized April 9, 1905. Number of sessions, 53; average number present, 47; amount collections taken, $25.38; amount contributed to Home Missions, $2.

Wednesday evening prayer-meetings began April 1, 1905. Number, 45; average present, 13.

Young People's meeting began May 21, 1905; organized as O. Y. P. C. U., January 24, 1906. Number of meetings, 46; average present, 26; amount contributed, $6.16.

Children's meetings were begun on March 1, and there were 19 meetings held with an average attendance of 42. Number of members received into Gladden church from the mission on profession, 10; on certificate, 6.

We are sure that the Lord has blessed the work in this portion of his vineyard. The people are nearly all of the Catholic faith and are very hard to work among. One of the members who was received is an Italian girl from a Catholic home. Most of the others are from merry England and are very faithful workers. Our Sabbath-school is a lively, interesting one, and very many of the children, as well as the older ones, are regular attenders as well as the preaching services and Wednesday evening prayer-meetings.

The Young People are interested in the work of their society, and none of these young people, who had never belonged to a society before, fail to lead the meetings when their turns come. Our young people are taking their places in the church work. Among those who professed Christ one is teaching in the Sabbath school, another is its secretary, while another is the treasurer of our congregational funds.

Our hearts are sad however when we see the multitude of those who know not Christ as their Savior or are blindly following the forms of a religion, which does not teach them right living. What is the church going to do for these millions of people who are coming to our shores, to this land of freedom, where they are made slaves to all the vices of America. Our work needs your prayers and your support. May God hasten the time when the whole world will know Christ. Yours in the work.

FLORENCE SHAW.

Some of you are wondering as you read this interesting story of prayer and faith and works, "How much did it all cost?" and had we money enough to meet the demands.

The following brief financial statement will show the receipts and expenditures.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Home Missions.

Indian Missions.*

Receipts from all sources, $6,127.07; disbursements, $5,807.45.

For several years our women have been asking, "Why do we not do something to help evangelize the mountain whites?"

* For Pittsburg Italian Mission, $1,433.

Our reply has always been that we take up no new work without the authority of the General Assembly, or the particular board having said work in charge. The Assembly had authorized the Board of Home Missions to undertake work among the mountain whites whenever it deemed it advisable. A joint committee representing both boards met May 5 and held a conference on this subject. The following action was taken and is to be presented to the Assembly and this convention for adoption.

"The Board of Home Missions and the Women's Board desire to coöperate in mission work among the mountaineers of the South and desire the approval of the plan in general details of such coöperation, to be agreed upon in the future."

With profound gratitude to our Divine Master we close the year's work. All obligations met and a little left over, with which we hope you will instruct us to coöperate with the Board of Home Missions in this new work next year.

Who will write the reports next year? Who will attend the next annual love feast of our beloved women? He only knows. He holds our times in his pierced hand. Let us all pray and work so that whenever he comes to take us home he may find us busy about the King's business.

MINISTERIAL RELIEF DEPARTMENT.

Could we publish the letters that we receive from the dear friends whose burdens you help bear and whose faith in the Lord's promises to provide you help strengthen through the work of this department, you would not be able to read them through the mist of tears. We praise the Lord for the loving hearts he has given our women, that they are so glad to share his bounty with his aged and afflicted ones.

REPORT OF

Secretary Freedmen's Missions

FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1906.

"Bowed with the weight of centuries he leans
Upon his hoe and gazes on the ground,
The emptiness of ages in his face;

* * * * * * *

Ye stole the freedom of this man and now
God says to thee, 'Return this man fourfold,'
Say not, 'Tis merchandise, he hath no soul.
Ye go to earth's remotest bound to teach
The heathen there's a God in heaven and earth,
What will ye do with this man at your door?"

We are glad to report to you that our work in the Freedmen's department during the past year has been encouraging. We feel God's hand has been guiding us, and his blessing bestowed upon our efforts. Satisfactory reports have been received from all the workers under our care. We have supported thirty-three workers among the Freedmen, seventeen sewing teachers, seven domestic science teachers, seven matrons, one Bible reader, and one superintendent of farm. This is an increase of six over the previous year.

Sewing departments have been maintained in all our mission schools for some time, but an additional teacher was granted at Knoxville College, as their sewing department now requires the full time of two teachers, one of whom has charge of the dressmaking department, where a complete course in this branch is taught. Many of those who have graduated from this department are now teaching sewing in our other missions, or doing dressmaking in their own homes. All the missions report an increase of interest by the pupils; many of the older girls are able to make their own clothes, and some partly support themselves in school by sewing for others. At many of the schools the girls in the graduating class are required to make their own graduating dress.

The Sewing Department, at Henderson, N. C., was totally destroyed by the tornado which passed over that portion of the country early last March. To complete the school year temporary arrangements have been made in the music room of the girl's dormitory, but an entirely new equipment will be necessary before the school opens in the fall.

Three new Domestic Science departments have been established,—at Prairie and Arlington, Alabama, and Cleveland, Tennessee. There are now seven Domestic Science departments in successful operation, with requests for several additional ones, which we hope you will enable us to grant this year. Reports from all these departments show good work done, and much interest taken by the pupils, who are taught not only how to cook, but how to serve a meal properly, and also general housework. This knowledge is much needed, and it has already proved an efficient means toward improving their home life, as the pupils are always eager to put into practice what they have learned at school.

Mothers' Meetings are held at most of the missions, and the mothers are instructed in sewing and general housework. Much interest has been shown by many of the mothers, and much improvement made by them in the care of their children and their homes.

Our Bible reader at Knoxville has done faithful work. Although called to fill the position of matron for two months at the opening of the school year, yet she has made 994 calls, and held 140 meetings of various kinds. She has found homes more easy of access than before, and has had more frequent requests to read the Word of God and have prayer.

Our matrons have been faithful and untiring in their work, carefully managing the dormitories, and bestowing loving care upon those committed to their charge. Four of these are at Knoxville College. Miss Clara Spears, who presides over McCulloch Hall, has had a family of 110 boys; Mrs. Anna Gebhart has had 102 girls in Elnathan Hall. And what shall we say of the work of Miss Emma Pikerton, matron of the boarding department for these two dormitories, with her family of over 200? Although the work is done by the students of the college, few housekeepers know what it means to plan and supervise the work of so many, and to prepare for a family of this size. Yet everything is done orderly and on time. Miss Margaret McDill presides with loving care over McDill Hall, the home of the younger girls. This family has numbered forty-four, and Miss McDill has entire charge over them in all things. They do all their own work, and with the help of some of the older girls, their meals are prepared and served in their own dining room.

At Chase City, Va., Miss M. E. Campbell has care of Vincent Hall with eighteen girls, and of Hunter Hall, with twenty boys, and has proved a careful manager. All dine together in the Vincent Hall dining-room, and here, too, they hold their literary society on Saturday evening, and prayer-meeting every Sabbath evening, under the care of the matron.

At Henderson, N. C., Miss Christianita Totten, with Mrs. Loving as assistant, has charge of the boarding department, and has had a family of ninety-three, forty-four boys and forty-nine girls, with fourteen self-boarders to care for. We feel much good has been accomplished by the tender care, and above all, by the Christian example and training of these faithful workers.

The report from our farm, at Prairie, Alabama, has also been encouraging. Mr. N. B. Cotton is still superintendent, and under his efficient management the farm continues to improve. There are now eleven families living on the farm, and over three hundred acres are being cultivated. Although the crop was not so good last year as the previous year, the prices were better, and every tenant closed the year in better financial condition, and all seem to have a great desire to endeavor to have a good crop this year, and be able to save something. We have not been able to build the much-needed new barn. The old one was repaired to make it last through the year, and we trust some of our good farmer friends who know the necessity of a good barn, will make it possible for us to build very soon, as the present barn is too small and unsafe.

Last November the Treasurer and Freedmen's Secretary visited the missions in Tennessee and Alabama, and were pleased with the faithful work being done by the pupils, and also by many of the parents in the schools. They seem to be truly grateful for what is being done for them. But we were impressed with the increasing opportunities and consequent needs of the work. The school buildings are all crowded, and the dormitories filled to overflowing. Most of the buildings owned by us are in good condition, but our school building at Camden, Alabama, is badly in need of extensive repairs, which must be made this summer, and should be enlarged. We expect to enlarge Carson Hall, the girls' dormitory at Camden, which is partly provided for, but these additional rooms will need to be furnished.

At Miller's Ferry, Alabama, where the school and dormitories are also crowded, they had a siege of illness last year, during which the school was quarantined. With the nearest physician ten miles away, and very little knowledge on the part of the people how to follow the physician's directions, the need of some provision for the sick, and an opportunity to train pupils to care for them, so impressed itself on the mind of one of our noble workers that an earnest plea was sent to the Women's Board to undertake such work. While we were considering the matter favorably, but could not see our way clear to undertake the work because of lack of funds, a donation of $1,000.00 was given to us by a kind friend, who has asked that her name be withheld. We felt that God had thus furnished the means to enable us to provide the necessary building and undertake the work. Our kind friend, Judge Henderson, of Miller's Ferry, donated a plot of ground adjoining the girls' dormitory. Plans have been drawn by Mr. J. L. Beatty, and the building, to be called The Robinson Memorial Infirmary, is to be erected this summer. But how are we to furnish it? Are there not other kind friends or societies who will furnish a room or a bed in memory of some departed loved one?

We wish to report the gift of two organs, one for Riceville, Tenn., given by Miss Margaret Boden, of Fairview, Ohio, in memory of her sister, and the other for Midway, Alabama, given by Mr. S. K. Leacox, of Keota, Iowa.

Again we wish to call the attention of societies and congregations to the clothing department, which has been a very helpful means of enabling many children to attend school, and others to attend church, who could not have done so without this aid. The supply last year was not as liberal as formerly, and appeals are now coming in for clothing, especially for children of school age. While we make this appeal, we desire to suggest that only good, serviceable clothing be sent, and also to remind societies that freight should be prepaid, and the receipted bill of lading sent to the principal of the school. New materials of all kinds are always needed in the sewing departments, and are thankfully received.

During the year ended April 16, 1906, the total expenditures of this department amounted to $13,704.23. Of this amount, $12,114.00 was paid for salaries, $262.00 for the support of pupils, and $1,538.23 for insurance, repairs, and other necessary expenses.

Although we have thirty-three salaries to be provided for in the Freedmen's department, only one salary is pledged. Monongahela Presbyterial has pledged the salary of the superintendent of the farm. We trust there are other Presbyterial societies that will take up this matter and pledge the salary of a teacher or matron, thus increasing the interest of their members by having a special representative in this needy field of work. We feel grateful that, although our salary list was larger the past year, yet we were enabled to meet all our expenses; but we trust you will remember the growing needs of the work even more liberally this year, that we may be able, not only to meet our obligations promptly, but also to enlarge the work. More money will also be needed for repairs and furnishings this year, and for the much-needed new buildings.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. R. A. ELLIOTT.

BLUESTONE, VA.

Sewing Department.

Our sewing department has been quite crowded this year, as usual. Six classes have received instruction during each day, for a period of one or one-half hour each. All of the little girls are taught to sew. They sew bed-quilt pieces, thereby learning to make a straight seam. Our great aim has been to do the best work possible, and to improve along all lines of plain sewing. Most of the scholars are very much interested, and take much delight in having their work meet approval. We have also done a little fancy work, including hemstitching, making bureau scarfs, and handkerchiefs.

Garments made up to April 1, 96; yards of material used, 247; number of pupils, 74. As we have had very few donations of new material this year, we have had to draw on the balance on hand for supplies.

Report of Sewing Department.

FROM SEPTEMBER, 1905, TO APRIL, 1906.

No. pupils enrolled: Grade 1, 24; grade 2, 31; grade 3, 12; grade 4, 21; grade 5, 13; irregulars, 2; total, 103.

No. of articles made, 503; yards material used, 857¾, only 28 of this being donated.

Dresses made, 36; shirt-waists, 64; aprons, 126; sleevelets, 25 pair (used in cooking school); dress skirts, 33; jacket suits, 4; underskirts, 10. Hemmed 1½ doz. napkins, 14 curtains, 30 towels, besides pillowcases and underwear. The younger girls made some very nice sample books, with all the different stitches from basting to hemstitching, patching, and darning. They learned a few fancy stitches.

The work during this year has been very gratifying, many of the girls having learned to do excellent work. Almost all the girls now make their own clothes instead of hiring it done; a few take in sewing. One of our Junior girls nearly supports herself by sewing, buying her books, paying tuition, and in part paying for her music lessons. The seniors are now making their graduating dresses, and many in the grades are making pretty dresses for commencement. The girls are very happy while in the sewing room, and seem truly grateful for all that is being done for them.

MARGARET T. KERR,
Industrial Teacher.

Domestic Science Department.

As no report was given last year of our work, on account of the illness of teachers, we will include it with this. It has been along the same line as that of the first year, the object being to train thorough home keepers, believing that to be the pressing need. With that end in view, less attention has been given to the chemistry of food, and more to the practical work of preparing good, wholesome meals. The girls have full care of the room, and everything used in it, which gives opportunity to teach laundry work and scrubbing.

The different grades, from the grammar up, are allowed to serve a dinner to the faculty whenever convenient, for which the cost of the material is received. Besides furnishing an opportunity for a lesson in serving, and helping in a financial way, the rivalry created between classes is a great inspiration in the work. One hundred and fifty-four different dishes have been taught to the ten grades included in this department, each class having a forty-five minute lesson twice a week. Seventy-four girls were enrolled this year. Both teacher and pupils are grateful to the Women's Board for the fine new range given us last year; it has made us happy in many ways.

We had one social, at which we served doughnuts and coffee, and received a collection of $9 in cash, and donations such as eggs, sugar, squashes, etc. We are planning another before the close of school.

No donations have been received this year from outsiders, but last year some spices and dried fruits, amounting to about $2, were sent in a barrel of clothes by a friend.

The improvement in the work has been very decided, and interest good, reaching to enthusiasm in many cases.

Very respectfully,

EDITH ELDER,
Director.

Vincent Hall.

The work in this department, as in all of the others, has been very encouraging this year.

Eighteen girls and one teacher, Miss Annie Wilson, of the class of 1905, have roomed in Vincent, and twenty boys in Hunter Hall, all taking meals in Vincent Hall. In the dining-room, too, they held their S. P. R. (literary society) on Saturday nights, and prayer-meeting every Sabbath evening, under the care of the matron. She also takes the girls to the chapel on Sabbath afternoon for sermon and Sabbath school, and on Wednesday night for congregational prayer-meeting; last Tuesday night of each month, "Temperance League"; first Friday night, Farmer's Conference, and all special services and entertainments held there. The boys of Hunter Hall and a few others hold their H. H. P. B. society (debating) in Hunter Hall, under the care of Prof. T. R. Robinson, on Monday nights. You would be delighted could you hear the boys and girls take part in all of these meetings. We have some promising students in the halls, who are doing and will do good work for the Master.

New study tables have been put in the girls' rooms, and new furniture in some of the boys' rooms. Five of the rooms in Hunter Hall have been furnished by twenty-five dollar donations, two last year and three this, namely, "New Concord" room, by Miss Alverta Shipley; "Monmouth" room, by the three W. M. L. societies of Monmouth, Ill.; "John Bingham, Jr., Memorial," by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bingham, Bellevue, Pa.; "Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell Henderson Memorial," and the "Mrs. C. W. Comin Memorial."

The Y. W. M. S. of the Second congregation, New Concord, Ohio, sent comforts, sheets, pillowcases, and towels for the New Concord room. We have also received a roll of carpet, sheets, and pillowcases from the W. M. S. of the Ninth Avenue, Monmouth Ill., church, and a roll of carpet from the W. M. S. of the First church, Beaver Falls, Pa., for use in Vincent Hall. All of these friends have our thanks. The articles were needed, and are greatly appreciated.

This report being called for earlier than formerly, allows us really but eight months from the time last year's report was given, yet this compares favorably with any other "eight months" for the past eight years.

There has been no change from that of last year, except to give some instruction to pupils in one room of the model school, the boys making a doll house and furniture, and the girls dolls and clothing for the same. Friday afternoons are devoted to this.

This year we have had what we in former years so much desired, "variety in garments," and that there has been advancement, and the work of this department is being appreciated by the better class, as is evidenced by the quality and quantity of work brought to us; of the latter, more than could be accommodated; also by the fact that the girls who have finished the course here have been employed by prominent white families, and their work highly satisfactory. Five girls this year have completed the course.

M. E. HESTER YOUNG,

Domestic Science Department.

FOR THE YEAR ENDED 1905.

Number of students, girls, 260; boys, 0. Total, 260. Number of grades, 10; average, 26; number of articles cooked, bread, 29 loaves, biscuits, 357; rolls, 84; pastries, 17; cakes, 60; cookies, 666; fries, 344; roasts, 46; stews, 80; puddings, 65; desserts, 88; beverages, chocolate, cocoa, tea; soups, raw beef tea, oyster bouillon, chicken broth, vegetable soup, tomato soup; eggs, 35 dozen.

The general interest taken by the girls surpasses my expectations. They are bright, keen, and very quick to comprehend. They are even eager to listen to instructions for the betterment of health. They have improved so rapidly I find it a pleasure to instruct. Not only do they improve in the rapidity and correctness of their work, but also in neatness of room and person, in promptness, and in their deportment.

The general plan for this year has been the cooking of foods for palatibility. We have not had fancy cooking, because their means will not permit them to cook the same in their homes. Therefore we have had plain, substantial cooking, so they could put into practice what they are taught in school. We have taught some general housekeeping, and found much interest taken in it by most pupils.

Number of boarders enrolled, males, 44; females, 49; total, 93; self-boarders, males, 5; females, 9; total, 14.

Hitherto money collected from this department has been spent entirely for food. This year we were able to purchase out of same a laundry stove, dishes, furniture, bedclothing, and some coal

Time passes swiftly. We are now in the closing weeks of the school year. As a mission we have our trials and discouragements, but through them all we felt the hand of the Father leading us. Many new students come to us, and we have experienced real joy in the consciousness that they were being helped. Both dormitories were crowded, and in January, when there were so many applicants to be admitted, our principal fitted up a couple of rooms in the Teachers' Home in order to make room for a few more, though to our regret some had to be turned away. The dining-room, capable of seating only sixty, was so crowded that some of the students had to eat their meals in the kitchen. The conditions were really uncomfortable, but in the face of it all we knew how faithfully some of them had worked during the summer in order to obtain the means to enter the school, and we could not say them nay.

If I am not mistaken, the board here is cheaper than can be had elsewhere in North Carolina. This gives us access to the poorest and most needy class of people. They come to us in a crude state, few from homes of any intelligence. You can imagine the trust committed to us to mold and direct these lives so that they may develop into useful men and women.

There has been very little sickness; nothing occurred to disturb the usual run of affairs until March 3, when a tornado swept down upon us, leaving us quite crippled. We are now in a worse condition than ever. Some one has estimated the loss at $2,500.

We are sorely in need of a building for girls. During the past year we have been obliged to cook, eat, wash dishes, wash clothing, and iron, all in the same room. I am sure our friends can realize how poorly equipped we are to give the proper training to our girls, who will be expected to go out into the world and teach others. We ask most earnestly the prayers of our friends that God may open a way for us. Since he has planted the work here, and cared for it thus far, we feel sure that he will also supply the means to carry it on in a more effectual way.

CHRISTIANITA E. TOTTEN, Matron.

Sewing Department.

The work in this department had been very encouraging, and everything had moved along smoothly, until the tornado swept down upon us March 30. At this time the sewing department was completely demolished, with all its contents; parts of the building were afterwards found two miles distant. One of the music rooms in the girls' dormitory was temporarily fitted up as a sewing room, and so only one day was missed; but our work has been somewhat crippled for lack of necessary equipment, and we are very much crowded.

The classes are doing mostly hand work at present, and although doing very well considering the circumstances, yet we will fail to have all the work we have planned done before school closes. We will do the best we can until the close of this term, hoping to be more conveniently situated and better equipped by another year.

This work has been a blessing to our people here. During the past year we have had in this department 250 pupils; 450 articles have been made, and 1,063 yards of material used. Balance from last year, $9.90; received for articles made, $131.60; total expenditures for new materials, $137.06.

ATHENS, TENN.

Sewing Department.

I have enjoyed my work this year, but feel I am just now finding out how to plan the work, as this is my first year's experience as sewing teacher. Both boys and girls have done good work. We are now quilting our second quilt, and have tacked two bedspreads for the Teacher's Home. Besides the general work we have made some articles for people outside of the school. We held a special Mother's Meeting February 22. Most of my mission work has been done in the school, but I have been in some of the homes, and feel the time was well spent.

Average attendance, 103; yards of material used, 64; articles made, 79; money received, $23.63; money spent, $18.79; balance, $4.84.

PATTIE L. TAYLOR,

Normal Department.

The Lord has certainly blessed our work, "whereof we are glad." The health of teachers and students has been good. Enrolled in day school, 151; added to church membership, 5.

The work of the Sewing Department has been kept up to the standard, and the expenses reduced to the lowest figure compatible with successful work. The 75 articles made were garments, mostly dresses, of material furnished by the students. The children in the lower grades are required to complete set of samplers; hence figures will not give good idea of what they have done.

In addition to conducting the Sewing Department, the sewing teacher has organized and controls two clubs. One for the girls, called the Girls' Excelsior Club. The boys' club being called the Young Mens' Christian Citizenship Club, being similar in design and purpose to the Y. M. C. A. Membership in these clubs is conditioned on character and conduct, personal purity in its widest sense being emphasized. The boys are required to promise to abstain from use of tobacco and strong drink. Both of these clubs are flourishing. The girls' club is paying $25 of the expenses of a girl (from this place) at Knoxville College.

Number of articles made, 75; yards of material used, 212; total receipts, $15.81; total expenditures, $15.81. Received one package of new material and two boxes of children's thimbles.

The children have done good work during the year, especially the little ones, who knew nothing of sewing. We had some visitors lately who commended the primary grades for clean and neat work. We are now preparing for an exhibition of work at the close of school, and they are very enthusiastic over their work. My aim is to have each pupil have a piece of work and some of the larger girls will have several pieces. I have a few boys in the third and fourth grades who do splendid work, one is making a center piece. The girls in the fifth grade are having their first experience in shirt waist making. The girls from the sixth grade up make corset-covers, underskirts, dresses, shirt waists, etc. They often make the garments their own size and then buy them. We generally sell the garments that are made each month.

The girls from the second and seventh grades inclusive comprise this branch of the Sewing Department. Each pupil has entirely, or almost, completed the required number of models for her grade. The seventh grade began cutting and machine sewing. All have had practice in plain sewing. They have taken a deep interest in their work. An honest effort has been made by almost every pupil and good progress has been the result.

Dressmaking Department.

As this department continues to grow in years and numbers it also grows in interest as well. While there have been some discouraging things to meet in the past year, yet one only needs to step into the room now and take a little glance, to see that it is worth while.

Last June four were graduated from this department. Two of them are employed in teaching sewing in the southern missions; another is carrying on her sewing in her home. We now have a class of ten in the advanced work. Eight of these are working very hard to complete the course this year. Nine of the girls have taken up the drafting by measurement and are cutting their own patterns. A fair charge is made for all work ordered from outside, which helps to sustain the department and pays all extra expenses. Ninety-six dollars and twenty-one cents has been paid to students for sewing during the year, thus affording them an opportunity of helping to pay their expenses while in school. During the year the department has enrolled 99 pupils in the preparatory work, which comes in regular classes of forty minute periods in the morning, and 40 in the dressmaking class in the afternoon. The work being so heavy it was thought best to have an assistant. The Board appointed Miss Anna Weir as assistant in the afternoon class and full time for both of us has been required.

At the opening of school last September we had on hands 12 uniform skirts finished off, and 34 ready for the fitting and finishing. All were taken in a short time and 35 others have been made and sold, and we now have 31 skirts on hand. We also had 61 percale waists at the opening and that was only a small beginning for the many that were needed. Owing to delay in receiving our percale goods, which is quite a disappointment, we have only a few ready at present, but hope to have many by the close of the school as last year. We have also done a great deal of other sewing, and some for the teachers.

This, I trust, will give you a little idea of what the dressmaking department is doing at Knoxville College.

Domestic Science Department.

It is with pleasure that we report a rapid growth in the Domestic Science Department. Last year we had only four classes, while this year we have five large classes. The course is nearly the same as last year, for few girls find time to take this subject two consecutive years and it comes regularly in the eight grade and third normal.

The greatest encouragement in the work is the girls' appreciation of hygienic cooking. They realize as they have not before that old ways were not the best. The aim of the department is to teach economy; that is, that high priced foods do not mean an equally high rate of nutriment, nor the spending of the most of ones income on food culture. Rather, that common, cheap food, if it is all we can afford, well cooked and nicely served, even though the dishes and linen are plain and cheap, is the best evidence of culture and refinement. This theory is practically worked out in the suppers which are served fortnightly to the boarding members of the faculty.

The bakery under the control of this department, makes the bread for the boarding department. From 1,300 to 1,400 loaves are baked every week, and when we consider that this work is done entirely by young men who carry all their regular class work, we realize the effort some of our students put forth that they may have an education.

GRACE R. BRAHAM.

McDill Hall.

What shall write that will be of interest? It is like a mother writing of the everyday life of her family in her home, although I am sure I have many experiences which they never have had, because of the environments in their homes where they first saw the light and lived until they came to us.

There have been 44 girls in the Home this year. We have had quite a number sick with grippe, but none seriously ill. With the help of some of the older girls in the kitchen all the work of the Home is done by my girls outside of school hours. Every day has its own special work. One of my helpers had to go home because of her father's illness, but fortunately we found another to take her place.

The revival reached us in the Home also. Those who were Christians were made to feel their need of reconsecration; those who were not there need to decide now. The days are very full with lessons, work and play, and before we know another year will be gone with its record to God. How seriously it makes one feel. My closing message is, pray for us.

MARGARET MCDILL, Matron.

McCulloch Hall.

There have been 130 different boys in the hall since the beginning of this school year. The largest number at one time was 110, and at present there are 108.

In general the work this year, as in all the years I have been here, has been pleasant. I hardly know what to say about the plan of my work, if it has any. Some things such as rising and going to bed, studying, and washing and ironing are done at regular times; other things much as in a home. Of course there are some discouraging things, some dark days, but many things to encourage; more pleasant than dark days.

CLARA SPEARS, Matron.

Elnathan Hall.

My work in Elnathan Hall was commenced the middle of November. At that time there were 80 girls in the Hall and we were much crowded, as the new rooms were not finished. After the holidays a number of new girls came in and although some had returned we occupied these and the pianos were moved into the new music rooms, which are very nice. This made a wonderful improvement, and the work much easier. The total number of girls enrolled during the year was 102.

We had a wonderful revival in the college, and we all have been greatly blessed. Many of the students accepted Christ and united with our church, and others are waiting to hear from their parents before coming into our church. Usually many leave school after the winter term, but we still have 80 enrolled.

MRS. A. M. GEBHART, Matron.

Boarding Department.

In giving a report of the Boarding Department one scarcely knows what to say, for the work of this department includes so much.

As the students do all the work, they get a training in different kinds of work. They are taught habits of cleanliness, economy and promptness. They also get some training in overseeing work and workers. This year we have had student overseers for the dish-washing and table setting. Though this is done under supervision, they learn to take responsibility, which will be helpful to them when they get out into the world and have to fill places of responsibility. We have many testimonials from those who have gone out from us telling of the advantage of the training they received here. Another helpful influence is that of our family altar. Morning and evening we have prayers before leaving the tables. We know that family altars have been established through the training of our students here.

We have had in the boarding department this year 253, which includes 43 girls in McDill Home. This year has been an unusually satisfactory one.

EMMA PINKERTON,

Bible Reader.

This has been a very busy year, and we hope something has been accomplished for the Master. The progress in work has been slow, but in looking back to the beginning we can see that advancement has been made. Homes are easier of access than formerly, and oftener are we asked to read the Word and have prayer.

Our work closed for a time at the opening of the school, and we have not yet been able to call on all the old members of our classes, but new ones have come in that have kept up the average attendance. The work among the children is very encouraging; they attend well and do good work. One little girl completed last week a dress and took it home to allow her mother to see her work, and the mother was so much pleased with it that she said she would keep it to show the first garment made by her daughter. The children are much more easily interested if we allow them to sew on a garment than to give them samples to make. It is very gratifying when review comes in the Sabbath school to find that these little ones remember so much of what we have taught them, and can so readily repeat the Golden Texts. It certainly pays to fill these young hearts with the word of God.

Visits, 994; Bible Band meetings, 34; children's meetings, 34; Sabbath Reading Circle, 34; Reading Club and Sunday-School lesson, 34; prayer-meetings, 4.

J. MCCAHON.

RICEVILLE, TENN.

Sewing Department.

The advancement made in this department during the past year has been a source of rejoicing. The interest in the work grows deeper day by day, and the children count it one of the greatest features of their work. Both boys and girls will ask to be allowed to sew during their vacant periods, and the work has been done so carefully we never feel ashamed to have any garment made on exhibition. We make plain sewing a specialty, as we feel that our people need that most, but teach some fancy work with the other. We have several students that show quite a talent for this kind of work, and no doubt will become skillful in time.

The year's work may seem little to those not acquainted with the field, which is a small one. But to us who understand the difficulties, there comes a feeling of joy and thankfulness when we recount the blessings that have attended our efforts.

Domestic Science Department.

This department was opened October 23, 1905. After prayerfully looking over my field of labor, I saw that house-to-house visitation would give me a knowledge of the people whom I had to work with and for. So I did house-to-house work, meeting the mothers face to face, talking of things that would naturally interest mothers, such as training the little ones, beautifying the home, etc., and in this way we began to be interested in each other, and when the call for a Mother's Meeting was sounded the mothers came willingly and joyfully. Great were the needs of these dear women, whom God had blessed with children to be trained, and yet they themselves had been deprived of the opportunity of being thus trained. They were taught reading, writing, and the Sabbath school lessons were studied, besides the instruction in sewing and housekeeping. The meetings were held weekly, and much interest was shown.

We opened our Domestic Science Department with 103 girls, and we closed with 108. Domestic Science was my special work, though we opened a laundry for a few weeks, but were compelled to close on account of lack of fuel to run it. I laid special stress on cleanliness and neatness in the kitchen and house, so I taught dish-washing and scrubbing, as well as cooking. Not having the means at hand to buy with, I asked each girl to bring some food supply each day, which was used in common with the others, and as we needed it. Each class prepared their food, and ate it. In this way I was able to teach each class table manners, and the girls were taught how to serve. It was a beautiful sight to see these girls form in line and march in order around the table, and the one whose lot was cast at the head of the table acted as hostess, which they soon learned to do very well.

At stated times we served dinners to the teachers and friends, who paid for them. This, with some entertainments, gave us a little fund, but more will be required to carry on this work. The total receipts were $38.80, and the expenditures $21.37, leaving a balance of $7.43.

During the term the articles cooked were: Biscuits, 100 dozen; cakes, 28; pastries, 16; cookies, 27 dozen; muffins, 10 dozen; vegetables, 24 times; puddings, 8 times; cereals, 15 times; fries, 50 times; stews, 4 times; roasts, 2 times; soups, 10 times; beverages, 12 times; eggs, 7 dozen.

S. A. PARKER,
Teacher of Domestic Science.

CANTON BEND, ALA.

Sewing Department.

The number of scholars enrolled in the sewing-room this last year was 112. The number of garments completed, besides quite a number of napkins and straight articles, such as towels, pillow-slips, and sheets, was 43. Yards of material used in garments, 94. Spent for new material, such as cloth, thread, needles, etc., $5.60; received for articles made, $5.10, leaving a balance of $8.10 to defray the next year's expenses.

The inability to sell articles after being made, compelled us to confine our sewing to such articles as were the least expensive, and still afforded material for the most practical instruction, and the model work has very fittingly filled this need. The greater part of the last six months of school has been devoted to this particular kind of work, which was done very creditably, and we feel that much has been gained technically in giving the better part of the time to it. A great deal of darning and patching of their own garments, as occasion called for (and that was pretty often), has been done. Drafting and cutting lessons have been given to only one young woman, who has learned the system very efficiently. A greater desire to excell in sewing has been shown this year than ever before, and the industrial instructor feels that satisfactory results have been obtained, as some of the sixth grade even delight in sewing to such a degree that they aspire to take in sewing to help along the family purse.

We hope that in the coming year our work will be more worthy of commendation than this year. We wish to thank those who have sent us new goods in the barrels. We now have on hand about thirty-seven yards of material with which to begin our next year's work.

The Sewing department has done very good work, notwithstanding the obstacles with which we had to contend. The most of the pupils have shown considerable interest in their work. Since a good many of the girls can do fancy work of some kind, we have attempted very little of that kind of work, but have tried to impress upon them the importance of being able to cut and make their own garments. Our work has been very much hindered for lack of room, as we had to divide the sewing-room with a curtain and use the greater part of it for a school-room, leaving a very small space for sewing. The classes have to be divided, one-half sewing one day, and the other half the next. We were obliged to cut the boys off entirely because we had no room. We desire to thank those who sent us new goods during the term.

Number enrolled during the term, 150; number of articles made, 145; yards of material used, 385.

Sewing Department

This has been indeed a pleasant year's work. The interest among pupils has been none the less, but seems to be increasing. The second and fifth grade girls are able to cut and sew nicely; two girls in the fifth grade, ages twelve and thirten, each made a gingham suit for herself, with all seams finished off nicely. The sewing department has not been able to purchase a machine, but the pupils are doing well thus far without one, as they can do very good plain sewing, and some fancy work. I visit some of the homes once or twice a week, and help in every way I can to do good. Some have made much improvement since last year in keeping their homes more orderly. The practical work done in the sewing department this year may be shown from the following results:

Number of articles made, 59; of these there are on hand 43; yards of material used, 117.

Balance from last year, $6.94; received for articles made, $12.75; expenditures, $5.26; balance, $14.43. There are ten yards of new material and sixteen spools of thread on hand in the Sewing Department.

Number of pupils in the Sewing Department, 136.

JENNIE E. MCARTHUR,

MILLER'S FERRY, ALA.

Sewing Department.

I have been able to note an increased interest in this department for the year. The advanced classes sew one afternoon each week, instead of short periods daily, and are thus able to keep their work connected. Uniforms for the forty girls in the boarding department were finished by the holiday season, as well as curtains, mattresses, covers, and other furnishings for the young men's home. This gave training in machine stitching, and during the winter nearly all the work has been done by hand. This is a much slower process, but assuredly better for the girls. Only one student is drafting, and she does good work as a dressmaker.

The Mother's Meeting has been held with the usual success. Forty homes have been reached, and questions discussed pertaining to the home life. I have had a class of young mothers from the regular meeting once per week, and they take pride in learning to make simple ornamental stitches for their children's clothes, and household decoration.

The Young Men's Home, of which I have charge, has accommodated thirty-two this year. They knew little of housekeeping, but have learned to scrub and keep their rooms very neatly.

The Boarding Department, at the small amount of $4.00 per month for board, will be able to close the year free from debt, and have a small surplus with which to furnish articles broken, for the next year. We rejoice in the fact that there has been no severe sickness among us thus far, and we are closing a prosperous year.

This report includes only seven months' work: Number of articles made, 269; yards of material used, 1,020; number pupils, 123. Amount reported last month, $11; yards material on hand, 125. This is mostly uniform blue duck.

SOPHIA COX JOHNSON,
Industrial Teacher.

Domestic Science Department.

Number of students, girls, 56; number of grades, 9; average in grades, 6.

Number of articles cooked: Bread, 552 loaves; rolls, 28 pans; pastries, 44 times; cakes, 31 times; cookies, 36 times; fries, 38 times; gingerbread, 14 times; roasts, 17 times; stews, 27 times; vegetables, such as greens, potatoes, beans, peas, corn, tomatoes, daily; puddings, 14 times; desserts, such as lemon tarts, boiled custard, cream, apple sauce, 24 times; beverages, such as tea, coffee, lemonade, daily; soups, 20 times; eggs: omelets, scrambled, fried, and poached, 24 times.

Received from Board, $5.00; from teachers, $6.20; from students, $2.50; total, $13.70. Expended, $7.42; balance, $6.28.

Many encouraging features have been presented during the past year. The teachers' dinners served by the different classes, and the lunches prepared and sold, have caused much interest in the classes. Many have made remarkable improvement, while others have improved slowly, not knowing the advantage of being good housekeepers. We hope much has been learned during the past year, and that none of our labor has been in vain. We do earnestly pray that God's blessings may forever rest upon the girls of Miller's Ferry, and that they may make noble women, such as will be of use to the community, and to the world. Pray for us in the work.

LENA M. HALEY,
Industrial Teacher.

PRAIRIE ALA.

Sewing Department.

The work in the sewing department has been encouraging this year. The pupils in the lower grades take much interest in making samplers showing the different stitches, button-holes, and patching. Those in the higher grades cut and make garments. Much of the sewing done in the sewing-room was for persons furnishing their own material. By this means, and by receiving new material in the boxes of clothing that came, our expenses have not been as much as usual. Very little fancy work has been done, as we think it best to teach that which is most needed, so it is only at the close of school that we have fancy work. Eight classes sew daily.

Number of pupils, grade 1, 31; grade 2, 13; grade 3, 9; grade 4, 5; grade 5, 7; grades 6 and 7, 3; grades 8, and second normal, 7; average number of pupils, 75.

Articles made, 113; yards of material used, 444.

Receipts: Balance from last year, $8.77; received from articles made, $11.30; received for use of machine, 20 cents; from persons furnishing their own material, $9.15. Expenditures: For new material, $12.07; balance, $17.35.

Number of pupils enrolled in the Sewing Department, 125.

LULA L. MARSH,
Industrial Teacher.

Domestic Science Department.

I feel very glad to say the interest shown by the girls in the Domestic Science work for the first year is very encouraging. They go about the work with a willing and zealous spirit. Many of them have made very rapid progress. They are taught plain cooking, and the better methods of cleaning and arrangement of the table. The meals are prepared by the cooking classes for the boarding department. The use of aprons and caps is an incentive for the work.

Our Mother's Meetings were held on Friday afternoon. The mothers came from far and near, and seemed to be filled with enthusiasm over these meetings. We had a mother's concert before the holidays.

PRAIRIE MISSION FARM.

The crops last year were only about two-thirds of what they were the year before, but the prices were better, and every tenant closed the year in better condition than he did the previous year. Every tenant seems to have a greater determination to make a good crop, and save something, than ever before. Every family that has not got a house is now making an effort to own one, instead of renting. When I came here in 1900, only one man on the mission land owned a horse; now there are six families that own a horse or a mule, and some families own two. However, some of them have not finished paying for them. There are eleven families on the farm, and in these families there are fifty-nine people. In addition to the regular crop, each tenant has a garden, and raises hogs and cattle. During the year we have changed the stock of hogs, and have now the Poland Chinas.

A large majority of the colored people in the South must be cultivators of the soil, not so much from choice as from circumstance. Therefore, one of the greatest needs among our people is an agricultural training. To do this it is necessary to have a model farm. To make this farm what it ought to be, it is necessary to have a new barn, tiles for the ditches, and improved tools with which to cultivate the soil. The present barn is unsafe for stock, the present ditches inadequate, and the present tools insufficient. If any desire to help a good work among our people, they could hardly do better than to send money to the Women's Board to supply these needs.
